JOE BRIGGS Says:
If you want to remember, tie a string around your finger. if you want to forget, tie a rope around your neck.
Here's an important fact to remember about your home or business property. The measure of your possible loss, and of its insurable value is not what it cost to build nor its market value, nor value assessed for taxation, but WHAT IT WOULD COST TO REBUILD AT TODAY'S PRICES, LESS DEPRECIATION. CHRISTMAS PROGRAM
By Calvin Adkins

On Dec. 22, during the ninth and tenth periods a Christmas play, "There Was One Who Gave A Lamb," was presented to the pupils, and any parents who cared to come. The play was given by the dramatics class, the Boys' Chorus, and Girls' Glee Club.

In the cast were the following pupils: Richard Jeffries, Joseph, Marjorie O'Hearn, Mary; Carol Gray, Angel; Ned Hawley, man with the gold; Elibee Frocms, man with the grain; Marian Cloud girl with the basket of flowers; John De Libera, boy with a lamb. The three shepherds were Billy Shiffer, Jack Taylor, and Billy Weese. The three kings were Sam Buchanan, Leroy Morgan, and Joseph Robinson.

The Boys' Chorus and 15 members of the Girls' Glee Club sang "Silent Night," "Hark! The Hearld Angels Sing," "Away in a Manger," "Praises We Sing," "Sleep Holy Babe," "Coventry Carol," and "Angels Fair We Heard on High."

John De Libera sang "There Was One Who Gave a Lamb." "Look, Upon the Straw Now Lying," was sung by Delores Gladon and the chorus from the Girls' Glee Club.

Y-TEENS' CHRISTMAS TREE
By Ruth Evans

After school on December 15, a group of Y-Teen girls decorated the large Christmas tree which was presented to the school by the PTA. Many of the decorations were made in the art classes.

A committee of three girls was appointed to supervise the tree decorating. The girls were Jeanette Fisher, June Griggsby, and Wynona Price. Jeanette was chosen chairman.

9B's MAKE GOODIES
By Delores Gomes

The girls in the 9B cooking classes made Christmas cookies and candies. Some of the cookies they made were Hermit cookies, and light and dark Merry Christmas cookies. The candies were candy canes, fudge, and peanut brittle.

WHITE CHRISTMAS GIFTS
By Mary Stratton

Starling students were asked to contribute gifts, which were given to the Columbus State School on Christmas day. These articles consisted of costume jewelry, handkerchiefs, perfume, combs, and things to eat. These were small, inexpensive gifts, but practical and usable. The gifts were placed under the Christmas tree that stood in the hall.

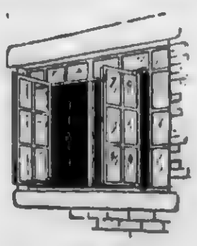
Pears—The Versatile Fruit

By BETTY BARCLAY

From table decoration to table treat, ripe pears bring delight all winter long. They are plentiful now and are at their best. Of the four major varieties of pears, on the market during the winter months, the Bosc, the Fall russet pear; the Anjou, the Comice and the Nelis are the best known.

Major portion of the fresh crop is grown on the western slope of the United States in the states of Oregon, Washington and California. Fresh pears are unlike other fruits since they ripen to best advantage off the tree. When pears reach the retailer, they should be ripe and ready-to-eat. When fully ripe, they yield to gentle pressure. If pears are purchased in an under-ripe stage, they should be held at room temperature about 60 to 70 degrees F., until they develop and ripen, as determined by gentle pressure.



While they are ripening, they may form a buffet centerpiece. They may be served daily for the fresh fruit snack as they ripen, and may be used from time to time for cooking. Keep them handy for a fruit treat for the tricycle crowd, for after school nourishment for the pigtail group, or for the athlete who is in training and is staying away completely from rich desserts. Mother who is watching her weight and Dad who likes a bite before bedtime will like fresh ripe pears, too.

Pears are a versatile fruit, good for out-of-hand eating, or served both raw or cooked. Various pear salads call for fresh ripe pears as do pears 'n cream, while pears may be served cooked in pies, puddings, baked pears, broiled pears and many other pear dishes.

If it is necessary to hold pears for use after they have ripened, place them in the refrigerator. The riper fruit is good for eating out-of-hand while the more firm fruit is fine for cooking. Whether fresh or cooked, they are one of the tasty treats of the winter months.

Baked pears are an easy dessert, that has particular appetite appeal. To bake pears, allow one small pear or a half of a large one per serving. Cut 3 to 4 pears in halves, removing the cores. In a baking dish place the juice of ½ lemon and enough water to cover the bottom of the dish. Place the pear halves, cut side down in the dish and bake covered at 375 degrees F. for 20 to 25 minutes, depending on the ripeness of the fruit. At the end of the baking time remove the cover, turn the pears and sprinkle each half with from 1 to 2 teaspoons sugar. Return to oven to glaze and complete the baking, uncovered. These pears may be used as a breakfast fruit, as a dessert or a meat accompaniment. The baked pears may be reheated by broiling to serve with broiled meats.

Two Hilltop railroad conductors wrote a "finis" to their careers with the Pennsylvania and New York Central Lines this week. The men are Otto C. Streets, 586 Binns-blvd, and Donald P. Newsom, 257 S. Westgate-av. Together the men have reached a total of 86 years service with the railroad.

A sum of $82 was stolen from the cash register of Lauer's Dry Cleaning Shop, 2693 Sullivant-av, last week, police reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blesch, 772 Binns-blvd, received a Christmas card this week from their son, Bob, who is serving in China with the U. S. Air Corps.

West High Teachers Have Chance To Relax During Seasonal Holidays

By Myron T. Seifert

Teachers, too, enjoy vacations away from their arduous duties, and West High instructors are no exception.

For the most part West High teachers plan to do nothing out of the ordinary other than "re-coup" from their job of training 2200 students.

George Wing, math instructor, by now "has sand in his shoes" down Florida way. He plans to return by plane this week-end to Worthington, where he is mayor of the village.

Ona Praether, in the West High culinary department, where both girls and boys learn how to cook, is visiting her brother, who is an instructor at the University of Texas in Austin, Tex.

Principal I. F. Young is deep in the task of rounding out the reorganization program for teachers and students next semester.

Briefing remarks of other teachers, we quote: George Heitz—"Christmas vacation will be spent quietly at home." Coach R. Glass—"Visit out of town over the holidays." Alma Keeler—"Catch up on entertaining. I have a list of guests a foot long." Coach C. Williams — "Hold basketball practice." Wayne House—"Spend a week for duty in the U. S. Navy at Great Lakes, and visit folks in Newcomerstown." Mary Smith—"Stay home and work." Helen McCormick—"Visit sister at West Union."

Charles Bennett — "Baby has whooping cough, so guess we'll stay home and try to get in shape for our trip to Arizona at the end of January." John Thompson—"Visit parents and relatives in Youngstown and Cleveland." Ann Blyth—"Finish up odds and ends that need to be done." Ted Mayer—"Build bookshelves for my home." Ed. Kaylor—"Attend National Speech Convention at Washington, D. C." Mrs. Murphy—"Home and visit in country." Harold Washburn—"Put finishing touches on new home." Mrs. Davis—"Learn to cook on my new stove, which has a lot of new gadgets."

Speakers Chosen For Junior High Commencement

Two West Junior High students, Norma Lee Spradling, 228 S. Richardson-av, and Roy Martin, 337 S. Burgess-av, were selected as 9A class speakers at the commencement ceremony to be held in West High School auditorium, Jan. 26, 1949, at 2:30 p. m., Ruth Bachmayer, vice principal, announced this week.

Selected from a field of several candidates, including Jerry Kline, Jeraldine Trickel, Ronald Gross and Dick Jacques. The 9A graduating group chose three boys and three girls to represent the class.

Faculty members, Lola McFarland, Edna Smith, Velma Milloune and Adolph Kittel, made final selection of a boy and girl for the class commencement exercise.

Norma Lee Spradling, 15 years of age, is interested in vocal music, and has been Junior High twirler for the past three semesters. Her favorite band leader is Vaughn Monroe, and "Star Dust" is tops on her music parade.

With aspiration to become a lawyer, Roy Martin, at 14 years of age, will have an opportunity to present his first public "case" when he acts as class speaker at the Junior High commencement.

Hilltop Lady, 'Dean of Columbus Newswomen,' Has Many Memories

By Myron T. Seifert

Dean of Columbus newspaper women, Mrs. A. F. Brogenhardt, 1925 Fairmont-av, likes to reflect on her many and varied experiences that began before the turn of the century.

Steeped in journalistic history and lore, Mrs. Brogenhardt looks back—and ahead—to a past of color and grandeur and a future which promises much to career-minded girls in this important field of our American way of life.

Of the original Ohio Newspaper Women's Association, Mrs. Brogenhardt is the only living charter member. In point of service, she holds senior rank in the Columbus Women's Press Club.

Her father was an extensive real estate operator and laid out and developed many sections of Columbus, including the south end, where the family name, Markison (inadvertently misspelled on the original abstracts of title instead of "Markeson" as it should be) denotes one of the main streets in this district.

Mrs. Brogenhardt's visits to Sweden following her marriage broadened her journalistic perspective and familiarized her with the life of other people. This Christmas will find her lovely, modest home with an atmosphere of Sweden. Her yuletide tree will be laden down with beautiful Scandinavian ornaments, artistic and colorful, including bells, flowers, fruits and leaves. A huge, blue English-made urn, almost a century old, will hold the tree, and will be placed in her front window.

Noted for their fine food, the good folks in Sweden learn the art of its preparation in the schools, Mrs. Brogenhardt says. Swedish women—and even men—major in cooking courses, in much the same manner as American girls take up art, music and liberal subjects, so their training fits them to experiment and produce some of the finest food in the world.

Gerda is to Swedish cooking what Emily Post is to American etiquette—and Mrs. Brogenhardt has constantly at her elbow a cook book compiled by Gerda, when preparing foods.

Coffee is the favorite Swedish beverage, and they like their coffee black.

A Swedish epicurean's "diet" might follow this pattern, Mrs. Brogenhardt said:

Before arising from bed the family would be served the black, potent coffee for that "lift" so necessary to start the day right. Then, for breakfast, they must have hot, steaming fish, prepared to appetizing perfection. The average number consumed at this early meal varies, but six or seven fish about the size of the large finger would appeal to the ordinary citizen, Mrs. Brogenhardt advised.

About 11 a. m., toasted biscuits, with coffee, constitute a snack. At 2 p. m. comes the heavy dinner; at 5 o'clock they have coffee and scones, a cake made of barley, wheat or oatmeal, baked on a griddle.

Then about 7 o'clock "the" meal begins with a beer which the natives call "snaps". The well-known smorgasbord is first course for the evening festive occasion, at which all foods are served cold, except at one end of the festive board where there are hot creamed combinations which may be used to supplement the cold cuts.

Fish, especially herring, is among the initial offerings and is served on their individual plates. Diners then return for another helping of cheeses, celery and cold cuts. Following this, if room permits, a delicious hot dinner is served. Parsley is used extensively, especially for fowl, fish or their highly-seasoned meatballs. Custard puddings of various flavors and black, hot coffee supplement the meal, and finally a Swedish punch tops off the evening's repast.

At Christmas, a white fish and soups made of fruits supplement the interesting smorgasbord.

The interview with Mrs. Brogenhardt was not all food. We managed to get some personal comments from the woman who pioneered journalism in Columbus.

First society reporter for The Columbus Citizen in the latter "gay nineties", she later served on the Columbus Press-Post, The Ohio State Journal and The Columbus Dispatch, following the acquisition of the latter two by the Wolfe interests.

In publicity work a large part of her life, she likewise has devoted much time to social work, especially with the day nurseries in this city. For 23 years she has been prominently identified with local nurseries, having founded several of them.

Numbered among her friends are individuals who, during her reporting days, were "top news" for local newspapers. Her assignments were always interesting. Included among her "scoops" were the celebrated Anna Eva Fay, who made headlines as mind reader at the Old Southern Theatre; Queen Stella, of Spanish gypsy fame; Howard Thurston, world famous magician; David Bispham, world-known baritone, and a host of others.

Covering many conventions, especially for women, she established a reputation as an accurate and interesting writer. One of the first to publicize women's organizations, she did a remarkable job in reporting activities of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, National Federation of Mothers and the National Mothers' Council. She was also a representative of the Associated Press.

Heirlooms of immeasurable value add much to her life and home. Pictures of her immediate family and her "jewels"—the many nephews, nieces and grand-nephews and nieces—keep her occupied in corresponding with them all.

Happy New Year

And, in order that our wish may bear fruit for our many friends, we pledge ourselves to serve you better during this New Year than we ever have before.

Of Christmas Past

By Kel Fuller

It may be trite now to write of the war or of experience past but the Christmas moment brings to my mind a variety of emotions and thoughts. The "Christmas moment" is my own term. It means to me the precise instant when a man experiences the spirit of peace, when he is not in conflict with himself. This emotion is a rare one which comes to him only once a year, if at all, and then for only a fleeting time. It could be when he observes a candle in a window with the proper amount of snow on the street and a few soft stars overhead, twinkling down as he makes his way home, his arms filled with packages, or it may come to him at midnight services when he feels a sincere humility or when he turns on the lights of his newly decorated Christmas tree or in any number of situations where the giving becomes important and the individual forgets himself and remembers others.

I think of my past: of trains, erector sets, Boy Scout suits, basketballs, golf clubs. But I think also of a barren Alsatian plain and a gaunt skeleton town on the Rhine where a group of helmeted GI's clomped into a stone church to attend midnight services on Christmas eve and knelt beside the German civilians to hear a minister speak in a tongue they did not understand but whose meaning was clear.

He spoke of peace. Those who knelt there were without malice and even the artillery ceased for a while as if in some kind of respect. That night was bright with a full moon; the snow was packed hard on the street where numerous vehicles had passed but lay soft and thick on the slanting shingle roofs and for a few moments there was no war. The torn buildings, the clear sky, the snow-covered cobblestones, the mute guns and the kneeling soldiers and civilians blended into a harmony of peace. The "Christmas moment" lasted only a short time but this peace belongs to the turbulent history of Alsace. It belongs to the short history of the people who felt it and it belongs somehow to all Christmas.

"Record" Stories Reach Eyes Of New York Singer

Several stories published recently in the Hilltop Record including the one about the West High Stage crew, written by Myron T. Seifert, are now in hands of Margaret Speaks, celebrated singer, formerly of Columbus, and now of New York.

It happened this way. Stanford Speakman, brother of Margaret, was visiting Mrs. Evelyn Hall, stage crew edvisor at West High, and her husband recently; whereupon his eyes alighted upon the stage crew story in the Hilltop Record, and another story of a dog-house built by West student Dick Young for Mrs. Hall.

These stories, and several of hers, Stanford took with him to New York so that Margaret, a good friend of Mrs. Hall, might enjoy them.

Truck Driver Has Narrow Escape

A 31-year-old truck driver escaped injury Dec. 23, when his truck struck a parked car and overturned after the driver was overcome by carbon monoxide.

Police said the Dixie Cream Doughnut Co. truck, driven by Fred Henry Howell, 447 S. Ogden-av, crashed into a parked auto in the 2200 block of E. Fifth-av, rolled 20 feet and overturned. Mr. Howell told police he was overcome by fumes, and lost control of the truck.

Record Prognosticator Says First Hilltop Baby of 1949 Will Be Boy

By Ed Wert

Are YOU going to be the parents of the Hilltop's "First Baby of 1949"?

If you hope so, allow us, in our role as genetics expert of the staff of The Hilltop Record, to inform you that in all probability your new baby will be a boy!

What makes us so sure of ourselves, you might ask, when we don't even know who you are and when the world's best doctors and obstetricians and some geneticists who fancy themselves to know more about genetics than we do will tell you with no if's, and's or but's that nobody can tell the sex of a baby before birth? Here's how:

Ever since 1938 we've been running these "first baby of the year" prize derbys. And we've been quite pleased to note how closely the division of the winners according to sex has paralelled the accepted fact that for every girl born there's also a boy baby born. Boy babies walked off with the prizes in 1938, 1940, 1943, 1944 and 1946. Girl babies were winners in 1939, 1941, 1942, 1945, 1947 and 1948.

If you'll add those births correctly, you'll discover that through last year there were six girls and five boys who won the "first baby prizes. You'll likewise see that at no time has there been a disparity of more than one in the number of births of either sex. That means that to keep all these complicated rules of mathematics, obstetrics, science, proportion and population in proper alignment, a boy baby has to win this year. He just HAS to! Or, as Oliver Wendell Holmes said, "Logic is logic, that's all I say."

Winner of the more than $200 worth of prizes from some 24 Hilltop merchants and business men last year was Sharon Elizabeth Finneran, the six pound 10 ounce daughter born at 11:50 a. m., Jan. 1, 1948, in Mt. Carmel Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Finneran, then of 211 S. Eureka-av.

The parents, who now live at 820 Renick-st, were married in England when Mr. Finneran was stationed there with the Eighth Air Force. His wife, Mrs. Eva Bernice Finneran of Lees, England, accompanied her husband to this country in March of 1947.

Sharon Elizabeth is doing fine, thank you, and her parents say she is a "darling chubby little girl." Her grandparents are still excited over the "every-three months" portraits taken of Sharon by Photographer J. Curtis Allen as one of the prizes last year. They regard the pictures as invaluable possessions to be cherished all through their lives, the parents' lives and Sharon's life.

Previous winners of the "first baby derby" were:

1938, Fred Eugene Cunningham, son born to Rev. and Mrs. D. W. Cunningham.

1939, Linda Myers, daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Myers.

1940, Donald Frazier, son born to Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert F. Frazier.

1941, Bonine Janet Warsmith, daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Warsmith.

1942, Mary Lou Sowers, daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sowers.

1943, James Robert Ginther, son born to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ginther.

1944, Daniel Paul Snyder, son born to Mr. and Mrs. John Snyder.

1945, Susan Fletcher, daughter born to Capt. and Mrs. Edward Fletcher.

1946, Richard M. Irwin, son born to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Irwin.

1947, Judith Marie Caldwell, daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Caldwell.

Pemberton Gets Bid To Train State All-Stars

By Myron T. Seifert

Mack Pemberton, West High School football coach, during the past season lost many a night's sleep over his championship football combination, planning their schedule, training, and plays.

Now Mack, in post-season stride, has another reason for losing sleep since his selection to the All-Star State Coaching staff last week. He is highly elated over his new appointment and asserts that he "was just lucky, and had two capable assistants in Fred Heischman and Dave Randall."

By virtue of this honor Pemberton will carry out his coaching duties and attend a football clinic school at Lakewood, O., during the first two weeks in August 1949.

Paul Theisen, recent All-High selection from West High is the only Franklin County boy who was selected, along with 50 All-Star players in the state, to compete in the All-State game to be played at the Cleveland Municipal stadium before an anticipated crowd of 40,000 people next August.

During the first week in August two teams, a North and a South, will train for the game to be played in the Cleveland Stadium at the end of the first week in August. Pemberton will be assigned to the Southern delegation of Stars whom he will coach in a separate camp from the Northerners.

A coaches clinic will be conducted by leading experts and names in the football world during the second week in August. Pemberton's traveling expenses and financial account, incidental to the trip, will be paid by the Ohio High School Football Association, who sponsors the event.

During Mack's three year tenure as head football coach at the Powell-av school the Cowboys have "rung-up" an enviable record of 22 wins, five losses and two ties.

The past two years, records show, the Westerners have held two consecutive city championships and an undefeated eleven.

The Hilltop Record can be mailed anywhere in Franklin County for $1.50 per year.

Wishing You The Best In 1949.

Kent Bros.—2854

Kent Brothers put on the best display of knocking the pins around last Monday, with games of 937, 1017 and 900 for a 2854 total.

Hube Seitz was high for the team with 606, while Lloyd Leasure had the high single game for the team and league, a 244. George Phillips had an even 600 with games of 243, 192 and 165.

Here's the way they lined up:

Kent Bros.
G. Phillips	243	192	165	600
L. Leasure	151	244	158	553
K. Morris	170	181	190	541
H. Seitz	193	219	201	606

Dick Friend made his debut in the Suburban League in fine style as he put together games of 156, 230 and 204 for the high three game total of the evening, 590. His First National team knocked the league leading Wilson Floors out of the top spot by beating them two games. Hilltop Van extended their winning streak to 19 wins in their last 24 games to take over first place.

New "Flare Lite" Is Safety Device

Columbus motorists will have an opportunity in 1949 to participate in a nation-wide highway safety campaign, one phase of which is being inaugurated next week by progressive retail merchants of the Hilltop and surrounding areas, in cooperation with readers of The Hilltop Record.

Recognizing the dangers of night driving, when three out of every five fatal accidents occur, a movement is being launched with the endorsement of government officials, automobile associations, veterans' organizations and others, to have every car equipped with an emergency flare for the protection of life and property on the highway by preventing stalled cars from being struck by onrushing vehicles.

Railroads and interstate truck and bus lines have long been required by federal regulations to carry such flares and many states have pending or in preparation similar legislation for private automobiles and commercial vehicles.

Hilltop merchants and retail dealers of all kinds, through the cooperation of the G. N. Vending Co., 663 W. Broad-st, distributors of the auto "Flare-Lite", the modern highway safety flare, will launch the local effort of the campaign with an attractive combination offer of a flare and free gift package for motorists, details of which will appear, for the first time, in next week's Hilltop Record and subsequent issues.

It has been determined that the flare burns with a clear light, with very little smoke, and will withstand very strong wind pressure. A series of tests of "Flare-Lite" was made under laboratory conditions and also under actual conditions where the flare burned outdoors and tested it not only for wind and rain resistance but also as to the burning time.

D. K. Finley, manager of the safety council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, in a letter addressed to the manufacturers of "Flare-Lite", commented as follows:

"As you know, we are intensely interested in any device that can in any way contribute to the safety of motorists and help to cut down the terrific annual toll being taken in traffic accidents.

"One of the all too frequent type of accidents that occur is a collision with a car that is temporarily parked for repairs or tire change, especially at night in poorly lighted areas. Often this collision involves the death or serious injury of the owner or driver.

"In view of the foregoing, we do not hesitate to endorse the principle of 'flares' for the protection they can give in such instances, by furnishing adequate warning and increased visibility. While it is not our policy to exclusively endorse any specific commercial product, from observation and tests we feel that your product does fill a long felt need of the motoring public and we can sincerely recommend its use."

13 Diamond Hand

A 13 diamond hand was dealt to John H. Huegely of 254 Demorest-av, recently in a game of contract bridge. Huegely's partner was Franklin C. Grier, 182 S. Algonquin-av, at whose home the game was played. Mrs. Grier was the dealer.

Huegely bid a grand slam and made it!

BIBLE COMMENT
FOR JAN. 2.

To Know Jesus Is Highest, Greatest End of Knowledge

FOR the next six months Sunday schools will be studying the life of Jesus, the greatest of all studies, and which should be the end and object of all whatever their source or nature. To know Him, and the power of His resurrection, as Paul said, is the highest and greatest end of all knowledge.

These brief weekly comments on the life of Jesus will not follow any prescribed plan or be confined to particular incidents. It will be my effort so to present the backgrounds, atmosphere and environment of the earthly life of Jesus to bring full light upon the revelation of God that He brought to men.

I will try to make evident the reality and power of the Gospel in His words and acts, His life, death and resurrection, and to bring the full bearing of that Gospel upon our lives today.

The chief background of the life of Jesus is in the Old Testament, the record of the religion of a people, His people, and the highlights of religious experience of saints, poets, and prophets. Their words and deeds made known the nature and power of righteousness and the richest wisdom concerning life that the world had known.

It was of all this that Jesus said that He had come, not to destroy, but to fulfill. It was in the words of Isaiah that He announced His mission.

Jesus knew His Bible. And every one who would know Jesus must know the Bible. In it are not only the backgrounds of His life, but it is the only ultimate source of our knowledge of what He said and did.

The atmosphere and environment of the life of Jesus are equally manifest in the Gospels. In that little land of Palestine in the time of Jesus was every phase and aspect of climate and nature, symbolic of the phases and aspects of life itself.

And in little Palestine the human atmosphere and environment are remarkable—dense populations in a small area, great caravans passing through on the trade routes between East and West, North and South, typical of the world of all races and peoples whom Jesus came to bless.

Baptists Plan New Year's Eve Service

The young people of Immanuel Baptist Church will be in charge of a watchnight service from 8 to 12 p. m., Dec. 31. A social time of games and fun will open the evening's program followed by refreshments to be served by the Berean Bible Class.

At 11 p. m. the pastor will conduct an hour-long service leading up to midnight. During the service testimonies will be given and a Scripture verse selected by the congregation which will serve as a motto for the new year. The closing feature will be the service of communion which will be in progress as the new year dawns.

Open House Planned By Baptist Church

New Year's Day will feature Open House at the parsonage of Hillcrest Baptist Church, located at 144 S. Sylvan-av. Friends and members are invited to attend between hours of 2 p. m. and 5 p. m. and 7 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Services for Sunday, Jan. 2, will be:

9:30 a. m.—Church School.
10:30 a. m.—Worship. New Year pulpit message, "Toll Gates on the Road Ahead".
7:30 p. m. — Sunday Evening Hour. The Charles Vance family will entertain with program of varied musical selections.

There will be mid-week devotions each Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

$1.50 Per Year In Franklin County
$2.50 Per Year Outside the County

In Its 32nd Year Of Continuous Community Service

The Hilltop, Columbus 4, Ohio, Thursday, January 6, 19

Vol. XXXII, No. 36

Looking Ahead Into 365 Days Of 1949

Hilltoppers in general can have no complaints about their community in the year just passed and every indication is in the direction of a bright new year and one filled with a lot of good things for 1949.

Along this line the Record believes certain things for the betterment of the Hilltop should be on the agenda for the new year and an effort made to see that as many improvements as possible are brought about. They include:

1. Improved street lighting for several streets in the community, with special attention to the area around West High School.

2. Further improvements of the Hilltop parks and playgrounds with every effort being made to make them available to more and more people.

3. Street improvements where needed and especial attention to the newly built sections.

4. Special attention to safety on Hilltop streets with an effort being made to keep this community out of the red (blood) in 1949.

5. Continued insistence of Hilltop residents that no further liquor or beer permits be granted in this area.

6. A more unified schedule of store hours for Hilltop firms with attention given to making it possible for more people who could not otherwise visit local stores to do so in the evenings.

7. An enlargement of the newly created YMCA program to include more and more youngsters.

8. An effort made to get trucks routed around the Hilltop.

First Nubbins of '49: The current mystery tune is "Behold The Bridegroom Cometh" . . . Spending Jan. and Feb. in Florida are Mr. and Mrs. Herb Davis . . . Correction: Morgan Murphy's Knotty Pine at Rome will not be a restaurant but will be a self-serve market and soda fountain . . . The milestone in front of the State Hospital has been knocked down now for many months . . . Can't help but remember the nice taste to those hams Dave Vogelsang baked for our Christmas party . . . One of the finest examples of cooperation among merchants is being continued with the further weekly appearance of the Broad-Eld in to Terrace Merchants ad in the Record . . . Nancy Bailey and Jean Trott both received dolls for Christmas . . . First baby of 1949 was delivered at midnight at Mercy Hospital by Dr. Guy Hullett . . . Mrs. Jack Sensenbrenner is in San Francisco visiting her mother who is seriously ill . . . Noble L. Allen is the new president of the Buckeye Walking Horse Association . . . Elmer and Martha Hegenberger will move about Jan. 15 to a new home they have purchased at 108 Binns-blvd, from Mr. and Mrs. Leo Uridil, who are moving to an apartment on the east side . . . Mound Street Bus Service Starts Sunday

Hilltop residents in the W. Mound-st vicinity will finally realize their dream of adequate bus service, beginning Sunday. Buses previously terminating at Central-av, under the new schedule will terminate at Eureka-av.

Action was a result of a resolution passed by City Council Monday night. City Council has proposed an extension of bus service to Binns-blvd later in the year, when W. Mound-st is improved. The buses will go north in Eureka-av to Whitehead-av, east to Wayne-av, and south to Mound-st.

Koontz Will Direct Show

Hilltop Business Association announced this week that Lee Koontz will direct the 20th Annual Hilltop Minstrel.

C. C. Hartley asked to be relieved of the position due to his increasing business duties.

Koontz is a familiar figure to minstrel fans having taken part in nearly every show produced in the past seven years.

He began his theatrical career early. He was a member of the original cast which produced the first show. "I was about knee high to a duck then," Lee jokes.

No newcomer to directing, Lee took charge during the three years when Mr. Hartley was in the navy.

"A stage-struck kid in my youth," Lee said, "I toured with shows in 49 states, 48 in the United States, and one in the 'state of starvation'."

His chief concern now is to find talent for the show, which will open Feb. 23 at West High School auditorium and will have a three night run.

Dancers, singers and specialty acts are requested to make application to The Hilltop Record office immediately.

Rehearsals of the Hilltop chorus are held each Monday at 8 p. m. at Glenwood Methodist Church. Male singers are invited to report.

Hilltop Boys Get Military Bids

By Myron T. Seifert

West High School and the Hilltop fared well when military appointments were passed out officially last week by Congressman John M. Vorys.

Two out of three military awards were delegated to Hilltoppers, and at least two of the alternates, Don Borror and Paul Theisen were also from the Hilltop.

Appointed to Annapolis were Bruce M. Hall, 39 Algonquin-av, and John F. Stoneburner, 124 N. Ogden-av, received the appointment to West Point.

Alternate named for the West Point appointment was Donald A. Borror. Annapolis alternates were Paul T. Theisen and Lawrence V. Conway.

Bruce Hall, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall, 39 S. Algonquin-av, and is a graduate of West High School and a freshman at Miami University.

His activities at West included Band Variety Show, Senior Showboat, "L" Society, vice president and program chairman of "L" Society, National Honor, Spanish Club, Drama Club, Hi-Y, Ohio State scholarship test, O. S. U. District first place in algebra, Hi-Y homecoming program committee, senior scholarship test, home room vice-president, library staff, dance band, sound effects senior class play, Miami U. scholarship and MTT award.

Stoneburner was graduated from Central High School, where he was on the track team, and at present is attending Ohio State University. His two brothers, William, a first lieutenant in the air force, and Earl, an infantryman were killed in Europe during World War II. His father served in the first World War.

Painter Market Plans Opening

The new Painter Market, 1641 Sullivant-av, owned by George Painter, will have its grand opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Being grocery store owners is almost a tradition with the Painter family. Mr. Painter's mother operated the store successfully at its present address for many years. Mr. Painter later went into real estate and is now fulfilling his mother's wish of establishing a good neighborhood market for Hilltop customers.

The store is completely remodeled including modern electric fixtures, display counters and a new meat display case.

Mr. Painter's aim is for the new self-service market to be the cleanest on the Hilltop.

Assisting his father this week in preparation for the grand opening is David Painter, son of Mr. Painter, who is home on leave from Greenbriar Military Academy. He arrived Dec. 23 and will return Jan. 9.

Funeral Held For June Day

Funeral was held Jan. 3 for June Day, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Day, who died Dec. 29 as a result of burns suffered when fire destroyed the home of her parents at 1364 Brown-rd.

Fire started when a coal stove exploded, after June poured kerosene on the flames.

The father, burned by the flames as he carried the small girl to safety, was reported as "improving" by Mt. Carmel Hospital, where both were taken.

Damage to the Day home, including contents, was estimated at $4500.

Rev. Robert Odell, pastor of the Nelson Memorial Presbyterian Church, is in charge of a fund to aid the Day family. Contributions stand at approximately $500 in clothing and cash. Burial for the Days' daughter was held Jan. 3 at Union Cemetery.

Surviving besides the parents are four brothers, Frederick, Robert, Jack and Sherman, Jr.; five sisters, Patsy, Martha, Barbara, Glenna and Nancy; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Day, Mercerville, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Burg[illegible]

A delayed letter, saying only that he had been transferred and was fine—and a Christmas card—was all the information that had been received from Ray personally. The telegram was from the Navy Department.

So on Christmas Eve of that same year he was reported safe, then later his parents had word he had been killed. He himself has no idea how all these reports originated.

His first assignment was with a gun crew aboard the "West Virginia", and after it was sunk he was reassigned to a destroyer in a convoy which later joined a task force in the South Pacific. He also participated in engagements near the Ellice Islands, Santa Cruz Islands, New Guinea and the Admiralty Islands.

Hilltop's First War 'Casualty' Lived To See Published Reports of Death

By Myron T. Seifert

This is a Christmas story about a Hilltop boy who, as a GI, read his own obituary, which was published seven years ago in several newspapers, including The Hilltop Record, The Occident and the downtown publications.

Yes, seven years ago Ray E. Smith, formerly of 870 S. Wayne-av, only boy in a family of four children, had a singular experience following the attack at Pearl Harbor.

Significantly, he was one of the first from the Hilltop to enlist in the service of his country and was the first Hilltopper reportedly missing or killed in action. That he lived to see his own death notices is really only poetic justice.

Ray, at 17 years of age, graduated from West High School in January, 1941, and enlisted five days later. His teachers and classmates commended him for his action.

As a student at West he was always modest and sincere. Blessed by nature with six feet of flesh and bones and a snappy personality, he was the idol of many of the West High girls. Because of his physique and good looks, supplemented by his "sharp" clothes (to use the vernacular of many West students), he personified all of the qualities students then considered a necessary adjunct to success—and in a natty navy uniform, well that made him a fashion plate model in any teen-ager's language. He was the epitome of West High fashions at their best.

Then, too, he was one of the top athletes in the school: co-captain of the football team, member of the track team, and president of the select honorary athletic group, the "W" Association.

From various parts of the world Ray would drop his friends a letter now and then, telling them all about the Pacific fleet and his interesting work. Then came the attack on Pearl Harbor, where Ray was stationed.

That Dec. 7, 1941, Sunday afternoon, when radios blared what had happened, the Smith family couldn't help but wonder about their "Ray". His friends on the Hilltop made many inquiries at the Smith home to learn of Ray's whereabouts. It all added up to nervous jitters for the Smiths.

Then came the wire: "We regret to inform you—missing in action", the first such message delivered on the Hilltop. Messages of condolence poured in from many sources, but the dazed family could scarcely believe that Ray was to be the Hilltop's first martyr in War II.

Christmas presents already sent to the Pacific zone will never reach Ray, the Smiths thought—and the family was in the midst of making plans for Christmas! That was changed everything Christmas, 1941, at 870 S. Wayne-av offered little for the Smiths.

The newspapers carried a report of the wire received at the Smith household.

December 17, 1941, the West High School newspaper carried a black bordered "In Memoriam" tribute to Ray, which read:

"First tragedy of the war to strike close to West is the news that Ray 'Tweezy' Smith was lost in the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. He served on the crew of the battleship 'West Virginia', which sank after a torpedo attack. We, the whole school, feel a deep sympathy for the family of Ray Smith. We are also sure that everyone feels proud to have known and admired a true hero."

As the calm follows the storm, the "irreparable loss" felt by the Smiths was converted into an occasion of joy on Christmas Eve when the doorbell rang at 870 S. Wayne-av and a Western Union boy smilingly presented a telegram to the Smiths.

The contents assured the Smiths that all was well with their son—and a happier household on the Hilltop could never have been. "It was the best Christmas we ever had," was the comment of Delbert Smith, then IFA, when asked how he felt about receiving the good word that his brother, Ray, previously reported lost at Pearl Harbor, was safe and uninjured.

"Everyone was trying to observe Christmas in the usual manner but everyone was feeling kind of low," Delbert explained, going on to say that he had spent Christmas Eve caroling with members of the Glenwood Epworth League when he received word from Phil Wisdom, who took him home.

"As soon as I stepped into the house, I knew what had happened," he continued. "It was written all over their faces. From that time on the sky was the limit," he laughed. "I called up all my friends to tell them the good news and went out to celebrate. I got home in time to unwrap my presents."

A delayed letter, saying only that he had been transferred and was fine—and a Christmas card—was all the information that had been received from Ray personally. The telegram was from the Navy Department.

So on Christmas Eve of that same year he was reported safe, then later his parents had word he had been killed. He himself has no idea how all these reports originated.

His first assignment was with a gun crew aboard the "West Virginia", and after it was sunk he was reassigned to a destroyer in a convoy which later joined a task force in the South Pacific. He also participated in engagements near the Ellice Islands, Santa Cruz Islands, New Guinea and the Admiralty Islands.

Ray now resides at 2621 Ferd-rd, and for the past three years has been employed by the Western Electric Co.

Local Contractor Gives Old Homes "New Look"

By Myron T. Seifert

Bradis Conley, 71 S. Westgate-av, one of Hilltop's most enterprising independent building contractors, has developed what was once a mere hobby into a vocation that has already aided materially in alleviating the housing shortage in recent years.

Conley is a "natural" when it comes to converting old homes into modern and practical living quarters. In spotting an old house, he visualizes the many possibilities that the transformed home will afford.

Like Aladdin with his magic touch, Conley transforms in short order drab, unlovely residences into modern, up-to-date dream homes. "I like to see that New Look" in old houses," Conley said.

Far from a desk executive, he works right along with the crew and "pitches in" when the going sometimes becomes rough.

Conley's converted homes, for the most part, are in the Hilltop locale, and constitute a major improvement in every neighborhood where he has undertaken his projects. He leaves a mark of individuality in his workmanship as evidenced by traits of beauty and serviceability.

Several of his improvement projects include homes at 222 Whitethorne-av, 58 S. Huron-av, 53 S. Westmoor, 185 Binns-blvd and 71 S. Westgate-av.

A native of McArthur, he, with Mrs. Conley, moved to the Hilltop 22 years ago to a N. Wheatland address, making improvements upon his arrival at his first Hilltop home. Jim, his son, 17 years of age, is a student at West High School. He has aspirations of becoming a sports scribe.

Taking time out from construction work; Conley recently returned from a deer hunting excursion 750 miles north in the Georgia Bay region.

This was his initial trek to the Canadian wilds. He accompanied two hunters and bagged a 250 pound doe. He attributes his first real game to luck.

An avid sports fan, Conley follows West High School's athletic program with much interest. His son, Jim, takes an active part in the physical education work at the Hilltop school.

West Hi Teacher Wins on Quiz Show

By Myron T. Seifert

Rhoda O'Harra, popular sewing teacher at West High, who vacationed via plane during the recent holidays, came home richer both in experience and souvenirs.

Most tourists spend a lot of money buying souvenirs and curios, but Miss O'Harra, by virtue of her keen wit on a popular radio program, returned to West High rewarded.

It happened this way. Tom Bartlett, emcee of the "Welcome Traveler" broadcast over local station WCOL at 12 p. m. daily, interviewed Miss O'Harra the first day of her flying-vacation westward.

Prior to her appearance Miss O'Harra was interviewed by four radio staff inquisitors.

Emcee Bartlett couldn't stump geographically - minded Miss O'Harra, for she answered without hesitation the question propounded by her inquisitor.

Following disclosure of her interest in bowling, Mr. Bartlett asked her this question: "If you were bowling in Ohio what town would remind you of bowling?" Of course our subject instantaneously retorted, "Bowling Green."

For her efforts "Welcome Traveler" awarded her a first class bowling-ball, leather bag to carry it in, five 'Made O'Day dresses for Irish Miss O'Harra, a 2½ hours sight-seeing tour of Chicago, lunch at an exclusive restaurant, and a supply of Crisco by the sponsors.

New Years Day she attended the Tournament of Roses and was guest at Tom Brenaman's restaurant, and saw points of interest in Hollywood.

ABC broadcast, sponsored by Crisco and Ivory Snow, originates Monday through Friday in the world-famous College Inn, Hotel Sherman, Chicago; 11:00 to 11:30 a. m. Chicago time. Tommy plays host to approximately 2500 travelers weekly from every state in the Union and from all over the world. Every day millions of people tune in the "Welcome Travelers" radio show.

The Pie's The Thing - Anytime

By BETTY BARCLAY

Don't wait until you have a special company dinner planned to serve your family one of their favorite desserts — Coffee Cream Pie. It will be welcome anytime and will fit in with every type meal, adding an exciting taste treat that the whole family will enjoy. It will make your meal planning a lot simpler and more economical, too, for even a meal of leftovers turns into a gala occasion if topped off by this man-sized dessert.

You would think a dessert that looks this pretty might take many of your precious hours in the kitchen, but it really won't. You'll be surprised how simple the preparations for a Coffee Cream pie can be. Just look at the following recipe —pour the delicious coffee cream mixture into a baked pie shell and sprinkle with some nuts or decorate with whipped cream — whichever you prefer. Won't your family be surprised? Yes, happy too, when they taste that subtle coffee flavor.

Coffee Cream Pie

1 package prepared vanilla pudding
2½-3 tablespoons Instant Maxwell House
1½ cups milk
½ cup cream, whipped
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
¼ cup chopped nut meats

Combine pudding powder and Instant Maxwell House in small saucepan. Add milk and cook as directed on pudding package. Cool. Fold in whipped cream. Fill pie shell and chill. Sprinkle with chopped nut meats or decorate with whipped cream.

Local Merchant Mends Shoes For 25 Years

By Myron T. Seifert

No man could be more content than friendly Jim Olindo DeRubertis, who has operated his shoe repair shop from 1419 Sullivant-av for a quarter of a century.

DeRubertis never forgets a pair of shoes, nor the person who wears them.

He doesn't need a ticket to identify the owner. Jim knows the owner without any bookkeeping or tag formalities.

In 25 years of business Jim has followed this procedure without a single mishap. He repaired more than 4000 shoes last year.

Coming to this country from Italy in 1912, Jim has lived in Columbus since 1913. He likes to study American life and psychology of its people from first hand. "I study the motion of people," said Jim cheerfully, referring to the behavior and disposition of Americans.

"That's how I associate a pair of shoes with an individual. The shoes are like the people I serve," he added.

The secret of Jim's successful trade is his own good humor and happiness in his work. He has had more than his share of "hard times" but has learned that confidence and trust in his fellowman mean more than dollars and cents.

Jim's first customer, he recalls, was Detective Williams of the Columbus police force, who gave him a large order on Oct. 16, 1924, when he opened his shop. The order was a size 14 shoe to half-sole. Williams has continued to bring him shoes regularly during the past 25 years.

A member of President Truman's famous 35th Division in World War I, Jim spent 13 months in France. He is an active participant in the Hilltop Veterans of Foreign War organization.

Happy with Mrs. DeRubertis, whom he acclaims as the best girl in the world, Jim, in his leisure, grows flowers and fishes for recreation. He is father of two sons, Joe, who has an insurance business, and Dick, a student at Ohio State. Both are West High graduates.

Two Hilltoppers Aid March of Dimes

David Cockfield, 489 S. Harris-av, and Royle Copeland, 1199 Sullivant-av, were among 40 Franklin County high school students chosen to speak before a number of organizations during the annual "March of Dimes" campaign in January.

The speakers received their briefing Dec. 28 from Sid R. Phillips, chairman of the Franklin County polio chapter, and Thomas A. Sabrey, drive chairman, in a meeting at the Virginia Hotel.

The two Hilltop residents learned that the local polio fund is now exhausted and that a larger sum than ever before must be contributed next month to insure continuing care for the county's past polio victims, as well as for new cases developing in 1949.

Cub Scouts of 214 Make Mothers' Gifts

The Cub Scouts of Troop 214 St. Mary Magdalene School held their annual Christmas party and pack meeting Thursday evening, Dec. 23, in the school hall. The boys all made Christmas presents for their mothers and their achievement ribbons were awarded on this basis.

Den 7 won the achievement award. The attendance award was won by Den 5 and the good conduct award was won by Den 2. Four new boys were received into the Cub Scouts, John Wolf, Billy Patton, Eddie Slyh and John Bigelow.

Denner stripes went to the denners and assistant denners. Tommy Eyerman received the Wolf Badge. Bobcat Badge was awarded to William Swadley, Keith Wilson, Larry Wilson and Bob Dusterberg. Bear Badge went to Bobby Boehm, and Jimmie Boehm received the Lion Badge.

For the "Christmas Good Will Activity" the Scouts, with the aid of their dads, repaired more than 60 toys and presented them to St. Vincent's Orphanage. They also sent more than 200 pounds of food to the mission school in Fairfield, Ala.

The January pack meeting will be a minstrel show.

Girl Scouts Guests Of Mrs. R. Eyerman

The Girl Scouts of Troop 203, of St. Mary Magdalene School, met at the home of Mrs. Ray Eyerman, 2970 Parkside-rd, for a social evening after caroling in the Hilltop neighborhood, on Dec. 22.

The troop toured the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts on Dec. 16.

For their "Christmas Good Will Activity" the girls sent over 60 pounds of food to a mission school in Fairfield, Ala.

Troop meetings were resumed Jan. 5.

Allied Youth Gets West High Help

By Myron T. Seifert

Students, representing practically every registration home room at West High School, last week, made application for a charter, supporting the cause of Allied Youth, a national high school organization that has a program of alcohol education and alcohol-free recreation for its membership.

Thousands of teen-agers, including Hilltoppers, are beginning to look forward to Allied Youth for honest, unemotional facts about drinking, and for help in meeting the social pressure constantly urging them to drink.

The organization has the nod of Principal Irvin F. Young at West High School, and has the endorsement of men, prominent in the work, including Daniel A. Poling, J. Edgar Hoover, John R. Mott, John W. Studebaker, J. C. Penney, Erwin H. Hughes, Ray Lyman Wilbur, and S. S. Kresge.

During its tentative organization, preparatory to the acceptance of the charter, the following officers have been guiding the group, which was formed voluntarily at the local school by the students there. Guy Colli, president, 182 S. Letchworth-av; Vic Lehmkuhl, vice-president, 3044 Fremont-st; Dorothy Myers, secretary, 479 Hilltonia-av; and Marilyn Gauggel, treasurer, 323 N. Warren-av. Membership committee includes: Bill Clarkin, 135 N. Chase-av and Janet Dutt, 89 S. Powell-av.

Stevens Reports Real Estate Deals

James M. Stevens, with offices at State and Central-avs, reports the following sales on the Hilltop in the last two weeks:

Property at 2797 Ridge-av, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Garrison, was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Soll.

Property at 890 Woodbury-av was sold by Orville Suver and wife to Carl Rickman of Dayton.

Property at 1526 Thomas-av, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Keintz, was sold to Sara Heine, of Sidney, O.

Property at 1443 Thomas-av was sold by Walter Thrall to Mr. and Mrs. Conard.

In view of the considerable activity during the holidays, Mr. Stevens believes that 1949 will be a prosperous year for the real estate business.

Modern Poetry

Edited by Esther Weakley

THE STORY

The story has been told so many times
Of Christ's nativity that sacred night;
How clotted darkness brooded over bleak
Judean hills; how shepherds watching there
Saw the sky suddenly throbbing with bright wings
Of silver light that came from one high star
Which shone above a crumbling stable where
The infant King lay sleeping in a stall.
The story has been told so many times
How three wise men came, bringing gifts for Him—
Such heavy gifts for tiny hands to hold!
How angels, heralding the miracle,
Sang "Glory in the highest; peace on earth!"
As their song echoes once more down the years,
May it bring God's own peace to aching hearts
And good will to a doubting, anxious world!

E. W., in UNITY.

THE DAY AFTER CHRISTMAS

Christmas is over! Now we've begun
Reaping the harvest of what we have done . . .
Scraping the corners, he scoots with his scooter,
Screeching and yelling, he shoots with his shooter;
Beating his drums, he toot-toots on his tooter,
And we must stand it, for he is our son!

Though sonny's wants were too much, and ridiculous,
Filling his every whim found us meticulous,
But now as popguns go off accidentally,
We must admit it's too much for us mentally.
Some sanitorium will get us eventually . . .
Thus we're rewarded for playing St. Nicholas!

Cowboy Cagers To Open City Play Friday

WEST HIGH SCHOOL'S COWBOYS romped over Chillicothe last week for the fifth win in six tries this season. West will play North in its home court Friday.

Cowboys Defeat Chillicothe 56-38; Open City League With North Friday

By Dave Miller

The West Cowboy Basketballers ran roughshod over a rather weak Chillicothe five, 56 to 38, on the losers' hardwood, Friday evening.

The Alex Inas-coached Chillicothe quintet have yet to win in seven outings, as of now. They lost to Greenfield, Miamisburg, Portsmouth, Hillsboro, Circleville, North and West in that order. Our local cagers have bagged five wins and have a lone setback at the hands of Bexley. They beat Newark, Grandview, Fostoria, Aquinas and Chillicothe.

West Coach George Williams pulled a surprise in the starting lineup by using Charlie Frasher instead of the star guard, Dick Culbertson. However, Charlie gave Chillicothe a hard-way-to-go by bagging five points in very quick fashion in the first quarter and sank a goal in the second quarter and some very tough luck on some tricky shots kept him from getting more than just the seven markers.

The host five got off to a flashy start when Dick Long, Chillicothe center and all-round athlete, tipped in a rebound of Tennett Hoey's missed free toss. Charlie Weeks of the local forces bagged a free throw but Hoey equalled it with another free throw, making it 3-1. However, Weeks sank a beautiful hook to knot the count. Little Jim Burnstine, Chillicothe guard, was successful on a drive-in lay up to put the host ahead again.

Frasher then started his deadeye shooting, sinking a mid-court shot. Paul Theisen's free throw put the ultimate winners ahead for the first time in the game. Hoey's field goal and Jim Vernia's free throw put the Raiders back into the big side of the score, 8-6. However, Frasher, Weeks and Theisen then combined to give the Cowboys an 11-8 first stanza lead.

The Cowboys took a commanding lead early in the second period of 18-8 when Frasher, Thrush and Weeks all hit on the nets from the floor and Weeks sank a free toss.

The Raiders scored three to make it 16-11 and then Theisen sank another free throw while Weeks was cashing in two. Dick Culbertson sank one of the most beautiful hooks ever seen in a basketball encounter to put the Cowboys ahead, 24-15, late in the second quarter. Billy Cousins, Chillicothe substitute guard, then made good on a field goal just as the half ended, to make the score 24-17.

Coach Williams didn't give his boys a long talk at the half. He merely said that they knew their mistakes and to get out there and play much harder than they did in the first two stanzas.

The Cowboys showed their noted third quarter offensive spurts by pouring through 21 points. The Cowboys this year have scored 92 markers in their six third quarters.

Led by Culbertson and Theisen, who bagged eight and nine points respectively, the Cowboys showed the host Chillicothe basketballers a tight defense and a very strong offense. While bagging their 21 points in this quarter, the host quintet could only collect a duo of field goals and the same number of free throws.

In the fourth quarter, which started with the visitors out in front, 45 to 23, the Cowboys were outscored by their opposition, 15-11, mainly due to the fact that Coach Williams sent in his second stringers midway in the quarter.

Weeks and Theisen, assisted by Jim Rudolph's goal, managed to give the visitors a hefty 52-29 lead. Culbertson then sank another longie to put the Cowboys ahead, 54-29, when the second stringers came in.

The Chillicothe first stringers then started to dent the scorebook. Cousins sank two straight buckets and Hoey sank a duo of free throws and Summers made good on a free toss. Fred Adams, previous to this scoring, had sunk a bucket to give the West Siders a commanding 56-29 lead.

Top scorer of the game was again Paul Theisen, who still leads the West quintet in scoring with 62 points and has played just 13 quarters in the West tilts this season. Dick Culbertson of the Cowboys was second with 12 markers and Charlie Weeks and Vannett Hoey, the latter from Chillicothe, tied for third, both with 11 markers.

The Cowboys' next game will be a City League tilt with the North Polar Bears, who have won two tilts and lost three this season. They beat Grandview and Chillicothe while losing to Lancaster, South and St. Charles. Coach Carrol Woodruff of the Polar Bears will probably start Bob Blanchard and Zack Willson at the forwards; Dick Hyatt at center; and Captain Tommy Thomas and Dick Zepp at guards. Hyatt is top scorer with 66 points. His biggest night was against St. Charles, when he bagged 21 points. Blanchard has 62; Willson, 27; Thomas, 24; Zepp, 16.

Next Tuesday the Cowboys will visit Linden McKinley to encounter a tough Linden McKinley five, Coach Johnny Rawn of the Panthers will probably start (number of points in parthensis): Paul Zugschwart (53) and Johnny Hayes (84) at the forwards; Bob Webb (96) at center; and Bob Parker (34) and Don Wickiser (68) at the guards.

The Panthers have won five and lost three (not including Tuesday's game with Bexley). They beat Upper Arlington, Grandview, Rosary, Zanesville and Marietta, while bowing to their alumni, Central and St. Charles.

Student Teacher Gets Brown Bid

Dave Templeton, former Ohio State football captain, and student teacher under direction of Coach George Williams, at West High School, last year, joined the fourth edition of the Cleveland Browns, last week.

The 215 pound Ohio State guard was drafted by the Browns last year, but returned to Ohio State in the fall to finish out his collegiate eligibility and to fill his captaincy berth.

After a few years of pro ball, Templeton expects to go into coaching. He received his degree in physical education in December.

Looking Ahead with JEAN WORREL

Jean Worrel

Are you worried about living too long—or not long enough? Many people are worried about one or the other. Some even about both.

Yes—the fear of outliving life savings after advancing age has forced them into retirement is common to many elderly people. And the fear of what will happen to wife and family should death occur before sufficient money has been saved, gravely concerns many thoughtful young men.

Both of these fears can be removed forever by carefully planned life assurance. Planned life assurance brings peace-of-mind in youth and old age. It is a blessing throughout life. You cannot afford to be without it.

BIBLE COMMENT
FOR JAN. 9

The Four Gospels Are Original Source Of Life of Jesus

OUR knowledge of Jesus is limited insofar as many details are concerned, but it is exact and adequate in all that is essential.

What the four Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John have given to the world is the pen portrait and story of a Saviour. The Gospel writers were not concerned with the thousand and one details that enter into ordinary biographies. Such detail often appeals more to idle curiosity.

The Gospels at times and in places seem bare in relation to matters with which our passing fancy might be concerned—how Jesus looked, what He wore, what were His daily habits. But that very bareness brings out so vividly and clearly the Master as the disciples knew Him, as they were led to exclaim, "My Lord, and my God," that we may well believe that God's providence was in the provision that our knowledge of Jesus was not to be through massive volumes but through the simple, vivid pages of Gospels that we can read within the space of a few hours.

One cannot too strongly stress this fact. It is no disparagement of preachers, teachers, or of commentators like myself, to say that he who would know Jesus must go first of all to the original sources in the four Gospels. Nothing can compensate for lack of knowledge of the Gospel pages. Nor is it sufficient to know only one of the four, for each in its way adds something to the story that would otherwise have been lacking.

Simplest, and most direct, is the Gospel of Mark. Here is the story of Jesus in its most concentrated form.

But if we had only the Gospel of Mark, we should lack the glory of what has given to the world its blessed Christmases. There would be no word about the mother and the babe, no picture of devout souls longingly awaiting the coming of a Messiah, and finding Him, or of Wise Men and shepherds, hailing in a new-born babe a future King and Saviour.

So, we must read the Gospels, again and again, and we must read all of them.

Hilltonia Church Moves Worship Site

Sunday, members of the Hilltonia Evangelical United Brethren Church will hold their last public worship service in the small brick edifice at 522 Columbian-av, which has served as a worship sanctuary for the past 22 years. The auditorium in the new stone structure at 514 Columbian-av will be ready for worship services in a few days. On Jan. 18, the opening service will be held in the new auditorium.

Lutheran Children To Meet Jan. 8

Children of the Hilltop Lutheran Church will meet Jan. 8, from 2 to 4 p. m. for an afternoon of entertainment.

New handwork will be started and movies of Japan will be shown. Junior boys are requested to bring their guest books to be finished.

West Graduate Starts Law Practice

Hylas A. Hilliard, son of Mrs. Mona C. Hilliard, 2405½ W. Broad-st, and a 1936 graduate of West High School, will establish himself in the general practice of law at 83 S. High-st, next week when his service as an assistant attorney general of Ohio terminates.

He has been with the attorney general since his graduation from Ohio State University College of Law last June. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Ohio State in 1940, then served 61 months in World War II, 30 months of which were in the South Pacific.

He spent the last year of his army service with the Manhattan District Atomic Energy Project at Oak Ridge, Tenn. He and his family reside at Worthington. His mother is manager of the Nest House Coffee Shop.

Sermon On the Mount To Be Featured

A unique feature of the morning worship service next Sunday morning at 10:30 at the Westgate Methodist Church will be the reading of the Sermon on the Mount. Rev. Norman Schreiber announces that this reading will take the place of the regular sermon and that it will be read without comment. It will be read from the Gospel of Matthew from the King James version of the Bible.

While acknowledging the Sermon on the Mount to be the heart of our faith, few have ever read it all, or heard it read at one sitting. This service is designed to give the worshippers the meaning of the Sermon on the Mount as a complete unit.

Hilltop Little Theater To Present Unique Play

Local dramatic fans have a treat in store when the Hilltop Little Theatre players present "Night of January 16th" in the Burroughs School Auditorium on Sunday evening, Jan. 16, the same date as the title of the play. The play is unique in that the audience takes an integral part in its development and conclusion. With an attractive and talented young actress, Charlotte Alexander, who has leading role, on trial, the jury selected from the audience is given the problem of deciding her guilt or innocence.

As they get their seats at the box office, patrons may leave their names as candidates for jury duty. On the evening of the performance these names are given to the clerk of the court, who places them in a drum, and the twelve that are drawn by lot are selected to serve. The clerk addresses the audience and explains that twelve of them will be called upon to come up on the stage and decide upon the verdict. The jurors will take their places in a regular jury box, be sworn in, and listen to the testimony as in a legitimate court trial. Both men and women will be eligible. Each juror will be refunded the amount of his admission.

Between the acts the jurors are led off the stage to a small deliberation room. Just before the end of the third act the jury retires for the last time to render a verdict. They vote after a short discussion, and although legally a unanimous decision is required for a verdict, for the sake of dramatic brevity a majority vote is taken as decisive for this trial.

When "Night of January 16th" was first presented in New York it was feared that this innovation might not prove popular. Women guests might not like to have their escorts leave them to sit in the jury box, and patrons might prefer to watch the play from the auditorium rather than the stage. But such fears proved groundless. Not only would the public serve on the jury gladly, it was pulling wires to get the chance. Each performance averaged a hundred candidates. And at no time was there a clown in the jury box to spoil the performance. The chief problem was their restlessness. The jurors liked to stroll about the lobby between the acts, but of course that could not be permitted, since jurors must be strictly removed from any possibility of influence or pressure brought to bear upon their decision. Also in this case, they must be on hand for the rising of the curtain.

A tabulation of the verdicts given during the Broadway run of the play shows that acquittals outnumbered convictions three to one, and the evidence is so evenly balanced that on only two occasions were there unanimous verdicts. The production is under the direction of Jack Perdew.

Teacher Finds Old Record Story

By Myron T. Seifert

Arthur Buchanan, 145 N. Chase-av, West High social science teacher in rummaging through his effects recently "unearthed" fragments from an early day Hilltop Record setting forth a description of the first schools in Columbus.

The clipping Mr. Buchanan salvaged, read:

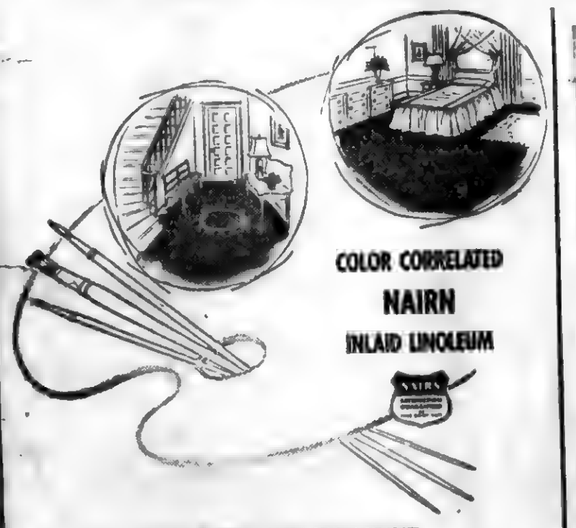
February 14, 1812, the Ohio Legislature, meeting in Zanesville, then the capital of the state, voted to move the seat of government to the east bank of the Scioto River, directly opposite the little village of Franklinton, and to call the new town Columbus. Dublin and Worthington, both small villages in those days, were serious contenders for this honor of becoming the capital city.

After the location of the capital at Columbus, educational interest spread from the town of Franklinton eastward across the river. The first community school was established in the log Presbyterian church on Spring-st in 1814. William T. Martin, the first historian of Columbus, conducted a school in 1816-1817 in a log house on E. Town-st, just east of High-st. Joseph Olds, later a prominent lawyer, taught school in a building on Broad-st, on the present site of the Chamber of Commerce. There were many other schools conducted during the next few years, some for girls and some for boys. All were subscription schools which were supported by the parents of the pupils who could afford to pay a small sum for each child. They were all held in churches or rooms rented for the purpose. The subjects taught, in the main, were reading, writing and arithmetic.

The first school building in Columbus was built in 1820, when Lucas Sullivant and about 20 others organized a school company and built, near the site of the Central Presbyterian church, on Third-st below State-st, what was known as the Columbus Academy. Its furniture was of the primitive style. The desks were built around the room where scholars could conveniently sit with their backs to the teacher, "looking out of the windows or using their pocket knives upon the smooth surface of the desk." When built, this building stood away out in the commons "among the pawpaw bushes with only three other houses in the vicinity."

This school was of the subscription type, too, the teachers paying for the use of the building only what would keep it in repair.

MRS. JANE HADDEN WILCOX of Miami, Fla., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hadden, 349 Nashoba-av.



MRS. LUCILLE O'KANE, daughter of Mrs. J. B. Lowry, 383 Midland-av, arrived last week from California for an extended visit. While here she visited her sister, Mrs. Donald Allis, 841 W. Mound-st, whom she hadn't seen for 11 years.

What Is This Thing Called Community Spirit?

We'd like to call your attention to the first in a series of advertisements being sponsored by local business firms, contained on pages six and seven of the Monthly Feature Supplement in today's Record.

It has to do with seeking an answer to this thing called "community spirit."

It has long been recognized that no Columbus community and few if any throughout the country can excel the Hilltop in community spirit. Old timers who once lived here recall this spirit with a pleasure and admit they would like to be back, once they have moved away from the Hilltop.

We believe, as the ad states, that community spirit heads up in the individuals who do things for the community. Outstanding in this respect are the owners and managers of local individual business firms.

When any worthwhile movement needs the backing of a local group, or when action for civic betterment is necessary, it generally is true that some person who has an investment in a business on the Hilltop is most active to bring this improvement about.

Such community support deserves recognition. Ask yourself the question: How can I be a part of this community spirit?

One of the easiest ways is to patronize the individual business firms that make up the community. Practically all your needs can be had in local firms.

Give it some serious thought and resolve in 1949 to "Help yourself to a better Hilltop by patronizing your local individual business firms."

CORRECTION

The story which appeared in the Jan. 6 issue of The Hilltop Record has been corrected to read Hilltop Riding Academy added to Ray's Bicycle Shop business. It is pointed out that the addition of the stables and barn was a lease and not a purchase.

The Hilltop Garage-Sales Service, 2370 Sullivant-av, is announcing its recent incorporation with H. N. Kursey named as president.

Aid To Ritthem To Be Continued

Government of the Netherlands has been criticized recently for alleged agressive actions in Indonesia. Some newspaper reports have painted a grim picture of supposed fascist dealings in this area.

Until now the Dutch side of the case has not been amply presented. Mrs. J. G. Bowser, secretary of the Hilltop committee for aid to Ritthem, Holland, received a letter from the Consulate General's office, Rockefeller Plaza, New York. Enclosed was an interesting letter from the Consul General, Dr. William Koopmans, giving a detailed explanation of Dutch action in the Indonesian area.

Dr. Koopmans wrote, "I think the news you have been reading and the radio commentators you have heard have embarrassed you more or less, especially as I know you are a friend of the Netherlands."

He asks "If you were building up the United States of America and all the states except one agreed to this federation and this one state insisted in the agreement that it be permitted to maintain its own army (erected by Japanese and largely under communist influence, what would you do?"

The Dutch answer to this question was to end all possible threat of communistic influence by bringing all the free states of the Indonesian archipelago under Dutch rule.

Residents of destitute Ritthem, Dutch village which stood under water for several months after being flooded to drive Germans out, will continue to be aided by Hilltoppers, Mrs. Bowser reported. Ritthem, like other Dutch towns, is still in desperate needs.

Plans Being Laid For Hilltop Relays

West High thin-clads will compete for honors in the Hilltop Relays to be held May 10 at Magly Field, Coach Rufus C. Glass announced this week.

Plans are being laid now to accommodate participants and visitors at the field.

Last year 2500 spectators saw a spirited West High team edged out, through disqualification, in the final event by the victor, Columbus Central.

West won the race but was disqualified for a rules infraction. This disqualification gave the mile relay title to Central along with the meet.

Coach Glass is lending every effort to see that this spring's cinder competition will top any previous Hilltop Relay.

Democrats Greet — Lausche Eats — Waitress Weak!

By Myron T. Seifert

Gov. Frank Lausche knows a good thing when he sees it—and eats it.

It's former Hilltopper Tom Zelkoff's food, prepared and served at his well-known Tom Thumb restaurant, 23 N. Third-st.

While his fellow Democrats spent Sunday night staging mass reunions and rehearsing their yells up and down High-st, and in hotel lobbies, Governor-elect Lausche was leading a subdued life.

He was closeted with James W. Shocknessy, prominent Columbus Democratic leader, in the latter's Athletic Club apartment. Around 10 p. m., dinnertime, the two ate in "short order".

The man who became Ohio's governor took his meal at the Tom Thumb Restaurant, 23 N. Third-st. The menu? Steak plate special. Damages for two? $2.27.

Mrs. Georgia Thomas, who waited on them, was excited enough to drop a whole tray of dishes.

"Had hot chocolate all over me, the other girl and everything," she said.

Tom has lived on the Hilltop for a number of years but recently moved to Arlington.

He established the well-known Broad-Hague restaurant on the Hilltop where good food became well known.

Tom has built his reputation on serving only quality food, prepared by experienced, competent cooks—and in an atmosphere without a liquor aroma.

West Alumni Group Plan Senior Reception and Dance

By Myron T. Seifert

West High's rejuvenated alumni association is riding high these days—and much credit is due to prexy Bill Woolson, 211 N. Terrace-av, and his corps of cooperative officers, including Jack Snyder, 602 Hanford-st, and Joan Heischman, 821 S. Harris-av.

Meetings are held bi-monthly. Latest plans of the alumni association include a joint alumni-senior reception, sponsored by the association in honor of the January, 1949, seniors. The event is scheduled for Jan. 22 from 9 to 12 p. m. Ilee Hart and his Heart Beats, an Ohio State University band, will provide music for the dance. A special floor show will highlight the program.

Alumni membership ducat will admit alumni members and one friend. Graduating seniors may bring one guest each. Tickets at 75c each will be on sale at the door for other guests.

"The affair will have a dual purpose," Prexy Woolson said. "It is a splendid overture to interest the new graduates in alumni work, and secondly, it will provide a medium for alumni to renew acquaintances of former years."

Woolson is doing a creditable job, carrying on the work of George Hardy, erstwhile president of the association, who gave his time unstintingly throughout the years serving the West High Alumni Association.

Woolson graduated in the class of June, 1947. He is now enrolled in the Arts College at Ohio State, where he is majoring in radio speech. His aim is to be a radio announcer, or a salesman in radio advertising.

He also works part-time with the Thomas Engineering and Surveying Co. on the Hilltop. His present hobbies include photography and basketball.

A member of the Strollers' Society at Ohio State, Bill is interested in the theatrical world.

Mary Howell, chairman, 107 S. Ogden-av; Beverly Ehlers, 510 Wiltshire; Ginny Woolson, 211 N. Terrace-av; Ruth Hoelcher, 150 S. Westgate-av; Tom Beckett, 458 S. Huron-av; Joan Lauer, 84 S. Westgate-av; Bob Baas, 367 Binns-blvd; Rose Columbo, 2730 Grace; and Edith Wilkins, 89 Eldon-av.

Membership commission includes Harriet Logan, chairman, 107 S. Ogden-av; Jim Snyder, 4655 W. Broad-st; Jim Gardener, 318 S. Richardson-av; and Paul Rickets, 99 S. Brinker-av.

Former West Man To Get Diploma At Evening School

By Myron T. Seifert

A West High school boy, Mansel Foster, who withdrew from school in his sophomore class more than a score of years ago, will finally receive his diploma at Central Evening High School, Monday, Jan. 24.

Twenty-two years have elapsed since Foster, then a boy of 18, left the Hilltop school to accept a position with the City National Bank, back in depression days in 1926.

Foster, two years ago, decided that it would be to his advantage to finish his high school education and Evening High School is making this possible.

Mrs. Foster, also an employee of the City National Bank, has enrolled for a shorthand course. A graduate of Canal Winchester High School, Mrs. Foster was valedictorian in her class, and is a member of the Franklin County Honor Society.

Daughter of a late Columbus school teacher, John S. Talbott, she is inherently interested in the cause of education. She has two years of college already to her credit.

The Mansel Fosters have two children, 13 and 16, both honor students. Diana, 13, attends Indianola and Marilyn, 16, North High.

Mansel plans a law course following high school graduation.

Cyclist Hits Man, Calls Doctor, Skips

When is a good deed not a good deed? Samuel McKain, 53, 175 S. Huron-av, would like to know the name of the Boy Scout who graciously called a physician for him, after McKain was knocked down by a bicyclist Tuesday night.

The accident occurred at S. Richardson-av and W. Broad-st, and McKain suffered a gashed eye and possible fractures. The Boy Scout ran to a nearby doctor's office and summoned aid, then left without leaving his name.

But the Boy Scout who so heroically called for aid was also the unidentified bicyclist, according to McKain.

The following is an excerpt from an original poem, which expresses the happy couple's sentiments on this anniversary:

The mantle clock chimed half-three
The day was growing old
You drew your cushioned chair near mine
Beside the sparks of gold.
And thus we dreamed of youthful days
The precious golden past.
Tho' life's golden hours are shadowed
And we meet old age at last.
Looking homeward our peace is fixed in Him
And when with trials we are done
We hope to meet where old age is not known.
Beyond life's setting sun.

"EASY DOES IT"

By HELEN HALE

TO serve leftovers successfully, disguise them so completely that no one knows you are really using food left from one meal to the next.

Cooked beets are easily made into pickled beets with vinegar, to be served as a relish. Or, mix them with apples and use in a jellied salad.

Peas may be chilled and used with other vegetables for a salad. Another way to use them is to cream them with seafood to serve on biscuits or toast.

Brush sliced, boiled potatoes with salad oil and broil. If you cube cooked potatoes, they're delicious creamed; place them in a casserole, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bits of cooked bacon and place in oven to heat through.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Swedish Ham Balls
(Makes 16)

1 pound ground ham
1½ pounds ground pork
2 cups bread crumbs
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup milk
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup vinegar
½ cup water

Combine meats, crumbs, eggs and milk. Mix thoroughly and form into balls. Place in baking pan. Combine remaining ingredients and stir until sugar dissolves. Pour over meat balls. Bake in a slow (325° F.) oven for 1 hour, basting occasionally.

1 cup of dried fruit pulp, cooked, mixed with lemon juice to taste, 2 tablespoons of sugar and 2 stiffly beaten egg whites may be baked in a moderate oven for 26 minutes for a delectable fruit whip.

Leftover cake? Tear into small pieces, add some broken nut meats and chopped candied cherries to it. Fold all into whipped cream and serve chilled.

Cooked rice is the main ingredient of a refreshing dessert when combined with whipped cream, quartered marshmallows and crushed pineapple.

Spread thin slices of ham with mustard and place cooked or canned whole green beans or asparagus tips on each slice. Roll and fasten with a toothpick. Broil.

Shreds of lamb from the roast may be combined with peas and carrots for meat pies.

Big Profits

By LILLIAN E. ANDREWS

JOE MARSHALL was polishing up his showcase and trying to polish up his mental outlook at the same time.

"You needn't go around spreading gloom, if you are up against it," he admonished himself sternly. "Other folks have their troubles as well as you do. They don't want to listen to your croaking."

But the blues seemed to be something like a bad case of the measles. Once you got them, they had to run their course.

"I've done my best to build up a good business and treat my customers as I'd like to be treated," thought Joe. "And now it seems as if nobody really cares a hoot whether I fail or not. This corner is a fine place for a drug store but I've got to have more ready cash to keep going until I can work up a larger trade."

"I'm glad I didn't fail her," he told Pete.

Joe thought suddenly of his sweetheart, Milly Morris. He hadn't been quite right when he said "nobody cared a hoot" whether he failed or not, Milly cared. It was over a year since he had asked her to marry him. Milly's father owned two big drug stores, but Joe didn't want to ask him for help.

"If he was anybody but Milly's father, it would be different," reasoned Joe, "but I don't want Mr. Morris to think I'm just using Milly as an excuse to borrow from him. I want to stand on my own feet."

He gave the showcase a last energetic swipe. "Snap out of it," he told himself aloud. "If I fail, it will be an honest failure, anyhow."

A girl came in for some ice cream. She had barely finished it and gone when a small, black-eyed boy came in with a prescription.

"My moder got no money," he explained nervously. "She say she pay you when she get better and get some work."

Joe hesitated. He had filled so many such prescriptions that this one seemed the last straw. Then he saw the child's pallor and the beseeching look in his dark eyes.

"All right, sonny," he said. "I hope your mother gets well enough to go to work pretty soon."

He went to the soda fountain and prepared a milk shake. "Here, get outside of this while I'm filling the prescription," he ordered.

A dapper, young salesman entered, as the boy went out. "Hello, Joe!" he began. "How are you?"

"Same old stick in the mud," returned Joe. "Every time you blow in here, Pete Curry, you have a new suit."

"This one is tailor made," boasted Pete. "Just feel of that sleeve. Some cloth, eh? I wouldn't dare tell you what this suit cost. You might think I was extravagant."

Joe laughed with him but underneath his laughter there was a stinging sense of failure. His own old well-worn suit seemed shabbier than ever.

Pete opened his sample case with a flourish. "Got a new line, Joe," he announced, after showing his usual samples. "Take a look!"

Joe gave a start of surprise, as he looked at the brightly-labeled bottles. His face grew grim.

"Trash!" he declared bluntly. "Dangerous trash, too. Too much dope in that stuff. You know it as well as I do."

Pete grinned. "Sure I know it!" he agreed cockily. "But it sells like hot cakes. A lot of folks are going to buy it, anyway. You can make a big profit on it."

"I don't want that kind of profit," retorted Joe. "I'm not much of a preacher but I believe in keeping the Golden Rule. I can't keep it and sell that stuff."

"Pooh!" scoffed Pete. "The Golden Rule is out of date. Haven't you found it out yet?"

Joe shook his head. "I guess I'll keep on being old-fashioned," he answered.

Pete argued and wheedled. The gayly-labeled bottles were certainly attractive. One part of Joe's mind insisted on telling him that Pete was right about the "big profit" to be made from selling the stuff in the bottles. And he needn't keep selling it a great while. It would be just a temporary resort to help him get started. He straightened up suddenly. There was fire in his blue eyes. He was mad with himself and mad with Pete. It was so easy to be tempted. Too easy.

"You'd better get out of here, Pete Curry!" he advised. "And quick! I'll sell honest goods or none. I'm not going to be a crook even for a few months. Take that abominable stuff somewhere else."

Pete closed his sample case. "You're an imbecile," he told Joe flatly. "I'm afraid you'll always be one."

Then, to Joe's utter astonishment, Pete began to laugh.

"When is the wedding going to be, Joe?" he asked teasingly.

"Wh-what wedding?" stammered Joe, amazed at the sudden change in Pete's expression.

"Why, your wedding, of course!" said Pete. "You and Milly Morris have been engaged for a long time. Anyhow, that's what Milly says."

"Milly?" repeated Joe. "I—I don't understand."

"No, I guess you don't!" interrupted Pete. "Milly has been urging her dad to help you out until you had a little more trade, but Mr. Morris has always been just a little doubtful about you. He decided to give you a try-out. That's where I come in."

Comprehension dawned on Joe. "So Mr. Morris sent you down here to test me! Did Milly know about it?"

Pete chuckled. "She certainly did. She told her dad he could go the limit. She knew you were honest. You're a lucky boob, Joe, to have a girl love and trust you as Milly does."

There was a queer mist before Joe's eyes for a moment. "I'm glad I didn't fail her," he told Pete.

He looked again at his showcase and shelves. There would be no gaudy bottles of trash or treacherous dope displayed or sold in his store.

"Nothing but the best is good enough for Joe Marshall's customers," he thought. "Now or any other time."

Apples for Betty

By BETTY BARCLAY

Apples are here again in plenty—one of the happy signs of winter. Nippy frosts outdoors, cozy fires inside and juicy apples always seem to go hand in hand. It's a sure bet that no American desserts are more popular than those made with apples. To prove it, here's a simplified recipe for Apple Brown Betty that's tops in taste and texture—and unbeatable for frosty weather popularity.

Flaky Brown Betty

3 large apples pared, cored and thinly sliced
1 teaspoon lemon juice
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
¾ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1½ cups wheat flakes
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt

Arrange apples in greased baking dish and sprinkle with lemon juice. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream together thoroughly. Add wheat flakes, cinnamon, and salt, and mix well. Spread over apples. Bake, covered in moderate oven (350° F.) 30 minutes; then remove cover and continue baking 15 minutes longer, or until apples are tender. Serve plain or with cream. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

17 West Seniors Make Honor Roll

By Myron T. Seifert

Seventeen graduating seniors at West High School, merited the class honor roll, Principal I. F. Young said last week.

Seven received perfect "A" scores. They are: Dolores Brown, Martha Brown, Mary Bryant, Lea Eisner, Nellie Evans, Joan Frankel, and Joan Gulden.

Remaining 10 seniors making A and B grades in their final high school days include: Gene Mayhew, Arlene Maple, Joan Mason, Donna Spring, Corrine Taylor, Donna Thomas, Frances Wiseman, Ruth Ansley, Lucille Blades, and Ray Bostic.

Winter Workshop Scheduled AT YWCA

Workshop classes of special interests at the YWCA will include two millinery classes taught by Mrs. Albert Faudree, 508 Woodbury-av, during the winter term.

Mrs. Faudree has instructed numerous classes in hat making at the YWCA, and it is because of heavy demand for enrollment that two courses have been scheduled.

During the Jan. 17—March 10 series, millinery instruction will be offered at 6:45 and 8 p. m. each Tuesday.

Other Tuesday classes will be those in early American decoration of home furnishings at 10 a. m. under the direction of Mrs. Herschel Arant, and two bridge courses taught by Mrs. Bryan Smith. Instruction for beginners will be at 7 p. m., and for advanced players at 8:15.

A course in textile painting is scheduled for Wednesday at 7 p. m. under the direction of Elsie Yee, and one in antique refinishing at 7:30 p. m. taught by E. E. Rogers.

Thursday classes are those in leathercraft at 1 p. m. and clay modeling at 7 p. m. Mrs. Robert Magly is leathercraft instructor, and Mr. John Howald will teach the ceramics class.

Registration for any class may be made by calling AD. 9121.

JOE BRIGGS Says:
Many a man loses his hair through worrying—about losing his hair.
The most common wind loss is small—blown-off shingles, water damage and damage from fallen branches. That's what happened to over 100,000 homes when a blizzard swept through 28 states. The average loss was only $100, but enough to pay for Windstorm insurance for many years. Do YOU have adequate Windstorm insurance on your home? EXPLORERS - - SLEUTHS OF THE GLOBE

THE CONTINENTS, oceans and atmosphere, from the tropics north and south to the polar regions, yielded many secrets that added to man's knowledge of himself and his world in 1948.

Africa, teeming with explorers during the year, was the source of new material for the story of man's development. From the ageless bosom of the Dark Continent was taken the Swartkrans man, a nine-foot-tall fossil representing a race of men perhaps larger than the established Java giant.

Discoverer of the Swartkrans man, Dr. Robert Broom of Transvaal, led one unit of the big University of California African expedition. The expedition's studies ranged from a continent-wide navy medical survey of tropical diseases to a systematic recording of 600 tribal melodies.

PEARY
First Man at North Pole

Samples of its findings: Moses led the Exodus not across the Red Sea but across the brackish Reed Sea 10 miles south of where Port Said now stands; 3,500-year-old inscriptions found in the Sinai peninsula are the earliest known that employ an alphabet similar to ours.

Science ships of many nations plied to and from subpolar regions. U. S. navy and coast guard ships pioneered in far-north meteorological studies. They brought to light papers cached near the North pole in [redacted] by Admiral Robert Peary on the first of his [redacted] trips to the Arctic. He finally discovered the pole in 1909, the first man on the geographical roof of the world.

Another cold trip in 1948 was that of the year-long Ronne expedition which mapped 400,000 square miles of Antarctica. Incidental to the research accomplished was the fact that Mrs. Finn Ronne, wife of the leader of the group, accompanied her husband, thus becoming the first woman to spend a winter in the neighborhood of the South pole.

Stone-age Arnhem land in northern Australia surrendered data on the history and customs of its primitive aborigines, together with a wealth of fish, bird and [redacted] specimens. Many are rare or previously undescribed. U. S. and Australian scientists worked steadily from April to November under joint sponsorship of the National Geographical society, the Smithsonian Institution and the Australian department of information.

Dead Wrong

Buttons and Bows Replace Buckskin; Mrs. Briggs Recalls Hilltop Frontier

By Myrna T. Belfart

A family name, familiar to Hilltoppers is that of the Briggs tribe, who pioneered this section of the country when it was a vast and dense wilderness.

Twenty students from this remarkable family are graduates and former students of West High School and have added considerably to the development and growth of this and nearby communities.

Of the score of prolific Briggs' who are or have been identified with West High School and the Hilltop, a dozen are graduates of West, three are former students there, four, who married into the family, are also West alumni, and Dick Briggs, 34 S. Algonquin-av, son of Joe Briggs, a leading insurance man on the Hilltop, is a sophomore at West High.

Graduating from West High were Rose Briggs Ferguson, Robert Ferguson, William Ferguson, George Briggs, Sr., George Briggs, Jr., Jack Briggs, Lilly Briggs Downey, Louella Briggs Robinson, Dr. John Earl Briggs, Joseph M. Briggs, Sr., Kathryn Briggs Wasson and Arthur De Vennish.

Members attending West High, but not graduating, include Mary Lou De Vennish Swariz, Martha De Vennish Reddington and Joseph Briggs, Jr.

Those married into the Briggs family and also graduated from West High School: Ed Ferguson (married Rose Briggs), Sally Rowland Ferguson (married William Briggs), Edwin Miller (married Rebecca Briggs) and Beatrice Rains (married Claude Briggs).

The village on the 3C highway to the south, Briggsdale, was founded by the Briggs clan, one of whom still resides along the 3C highway hamlet.

A frequent visitor to the Hilltop and nearing the century mark in years, is agile Mrs. Joseph M. Briggs, Sr., christened Louisiana Ransburg at New Madrid, Mo., where she was born in 1849.

Named for her mother's native state of Louisiana, she recalls in Civil War days when the Yankees took her father prisoner, that for safety reasons she was sent to visit relatives in Columbus, not far distant from the Hilltop—a spot that was later to become her permanent home.

Her father brought her by steamboat to Cincinnati, thence by train to Columbus.

Originally her plans were to come to Columbus the year before, but Morgan's raid on Ohio interrupted this itinerary.

With her cousin, Louisiana attended Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, O., and roomed at Monett Hall dormitory, which at that time did not have doors on the rooms.

In the dormitory girls all wore linen collars and cuffs and washed them out themselves, a disgraceful thing to do, she thought, for she was used to having her colored Mammy do everything for her.

Her ancestry is German and is traceable to 1711. However, her grandmother, Hanna Murphy, brought a strand of Irish blood, when she married John Ransburg in 1803.

Mr. and Mrs. Ransburg had five children and migrated to Ohio from Maryland in 1809. Settling on the Scioto River a mile or two southwest of what is now Columbus.

Then there were no churches, schools, bridges and roads were almost impassable. Goods were imported from Philadelphia and the mail was brought in by horseback. The Indians, mostly Shawnee, Seneca, Wyandotte and Delaware, were hostile.

One large log building was used for public purposes during week and on Sunday for church. The first newspaper was the Western Intelligencer in 1811, published first in Worthington, later in Franklinton, later becoming the Columbus Gazette then the Ohio State Journal.

"This settlement was known as Wolf Ridge because of the number of the wolves nearby," Mrs. Briggs said.

Across the river at the junction of the Scioto and the Olentangy was Franklinton which had no more advantages there than afforded at Wolf Ridge, Franklinton was accessible only by boat.

Louisiana's father was born at Wolf Ridge. This village was so isolated that the family, dissatisfied, loaded all of their belongings on a flat boat, and floated down the river to New Madrid, Missouri. Her father became a river boat captain and on his journeys met Nancy Slaughter from Louisiana.

While Louisiana was visiting in Ohio, she met Captain Joseph Briggs, a bachelor and after quitting school at Ohio Wesleyan married him and settled down in this vicinity.

Joseph Briggs, one of the [redacted] stockholders in the [redacted] burg-pk, extending from Columbus to Harrisburg, and sons operated toll gates along the road.

John Briggs, her son, remembers when he would take his lunch and go by horseback to take his turn at the toll gate.

There was a great celebration in the community when Mr. Briggs turned over his stock (at considerable loss) to the county commissioners, so that the road would be free to all citizens.

The first railroad reaching Columbus, was the Columbus and Xenia, in 1844. A struggle followed, concerning where Union Station should be built. The extreme north end of High-st, its location today, was selected. A locomotive was shipped from Cincinnati by river and canal to assist in the track laying.

In 1822, the Columbus and Cincinnati Midland Railway Co. was incorporated. There was a request to put the railroad through Mr. Briggs' farm. The President, Mr. Peabody, made him an offer of $1000 or $2000 and construct a switch and station.

Mr. Briggs called his town Briggs, later changing it to Briggsdale.

With train service installed Mrr. Briggs would go aboard and travel to Columbus to shop. Lazarus Department store was just recently established. She was always met by the floorwalker and escorted around the store, he personally would help carry her packages. Mr. Lazarus too, always gave her personal attention.

In the spring of 1861, a mobilization camp was established, called Fort Jackson.

Later four miles west of Columbus, the Hilltop, a tract of land was rented and a new camp laid out called Camp Chase, in honor of Salmon P. Chase, Governor of Ohio at the time.

Here Confederate prisoners were brought. The camp was in an unhealthful state.

Colonel Knauss, first tried to improve conditions at Camp Chase but was ridiculed, and could get no assistance. "In 1879, the ground was bought by the government and the record of the names of the dead buried there was accidentally found in the Capitol Building," Mrs. Briggs said.

Columbus has changed much since those times, but today Granny keeps up to-date through her constant contact with her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, still getting the attention and love that she so richly deserves.

Hilltop Boys Winners In National Jingle Contest

Winners in a national jingle contest, two Hilltop boys last week took home their prizes, a portable radio and an Eastman camera. The boys were Philip Anderson, 751 S. Warren-av, and Don Rings, 293 Demorest-av.

Both boys entered the contest in November after buying shoes from Z. H. Kemp, manager of Mechem's Shoe Co., 3469 W. Broad-st, who presented them with the application. The boys were to fill in the last line of the jingle which read:

"In Skyriders he wears with delight
Johnny Jones is always dressed right
As a rule he wears them to school."

Philip Anderson's winning last line was "Full of pride at his mother's foresight." Don Rings said he couldn't remember what his winning line was, but he was awarded a portable radio for it.

Contestants from 48 states entered the Skyrider shoe contest and a total of 103 prizes was given. "The boys were tickled pink when I told them they won," said Mr. Kemp, who received the prizes and notice in his office and then informed the boys.

Nine prizes were awarded in the national contest in Ohio. Mechem's Shoe Co. is the only store in the United States which boasts of two prizes.

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

BREAKING BAD HABITS

AT FOUR years of age, little Linda Riegler, 122 Melton Street, Texarkana, Tex., was faithfully adhering to a habit that her parents had tried desperately to break—sucking her thumb.

D. Carnegie

The habit had become so tenacious that she would not play with other children but would stand on the sidelines watching them as she sucked that thumb.

Her parents tried various methods of breaking her, using practically every suggestion their friends made, and all they read in books and magazines. But, no. Persistence was strong in little Linda. They told her she would ruin her mouth, that she would not grow up to be a pretty girl. Naturally Linda didn't grasp the point of view of adults; she didn't care whether or not in that distant future she would be pretty or homely.

There was one ambition held by her, however: she wanted to be a cow-girl. Her parents bought her a pair of boots, because, as she knew, cow-girls wore boots. "You are now a cow-girl," they told her, "and you are not a baby any longer. Cow-girls can't suck their thumbs since they have to hold the reins of the horse."

That simple little thing turned the trick. When Linda's thumb traveled in the direction of her mouth, it was quickly jerked back. Soon she no longer put it anywhere near her mouth.

My friend Boyden Sparkes had a little daughter who also had the habit of sucking her thumb—until she was quite a big little girl. They, too, tried many methods of breaking her; none worked. Then one day Boyden took her to the zoo where she saw the hippopotamus. "What's the matter with his mouth?" asked the little girl. "He sucked his thumb," said her father. And that tumb-sucking habit was gone forever!

West Defeats Linden 69-45

By Dave Miller

West High's cagers outscored a stubborn and tough Linden McKinley five Tuesday evening on the Panther court to the tune of 69 to 45, and convincingly went into the undisputed first place lead in the current city league battle.

The ultimate winners were behind for the first nine seconds of play of the first period. After Johnny Hayes, lanky Linden forward dropped in a push-up, Charlie Weeks of the locals and Phil Young, Cowboy front court man, connected for a free throw and a field goal respectively to give West a lead they never lost. However, Bob Webb, towering Panther pivot man, who was closely held in check throughout the entire game by tight defensive play of Weeks, hit on a free throw to tie up the contest at 3-all.

The first period, ended with the local cagers holding only a 13-11 first period margin.

The Cowboys started scoring early in the second period and rang up 10 points before the streak ended with Johnny Hayes' free toss. Weeks hit for four goals in this period while teammate Theisen hit for six points. At half-time, the Cowboys held a 31 to 22 lead over the host Panthers.

The fireworks started to bang away and before 22 seconds had elapsed in the third quarter both teams had scored two baskets. Charlie Frasher and Paul Theisen hit for West's early tallies. Bob Parker and Don Wickiser made good for a couple of goals for Linden McKinley.

Theisen hit on two straight goals and Weeks and Young hit for West to give the Cowboys a lead of 49 to 29 at the end of the third period, a quarter in which West totaled 18 points.

It was just about the same story in the fourth and final period for the Cowboys. Culbertson hit on two straight buckets, Theisen and Weeks made good on goals to give West an early 57-34 lead in the fourth period. With the score in the Cowboys' favor, 64-39, Coach George Williams of the Cowboys sent in a team of Rudolph and Young at forwards; Culbertson at center and Frasher and Thrush at the guards.

Top scorer was John Hayes of Linden with 21 markers, the second straight game in which he assumed this total. Paul Theisen, brilliant West center, very close to Hayes with 20 and big Charlie Weeks of West had 19. Phil Young had 11 and Dick Culbertson, 10. Both played great games, Bob Webb, Linden McKinley, high scorer, was held to a mere eight markers.

The reserve fray went to West by a score of 27 to 23. It was the local reserves' third win in as many starts in the league. They, like the varsity, are yet to lose in three outings. Frank Carson, Bronco center, was high man with 13, followed by Bob Woodring, Linden forward, who collected 10.

The Cowboys will play host to a tough Central 11 this Friday night on the West court. The Pirates will be out for revenge of that upset loss to South Tuesday evening. They beat Linden, 54-44 in their only other league game.

Instructor To Address Hi-Y

By Myron T. Seifert

Sam Selby of the Ohio State University football staff, and formerly identified with the Hi-Y in his high school days, will be guest speaker at a West Hi-Y banquet to be held at the Hilltop school, Thursday, Jan. 20, Wayne House, Cyrus Sedgewick, faculty advisers of the local chapters, said this week.

Dad's of members of the West Hi-Y will be guests.

High-light of the evening program will be a first hand action movie of the recent Ohio-Michigan tilt, shown by Selby, with his own explanations of the game.

Sam will also tell the boys about Ohio State football as he sees it.

A thumb nail sketch of Selby shows that he played football for Middletown High School for three years, was a member of the varsity team at Ohio State, three years, and rated as all conference guard for Ohio State in 1929 and 1930. He was coach and athletic director at Wyoming High School, near Cincinnati, for eight years; served as director of athletics at Otterbein College, Westerville, for three years, and made member of Ohio State staff in 1945, where he is now assistant football coach.

Barrett Victor In Jr. High Fray

By Dave Miller

A fast-break type offensive and a zone defense with two men pressing was just too much for the West Junior High basketeers as they dropped a 41-23 decision to a tough Barrett quintet on the latter's court Tuesday afternoon.

The Chuck Koterba-coached Southenders were never behind in the fray while West Junior, from the very beginning, fought uphill battle all the way. Dale Fridley, Barrett forward, sunk two free tosses and a goal before West Junior seemed to open their eyes.

The Barrett squad were ahead, 9-0, before West scored with a free throw by Jim McGuire. Bill Wirtz of Barrett sunk two straight goals to give Barrett a commanding 13-1 lead before Jerry Johnson of the losers sank a duo of free throws, making the score at the first quarter's end 13-3.

Jim McGuire of the locals was a spark in West's attack in the second quarter. He rang up a total of six points making the score at half-time 19-8.

Both teams scored seven tallies in the third stanza, ending the quarter with a substantial lead of 26-15 for the Barrett cagers.

Fireworks started in the last quarter and the game ended more like a football affair with both teams engaging their second and third teams.

Top scorer was a tie between Bob Scurlock of Barrett and Jerry Johnson of West. Both scored 10 points. Scurlock managed four goals and two free throws. While Johnson racked in three goals and a quartet of free tosses. Jerry Trabue, West Junior individual leading scorer was only able to connect for three points. The Broncos took 46 shots and made only seven, while the winners made good on 15 out of 49.

The local courters' next game will be against Linden McKinley Junior on the Linden court this Friday afternoon.

Senior Officers At West High Plan Activities

Elected by classmates as leaders in the June '49 senior class, officers at West High have begun to lay plans for activities.

Problems include underwriting a yearbook, choice of photography to be used in the book, payment of class dues, class project, social activities, selection of class jewelry, commercial invitations, a reappraisal of credits to guarantee graduation, and consideration of plans following graduation. George F. Neeb is adviser for the group.

Thumb-nail sketches of the leaders of the senior class follow:

Vic Lehmkuhl, 3044 Fremont-al, 17, likes "alley-ball", swimming, ping-pong and all outdoor sports. He belongs to the Hi-Y. His favorite foods are chicken and spaghetti, and favorite song is "Peg O' My Heart" by the "Three Suns". To fill up his spare time and make extra money, Vic works part-time at Fezzy's on W Broad.

Bill Clarkin, 53 N. Chase-av, 17, enjoys listening to the music of Tommy Dorsey and eating steak and sweet potatoes. He is an "alley-ball" enthusiast, but all outdoor sports suit him fine. He is a member of the Hi-Y and Triangle Clubs and plans a future in the engineering field.

Marilyn Hoelcher, 150 S. Westgate-av, 17, likes all kinds of sports, eating, sleeping and cheerleading. In the foot line it's Italian spaghetti, or mashed potatoes and liver and onions. She has a

Determined Cowboy Cagers Come From Behind To Defeat North High Polar Bears 52 — 40

Uphill Battle Ends In Victory For West Here Friday

By Dave Miller

A determined and never-say-die West High cage quintet walked off the West court last Friday night with a well deserved 52 to 40 victory over a stubborn North five.

The Cowboys never were in the ball game in the first half of play, but pulled a beautiful uphill battle in the third period and finally emerged into the lead, and held onto it for the remainder of the bitterly-fought cage affair.

The Cowboys were again led by their two high scoring aces, Chuck Weeks and Paul Theisen, but the game can't forget Phil Young, West steller forward who is fighting it out with Jim Rudolph for a first string berth. Young was the boy who scored the basket that put the ultimate winners into the lead for keeps, 30 seconds from the end of the third quarter.

The Polar Bears showed superior offensive strength throughout the first half. They scored three straight buckets early in the game before the Cowboys could finally dent the scorebook on Theisen's hook. Young's push up gave the visitors only a one-bucket difference, but Paul Jones and Bob Blanchard quickly followed with goals and Dick Culbertson of the locals sank a free toss to give North a 10-5 first period margin.

Jones of the Polar Bears made good on a side shot but Theisen and Weeks got together for five points to shorten North's lead to 12-10. However, Jim Widdoes, son of the OSU assistant football coach, sank a drive-in, lay-up and Tommy Thomas, North captain and junior guard, made good on a longie to give North a 16-10 lead. Weeks sank two straight free throws while Thomas and Dick Hyatt were getting six points. Theisen made good on a free throw, Frasher made a long one, and Weeks sank a free throw. Thomas' goal just as the second quarter ended made the halftime score in the ultimate losers' favor, 24-16.

Now it was time for a spot in all the West High games that all West opponent coaches should dread as much as any other part of the fray. Coming in about 10 minutes would be the start of the third quarter, a period in which the Cowboys have scored 103 points in seven tries. Their highest third period total was 21 against Chillicothe last Thursday. Their lowest was against a tough Bexley five when they were able to get only four. In other third period tries they got 14 against Newark, 12 against Grandview, 15 at Fostoria, 19 against Aquinas, and in the North fray they bagged 18.

Coach George Williams' half-time talks, of course, have a lot to do with the point total in the third period.

In the Cowboys' third period, they made nine markers before North could finally score. Culbertson, Weeks and Theisen made goals and Culbertson scored on a free throw. With the locals still trailing, 24-23, Young made good on a side shot and West went into the lead for the first time in the game. Thomas sank two straight goals and Hyatt made one to put North ahead again, 30-25. Theisen's hook and free throw, along with Culbertson's mid-court shot, managed to knot the score.

Young then played the hero's role by following up a push shot and putting it in, to place the Cowboys in the lead, which they never again lost. Theisen sank a hook and Hyatt made good on a bunny to put West into a 34-32 lead at the third quarter's finish.

The Cowboys just merely "sewed" up the game in the final quarter. Culbertson and Theisen scored three points and Blanchard hit a push up to give West a 37-34 lead.

The scoring went along with regularity until about five minutes were left in the game. Theisen, Weeks and Frasher together scored eight points and the Cowboys were at their prime with a 50-37 score. Hyatt and Thomas collected three markers and Bill Thrush got three points in a hurry to make the final score in the locals' favor, 53-40.

Paul Theisen collected 18 points to take the City League leadership with 38 points in two frays. In 17 quarters for West this year he has 60 markers. Charlie Weeks was second with 13; Tommy Thomas of North had 10; and teammate Dick Hyatt got 10.

The reserve game was a real thriller with the Fred Heischman-coached Broncos walking off with a 34-33 victory in an overtime. Paul Ellingsworth knotted the score up with three seconds to go with a long one-hander at 29-all. In the overtime, Don Forsyth and Larry Miller of North got two quick baskets midway in the period and it looked hopeless for the Hilltoppers. However, Ellingsworth sank a free throw and later made good on a left-hook. North was ahead, 33-32, with seven seconds remaining. The Polar Bear seconds then started to stall and an over-and back penalty gave West the ball. Dave Caton then shot a longie but he missed. However, he followed in his own shot with a two-hand bat-in to win the game.

Caton was top scorer with 16 points while Ellingsworth of West and Forsyth of North collected 11 apiece.

West Jr. High Takes 27-25 Win Friday

By Dave Miller

Led by the alert and timely shooting of their stellar forward, Jerry Trabue, West Junior's cage quintet handed the Indianola Indians a 27 to 25 loss on the West court last Friday afternoon.

Trabue made good on a beautiful jump-push shot with 35 seconds remaining in the game, to break up a 25-all tie and win the game.

It was a very close game throughout with neither team holding more than a five-point lead at any time of the bitterly-fought battle.

Trabue scored all six points for West Junior in the first quarter while Dick Masters, Indianola star forward, racked through a duo of goals and Don Hadden connected for a drive-in layup shot for Indianola's scoring in the opening period. The score was knotted, six-all, at the first period's end.

Kenny Anderson sank a goal and Dick Hutchison duplicated the feat early in the second period to give the local Broncos a 10-6 lead. However, Hadden made good on a beautiful long shot to melt the lead somewhat. West Junior forward, Jim McGuire, sank a free throw, but Masters of Indianola made good on a side push shot. Jerry Johnson, West captain, sank a free throw to end the half-time in the Broncos' favor, 12-10.

Johnson, just after the second half started, sank a drive in hook and made another free toss while Masters of Indianola was sinking two straight hooks, to make the score 15-14. Jim Hartley, Indian center, sank two straight charity tosses to give Indianola its first lead of the game, 16-15. West Junior lost the ball on a bad shot and Hartley again came through in the clutch to put Indianola ahead, 18-15, on a bunny shot.

West Junior wouldn't give in, however; they kept fighting right up to the end of the third period. Jerry Johnson sank a long shot and Anderson made good on a bunny to again put West Junior in the lead, 19-18. Jim McGuire then sank two straight free tosses to give West a 21-18 third quarter lead.

In the fourth quarter, Don Hadden of the Indians made good on a goal and a free throw early in the fourth quarter to tie the game up, 21-all. Hadden scored all seven points for Indianola in their last quarter efforts.

Trabue then made good on a bunny and McGuire sank a tip-in to put West Junior into a 25-21 lead. Hadden's long shot late in the quarter pulled the Indians up to within two markers of West Junior.

The Broncos, in an effort to stall the game, lost it on steps. Hadden then got the ball and was fouled in an effort to shoot a follow up of one of his missed shots. He missed both shots, but got the rebound of the second toss and made it 25-all. This set the stage for Trabue's game-winning push-hook shot.

Trabue paces the Juniors in scoring with 33 points in the three games to date. Johnson is second with 21 markers; Jim McGuire has 11; Dick Hutchison, 9; Ken Anderson, 8; and Douglas Clark, 6. Only other players to play in the junior high games for West this year are Bill Haire and Eddy Gleiba, neither of whom has scored yet.

The Juniors visited Barrett this past Tuesday and the story can be found in Section A of today's Hilltop Record.

Stewart—2562

Once again the Stewart Black Toppers team of the Thursday night Hilltop Ladies' League showed they could compete with the best of the bowlers as they knocked the pins around to the tune of 912-2562. This was a team victory entirely as four of the five women broke the 500 mark, leaving only anchor woman Helen Neeshan with 482. Their first game was one of the best ladies' games to be rolled this year as they hit 912 on single games of 193, 181, 182, 182 and 174.

Dick Ardle

Even with their wonderful series they could win only two games as Billie Warden paced her Warden Drugs team to an 841-814 victory with a sparkling 223 game. This game gave her a high total of 579 which would have been good for nightly high almost any time except tonight. Jerry Hausfield, a new name in the limelight, came through with games of 178, 200 and 213 for the high total for the evening of 591. Besides these two good totals six other women broke the 500 mark in the league. Irene Shepard, Stewarts, had 531, Frances Patridge, Stewarts, 528, Gen Graham, Stewarts, 515, Kay Kunz, Stewarts, 506, Eleanor Kanavel, Warden Drugs, 504, and Sarah Winnestraffer of Seiller's had 503. Congratulations.

Here's Stewart's score sheet:

The best effort on the men's side this week was Schroeck's Service Station's 2827 last Monday in the Recreation League. Led by Homer Ranney's 224-616. Schroecks had games of 921, 956 and 950 for their 2827. Homer's 616 wasn't quite good enough for high totals as John Murnane, anchor man on the Grotto team, put together games of 218, 200 and 206 for a high total of 624. Here's the way Schroeck's games went:

Schroeck

C. Smith	167	183	193	543

H. Ranney	189	203	224	661

Carl Latscha, of Eddie's Tavern, Friday night, came as close to 600 as possible, getting 599 on games of 192, 189 and 218, which was high single game of the evening. In the later league Ray Fischer tried for 600 and ended up with 592 on games of 221, 167 and 204.

Bunn Newlon, leadoff man on the Thursday night Fox Cafe team, put together games of 215, 215 and 173 for the nightly high of 603, but had to relinquish high single game honor to Al Grinstead of Chubby's, who had 255. Fox Cafe walked off with top honors of 949-2667.

Diane Smith again led the Seiller's Girls' League with 173-464, while her team had 579-1692. All honors in the St. Aloysius PTA League went to the Keith's School of Dancing team as Marie Balthaser had 181-492 and the team had 708-2082.

Former West High Basketball Star Comes Into His Own At Ohio State

By Morris Rotsach

Ed. Note—This is the first of a series of articles on former Hilltop athletes and what they are doing now.

Jim Remington, 123 N. Warrenav, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Remington, former West High basketball standout, is beginning to come into his own as a versatile player on Coach Tippy Dye's Ohio State cage squad.

Although he is only a sophomore, Remington is expected to see increased action in the Buckeyes' drive toward the Western Conference crown. Jim tops six feet by two inches and weighs 175 pounds. He is an excellent set shot artist from anywhere on the court and is a handy guy to have around the backboard, both on offense and defense.

Jim was on the varsity roster at the start of the 1946-47 season, but was put in drydock by an injury. Last year Remington served with the army so this will be his first full season with the Ohio State Buckeyes.

Remington earned three basketball monograms at West High and received the coveted All-City award at forward in his junior year. He teamed with another Scarlet and Gray athlete, Dick Slager, who was perhaps the most versatile athlete at the Hilltop high school.

He is extremely popular with his teammates, his all round court ability and drive stamp him as an outstanding prospect. Jim should really come into his own when he adds more experience.

During the summer months he works as a lifeguard. He is a physical education major and plans on coaching as a career after he graduates.

JIM REMINGTON goes into action for Ohio State. He is 6'2" and excels as a set shot artist. He is winner of the All-City award in basketball, presented while he was a student at West High School, where forward.

More than 2,000 "March of Dimes" workers, both men and women, will canvass homes and business concerns during January under the chairmanship of Thomas A. Sabrey. This is his fourth consecutive year as chairman.

Looking Ahead with JEAN WORREL

Knowledge is Power

Are Schooldays nearly over for your boy or girl? Have you realized how fast the children are growing up?

For children do grow up . . . which leads me to ask if you've given much thought to your children's future lately? I mean, whether they'll go to college to prepare themselves adequately for what life has in store for them. Almost every boy and girl would like a college education, of course, but wishing is not enough. There are fees to consider, tuition costs, maintenance allowances, incidental expenses and such-like. Fortunately these items, large though they may seem if not foreseen and provided for, can be budgeted with ease by planning proper arrangements in time. I wonder how many of you know that the Educational Policy issued by the Sun Life of Canada has been developed to take care of just such a job. By small, regular payments during a portion of their school years, your boy or girl may be assured an arranged amount for the definite purpose of meeting college fees. This amount would be paid by the Sun Life of Canada each year during the period of collegiate training. At the same time there would also be a monthly income available to cover miscellaneous expenses incidental to education. The plan includes, too, an interesting insurance feature safeguarding both parent and child in the event of the death either before the primary objective of the contract is accomplished. Successful men and women today will tell you that there is no better investment than higher education . . . so why not make sure of it?

"TELEVISION is in the experimental stage in Columbus right now," said DON RICE, of the Westgate Electric Co. "But we expect good reception by May, 1949, after Columbus stations are set up."

"We have one experimental set in our shop right now, which gives us fair reception from Cleveland and Cincinnati, but at the present time reception is unreliable and unclear.

"However, we'll have plenty of sets for sale after May," he added.

J. W. SLYH, manager of the WEST SIDE LUMBER CO., 3401 W. Broad-st, believes there is every indication that 1949 will be as good a year as 1948 for the lumber business. He added that a seasonal decline has entered the picture during the present winter months. "The only thing that might hurt business may be increased taxes, but big business has been operating under a democratic administration for 16 years, and I think they'll go ahead with production schedules as they have in the past."

* * *

MARY LOU EVANS OF the Mary Lou Beauty Salon, 10 S. Hague-av, believes the beauty business will continue the same as in 1948. The current price for a wave and shampoo is $1.25. Women needn't worry about an increase in price, according to Mary Lou, "the price will remain the same." Mrs. Evans operates the shop jointly with her sister Claribel Kimball.

* * *

* * *

HERBERT G. DEEMS, secretary of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 2369 W. Broad-st, "expects a fairly good year but not quite up to 1948." He reports, "There will be a fair amount of new construction, but not quite as much property will change hands."

* * *

GOMER JONES of JONES FLYING SERVICE, 3869 Sullivant-av, is expecting "a little better year than 1948." "Enrollment in private and GI instruction courses may fall off slightly," he added, "but we expect our rent and charter work to pick up in 1949." Fernstedt Division of General Motors is using the flying service for freight shipments. Mr. Jones expects business of this sort to increase. At the present time nine ships are housed in his hangars.

* * *

E. G. WITHERSPOON, BETTER HOME CENTER, 2775 W. Broad-st., is "just looking for any particular increase or decrease in business. "I think the sale of appliances will continue at the same rate as 1948," he said.

* * *

JACK BOYER, manager of GEARHART HARDWARE, 2387 Sullivant-av., believes there may be a general leveling off of prices, but his opinion is "business will be about the same."

State School Head Plans Retirement

"I'm ready to leave, but I'm not particularly happy about retiring," commented Dr. F. L. Keiser, superintendent of the Columbus State School, whose prospective retirement date is set for Sept. 22.

When asked what his future plans included, Dr. Keiser said, "I may do some hunting, fishing or look for another job. I've always been an active person, and plan to keep myself occupied."

The superintendent confesses, he is a sports lover, "I'm not so active in sports as I once was, but I intend to do some fishing, when I have leisure time."

In his 41 years of service with the State School Dr. Keiser has always taken a deep interest in his work. "I've enjoyed my years of service, he said, if I didn't, I wouldn't have remained here so long."

When asked what his biggest problem as head of the institution was, the superintendent replied, "For years we've struggled along without adequate funds or help. We've been overcrowded with too many patients and too little space."

"Recently a large labor turnover has troubled the institution," the superintendent added. "During the year 1948 we had a staff turnover of 25%, which was larger than during the war years. I believe the trouble lies in the fact that wages have been too low to attract the capable employees we need."

The superintendent has requested a 1949 budget amounting to $2 million, "but probably we won't get it," he said.

As the retirement law stands Dr. Keiser's term will not expire until June 30, 1950, but he has indicated he would like to leave Sept. 22, 1949. "I will stay a few months longer, if requested," he said.

The superintendent has been connected with the State School for 42 years, 25 years as superintendent and 17 years as ward physician.

Two Proposals That Deserve Public Support

Citizens' Research, a non-political group that has done much to further good government in Franklin County, this week proposes that the county should buy voting machines to take the place of the cumbersome old hand methods of tallying election returns. The machines will have enough to more than pay for themselves within a few years.

The organization has also gone on record approving the change in the city charter to set the city finances up in a businesslike manner under a city finance director.

State School Head Plans Retirement

"I'm ready to leave, but I'm not particularly happy about retiring," commented Dr. F. L. Keiser, superintendent of the Columbus State School, whose prospective retirement date is set for Sept. 23.

When asked what his future plans included, Dr. Keiser said, "I may do some hunting, fishing or look for another job. I've always been an active person, and plan to keep myself occupied."

The superintendent confesses, he is a sports lover, "I'm not so active in sports as I once was, but I intend to do some fishing, when I have leisure time."

"In his 42 years of service with the State School Dr. Keiser has always taken a deep interest in his work. "I've enjoyed my years of service, he said, if I didn't, I wouldn't have remained here so long."

When asked what his biggest problem as head of the institution was, the superintendent replied, "For years we've struggled along without adequate funds or help. We've been overcrowded with too many patients and too little space."

"Recently a large labor turnover has troubled the institution," the superintendent added. "During the year 1948 we had a staff turnover of 25%, which was larger than during the war years. I believe the trouble lies in the fact that wages have been too low to attract the capable employees we need."

WHAT'S AHEAD IN 1949

By DORIS McGILL

Business may not be quite so good in 1949 as in 1948 in the opinion of most Hilltop merchants. A healthy readjustment in prices and cost of living items is forecast. Production will remain high, but jobs may get tighter and money more scarce.

Forecasters predict a return of the buyers' market. Consumers will get more for their money in 1949 and will have privilege of selection.

Automobiles and adequate housing will remain scarce, but with industries nearing completion of expansion programs, a normal leveling off period is seen ahead.

Some individual opinions were expressed as follows:

FRANKLIN D. SPARKS of Sparks-Kent Super Market, 2976 W. Broad-st, predicts a slow decrease in the price of food in view of recent trends.

"Eggs, for instance," said Sparks, "have gone down 14c a dozen in the past two months. The early part of this year there may be a slight rise in price. When the weather gets colder cost of production will go up. Grade A beef is down about 35c a pound. Good sirloin retailed at a peak of $1.10 a pound in September. Now you can get a good sirloin steak for about 75c a pound.

"Veal is a different matter. We've noted a slight scarcity, which may be due to the fact that farmers are holding on to calves, since cost of feeding beef has gone down."

"The only scarcities we've noted have been in the paper line and in seasonal fluctuations in shipments of California fruits."

In view of Mr. Sparks' statements the American Meat Institute reports that the general wholesale price of all meat in the nation has dropped about 19 per cent since the mid-September peak.

The Columbus housewife, however, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics still has to pay 119.2 per cent more for her food budget than she did in mid-August 1939. This means she pays currently $21.92 for food which cost her only $10 at the beginning of the war.

"I LOOK FOR AN INCREASE IN the demand for CREDIT," remarked SAMUEL N. ALFORD of the Thrift Financé Co., 7 S. Wayne-av. "The credit picture will change. Instead of a demand for investment credit, people will need money to pay off debts."

"In the past most of our customers have needed money to improve their properties, to buy automobiles, or to refurnish their homes. However, the picture is getting darker. Money is getting tighter and jobs scarcer. If the government takes any more money out of circulation by raising income taxes, I look for the quick boom to end in a bust for business men."

Mr. Alford asked for a return to the condition in 1932 when the dollar was worth a dollar. To do this, he believes the government should cut expenditures to leave the business man with more money in his pocket.

"WE'LL BE OPERATING with about the same EMPLOYMENT schedule in 1949 as in 1948," said A. L. CONLON, resident [illegible] of Fisher-Ternstedt Division of General Motors, who didn't foresee any 1949 setback in business.

General Motors, largest private employer in the country, ties its wage policy partly to living costs. If the consumer price index drops (trend has been down) workers, who are members of the CIO United Automobile Workers Union may have to take a small cut in hourly wage. Fourth round of wage increases will also be unpopular if automobile industry suffers a slight set-back.

General opinion in the Hilltop area is that the unemployed will take the brunt of the 1949 adjustment period. In 1948 nearly everyone who wanted to work, was working. Job opportunities are expected to decrease and layoffs to increase slightly.

Current figures show national employment leveling off at 59.9 million with an expected drop of five million by the second quarter of 1949.

* * *

"REAL ESTATE business isn't as good as it should be," reported IRA M. CLAGGETT, real estate broker, 2622 W. Broad-st, "Price of residential housing is too high for the middle income group in the Hilltop area. People here don't have the money to pay the swelled down payment cost. If the sellers will cut their price, buyers will absorb nearly all the properties offered."

Buyers' Market To Replace Boom Is Belief of Most Hilltop Business Men

"I look for a slump in the building of new houses," continued Claggett. "According to Babson's Washington forecast of Dec. 27, building of new houses will decrease 20% in 1949. At the present time construction costs are up 148% since 1939."

"Before there is adequate housing in the nation cost of construction and cost of houses already built will have to go down."

* * *

"RETAIL BUYING is holding its own," admitted J. P. MERRIMAN, vice-president of Seiller's Dept. Store, 2404 W. Broad-st, as he confidently predicted a good year for the store.

"Business will be good in 1949 disregarding a possible set-back at the beginning of the year, which is a seasonal fluctuation. Competition will be keener and business will return to the buyers' market. We have no reason to worry though, if income and industrial production remain the same, we should be as well off as we were in 1948."

In Columbus, retail dollar volume during the week of Dec. 12 slightly exceeded that of the comparable week in 1947.

U. S. News and World Report, Dec. 31, believes that dollar sales will tend to fall off next year, in contrast to a rise throughout most of 1948. For 1949 retailers are expected to take in about $131.2 billion which will be almost three times the 1940 volume.

"TELEVISION is in the experimental stage in Columbus right now," said DON RICE, of the Westgate Electric Co. "But we expect good reception by May, 1949, after Columbus stations are set up."

"We have one experimental set in our shop right now, which gives us fair reception from Cleveland and Cincinnati, but at the present time reception is unreliable and unclear.

"However, we'll have plenty of sets for sale after May," he added.

* * *

J. W. SLYH, manager of the WEST SIDE LUMBER CO., 3401 W. Broad-st, believes there is every indication that 1949 will be as good a year as 1948 for the lumber business. He added that a seasonal decline has entered the picture during the present winter months. "The only thing that might hurt business may be increased taxes, but big business has been operating under a democratic administration for 16 years, and I think they'll go ahead with production schedules as they have in the past."

* * *

MARY LOU EVANS OF the Mary Lou Beauty Salon, 10 S. Hague-av, believes the beauty business will continue the same as in 1948. The current price for a wave and shampoo is $1.25. Women needn't worry about an increase in price, according to Mary Lou, "the price will remain the same." Mrs. Evans operates the shop jointly with her sister Claribel Kimball.

* * *

* * *

HERBERT G. DEEMS, secretary of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 2369 W. Broad-st, "expects a fairly good year but not quite up to 1948." He reports, "There will be a fair amount of new construction, but not quite as much property will change hands."

* * *

GOMER JONES of JONES FLYING SERVICE, 3869 Sullivant-av, is expecting "a little better year than 1948." "Enrollment in private and GI instruction courses may fall off slightly," he added, "but we expect our rent and charter work to pick up in 1949." Ternstedt Division of General Motors is using the flying service for freight shipments. Mr. Jones expects business of this sort to increase. At the present time nine ships are housed in his hangars.

* * *

E. G. WITHERSPOON, BETTER HOME CENTER, 2776 W. Broad-st., is "not looking for any particular increase or decrease in business. "I think the sale of appliances will continue at the same rate as 1948," he said.

* * *

JACK BOYER, manager of GEARHART HARDWARE, 2387 Sullivant-av., believes there may be a general leveling off of prices, but his opinion is "business will be about the same."

Modern Blacksmith Scoffs At Stationary Shops

By Doris McGill

AMOS PESTALITZ, MODERN BLACKSMITH, shoes horses at his customer's door with truck equipped with anvil and forge. Training horses is his hobby.

It's a bit old fashioned for the "village smithy to stand under the spreading chestnut tree." Amos Pestalitz, blacksmith, 62 N. Guilford, prefers to shoe horses at his customers' door.

How can he do this? It's easy, says, Amos, referring to his 1941 International truck, which is equipped with mobile blacksmith unit, including forge and anvil.

Shoeing horses is one of the few things technology hasn't improved. Horses aren't like humans. They can't say "size 7" and expect to be fitted. According to Amos, "I have to observe a horse walking, running, and standing for several days before I attempt to shoe him. His personal habits are as important as his physical measurements."

Amos' specialty is shoeing three and five gaited show horses. Accurate fittings make the difference between a good and a bad performance," he added. "Some of my horses have been valued from $5,000 to $20,000. Valuable property like this has to be handled carefully and precisely." In shoeing a horse, the hoof must be fitted to the exact fraction of an inch and front and back weights must be balanced accurately.

"I've been shoeing horses since I was a kid," Amos admitted. At one time I played polo, another worked and trained jumpers, now I've settled down to make this business a paying proposition."

Most of Amos' business is with the Rocky Fork Hunt Club, Gahanna, the White Star Farm, Delaware, the Broad View Farm, Gahanna, and the River Ridge Riding Club.

He is nearly always present at Ohio State Fairs for the horse shows. He's a familiar figure at the ringside, where an accident might mean an emergency shoeing job. He will be an official horse shower at the annual horse show, sponsored by the Columbus Humane Society this spring.

Amos has a wife and three children. His son, Billie, age 9, is learning the profession from his father, who admits he is pretty good. Billie attracted a lot of attention at the last State Fair when he took over the forge and anvil and serviced customers alone.

At the present time Amos has a horse of his own, Lady Guest, which he hopes to enter in the spring shows. Lady Guest is a jumper trained by Amos. She is currently stabled at the State Fair Grounds.

West Graduate Writes Article

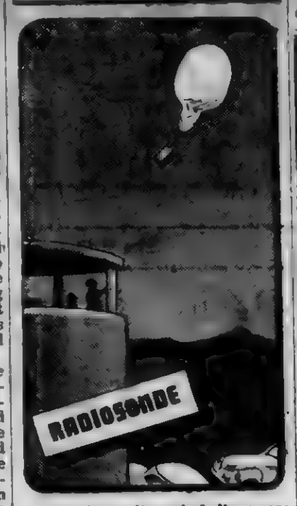
Denver C. Jividen, West High graduate of June 1934, and now superintendent of the Burton, O., public schools, is the author of a timely article in the December edition of the "Ohio Schools," news organ of the Ohio Education Association.

The state legislature and school administrators have long discussed the necessity for school district reorganization. Mr. Jividen aptly presents the case in his article.

In the author's opinion the present township school is facing a crisis in administration. High schools have been robbed of space to make room for beginners. Locker rooms, auditoriums, storerooms and hallways have been converted to classrooms and rooms formerly designed to class 30 to 35 pupils are taking care of 50 or more.

The result of this overcrowding has led to below average teaching, cutting of courses, teachers leaving their profession for jobs in other fields carrying less responsibility and more pay. This situation is occurring in a period, when schools need to be expanded instead of curtailed.

Mr. Jividen believes this unhealthy situation can be corrected by an effective school redistricting. In his opinion many rural schools are operating today with high expense accounts, which could be combined with other schools, resulting in a sharing of the financial burden and allowing more money for expansion of educational programs.



The author reports, "An example which could be found in most of the county school systems of Ohio might show that there are two schools in operation with a combined enrollment of 137 pupil. For this number of students 13 teachers are hired, two buildings are built, operated and maintained and two sets of identical equipment furnished. On closer examination, one finds that one building and one set of equipment could do a better job than two separate units are doing."

The advantages to be gained from school redistricting, according to Mr. Jividen, would be lower per capita cost of education, lower pupil load per teacher, more and better teachers, broader programs, and the placing of the graduates of small schools on a par with those from the largest.

Infantile paralysis is one of the most expensive diseases known to medical science. A respirator case may require 24-hour nursing care and in a year's time involve a cost of $10,000.

Since infantile paralysis cannot be licked until all the facts about it are known, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, since its inception in 1938, has spent more than 30 million dollars for research, education and specialized medical treatments.

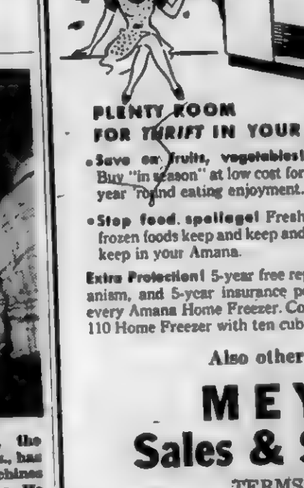
Your Winter Wardrobe . . .

By Doris McGill

With the winter season in full swing, Hilltop's well-dressed young woman may be examining her winter wardrobe and coming up with the familiar question, What to Wear?".



How to be well-dressed and warm may seem like a problem, but 1949 designers have kept these two thoughts in mind. Suits are on hand in nearly every style, fabric and design. The new winged look with a flyaway jacket is fast becoming a favorite. Paris revues hint that hemlines will be shorter in front, but longer and fuller behind. Suit skirts are featuring a new back interest, full and caught in clever folds or ruffles. Cocktail suits are popularizing short tight-bodiced jackets with fishtail folds highlighting the skirt.

The new high "Empire" waistline is achieving waistline magic in afternoon and evening dresses. They make your skirt look longer and your waist finer. Belts are news too this year. They're built up high and are intricately constructe rotda,eau a high and are intricately constructed to arch up over the ribs.

For the teen-agers a final "finis" to the sloppy dress era is noted. The 1949 teenager will be as different from her 1948 cousin as Bebop and Beethoven. High school girls will be dressing up more, to the delight of boys who have campaigned long against the "sloppy look".

The calendar may say January this month but fashion experts say you'll look like June in the new pure silk prints making their appearance this month. They're just the thing to brighten a fur coat ensemble.

For formal or after five parties tissue weighted failles, satins and iridescent taffetas are still tops. Bare shoulders and the bouffant silhouette are highlighting both evening and afternoon dresses.

State School Head Plans Retirement

"I'm ready to leave, but I'm not particularly happy about retiring," commented Dr. F. L. Keiser, superintendent of the Columbus State School, whose prospective retirement date is set for Sept. 22.

When asked what his future plans included, Dr. Keiser, said, "I may do some hunting, fishing or look for another job. I've always been an active person, and plan to keep myself occupied."

The superintendent confesses, he is a sports lover, "I'm not so active in sports as I once was, but I intend to do some fishing, when I have leisure time."

In his 41 years of service with the State School Dr. Keiser has always taken a deep interest in his work. "I've enjoyed my years of service, he said, if I didn't, I wouldn't have remained here so long."

When asked what his biggest problem as head of the institution was, the superintendent replied, "For years we've struggled along without adequate funds or help. We've been overcrowded with too many patients and too little space."

"Recently a large labor turnover has troubled the institution," the superintendent added. "During the year 1948 we had a staff turnover of 25%, which was larger than during the war years. I believe the trouble lies in the fact that wages have been too low to attract the capable employees we need."

The superintendent has requested a 1949 budget amounting to $2 million, "but probably we won't get it," he said.

As the retirement law stands Dr. Keiser's term will not expire until June 30, 1950, but he has indicated he would like to leave Sept. 22, 1949. "I will stay a few months longer, if requested," he said.

The superintendent has been connected with the State School for 42 years, 25 years as superintendent and 17 years as ward physician.

TAXI? Hilltopper Joe Palumbo Invites You To Ride In His Radio Cabs

Thousands of Hilltoppers ride in Hilltopper Joe Palumbo's Radio Cabs, a familiar transit institution in Columbus, with main office at 546 N. 4th-st. "AD. 2222" telephone number and Radio Cabs are inseparable names to patrons of one of Columbus' most progressive cab systems.

Taxicabs have come a long way since Mr. Murnan, who allegedly operated the first local taxi, cruising the streets of Columbus in his 1900 model limousine in quest of passengers at the turn of the century.

Latest service innovation of Mr. Palumbo includes installation of the finest radio equipment in both the dispatching office and in all his Radio cabs.

"Request for a cab," Mr. Palumbo said, "can now be relayed immediately to the nearest Radio cab in any vicinity, thus assuring for our patrons the finest and most rapid service."

In the business for 20 years, Hilltop's cab wizard has studied every phase of the problems incidental to providing the best possible commutation for his patrons.

"Twenty-five per cent of our business comes from the Hilltop," Palumbo retorted, adding "You know we would never let our neighbors down."

Ask the Hilltopper who habitually—or occasionally—rides in Joe's Radio Cabs, his opinion of the service extended by the local company, and without exception he'll tell you that Radio Cabs get him to his destination with dispatch and ease. It's a pleasure to travel in this manner, all concur.

Radio Cabs began 15 years ago, and the public's patronage of it has grown by leaps and bounds. Establishing and maintaining a fleet of 23 cabs is no small business. Then, too, 65 drivers man the cars, five mechanics work constantly on auto repairs, etc.; four telephone operators courteously receive your call for a cab, and promptly inform the driver in your neighborhood by radio; two superintendents and a bookkeeper also assist owner Palumbo in the business.

Palumbo makes an effort to replace his cabs and equipment annually, and in any event, it is never over a year and a half old, thus affording another safety measure in the operation of his business.

Radio Cab drivers, like all other taxi drivers in Columbus, must pass a thorough physical examination and be subjected to an investigation by the police in the licensing bureau preparatory to becoming licensed drivers.

If police turn down the driver's application, the applicant may refer his case to a Taxi Board, consisting of Safety Director C. C. Cole, Councilman Robert Ostreicher, and Auditor Barthalow for ruling.

Rest assured, therefore, your taxi driver, the city believes, must be reliable and qualified in the discharge of his important duties.

That driver who gets smart, is the exception rather than the rule, Palumbo advised. All of Radio Cab drivers are instructed in observing the civil courtesies, contingent upon doing a good job in driving his passenger quickly and safely to his destination.

Joe is an avid golf enthusiast away from his work (Mrs. Palumbo avers he works often 18 hours daily.).

Admitting he has not made any outstanding scores, he plays the game for relaxation and enjoyment.

He anticipates that the day is not far distant when the Hilltop can support a Country Club golf course.

Besides his cab operation Palumbo finds time to devote to these civic and fraternal groups: West Gate Chapter and Council, Aladdin Shrine, Scottish Rite, Grotto, Elks, Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce, York Temple Country Club and a host of others.

He lives with Mrs. Palumbo at 3015 Crescent-dr. Mrs. Palumbo has an interesting collection of iron trivets. Daughter Mrs. Lewis Rice, lives in Cincinnati.

Librarians Aid Quiz Show Fans

"Could you tell me the answer to Newton Noodle's Quiz Question of the Week?"

Such is the gist of some questions asked at the Hilltop Branch Library, 21 N. Hague-av. In these days of radio program give-away shows, the local library staff has had a busy season answering queries of quiz show fans.

On the serious side, the local library is a boon to the students of West Broad Street School. Located directly across the street from the school, the library makes it possible for teachers to take classes to the library and put its facilities to use.

This plan of having school classes at the library during the mornings (when closed to the public) has been carried on for the past seven or eight years. Usually two or three classes meet here every day.

The children use books, magazines and pictures, which may be incorporated into their school work.

To make reading even more interesting the librarians make attractive posters and display boards which tell about new books just in, or those soon to be available.

The students of West Junior and Senior High Schools use the library for after-school reference chasing too.

Helping Miss Phalor in the library are Mrs. Ruth Moriarty, Mrs. Frances Emrich, and part-time workers Wilda Swain, Virginia Witherspoon, Catherine West and Patti Murray.

It's easy to see that an average week at the Hilltop Branch Library would not be "play". What with accommodating an average of 480 West Broad Street pupils per week, plus passing out radio quiz tips, the life of a Hilltop librarian is not at all dull.

Resolved

1949

There are only two basic types of New Year's resolutions: those that are broken and those that are kept. Here are some that will be kept:

The Hilltop Record promises to continue bringing you -- each week -- an improved community newspaper.

It promises that the 52 issues you will receive in 1949 will be brighter and better than those you enjoyed so much in 1948.

We promise that it will contain more of everything that has already made it a household favorite. More attractive appearance. More punch-packed articles. More attractive and down-to-earth features for the home-maker. More eye-catching pictures. More cartoons and comics. More timely, thought-provoking columns of crisp, intriguing reading for every member of the family, in every field of interest.

We know these good resolutions will be kept because the planning and the creative work necessary to make them effective have already been done, months in advance of the time they'll be evident to you in the pages of The Hilltop Record.

What Makes A Comm...

Just why is the Hilltop such a desirable place in which to live? Most people will answer this by saying, "It's because there is such a fine spirit on the Hilltop. You'll find no other section with the community spirit and pride that the Hilltop has." Briefly, that is the answer. But just what is this thing called community spirit? The answer: It is the matter of getting things done for the community! You see it in action every day in the year. It is such things as enthusiastic support of our schools, (when West High needed a stadium the community responded and the stadium was built). It is increasing support for our churches. (The Hilltop has more churches than any other sim-

Two Proposals That Deserve Public Support

Citizens' Research, a non-political group that has done much to further good government in Franklin County, this week proposes that the county should buy voting machines to take the place of the cumbersome old hand methods of tallying election returns. The machines will have enough to more than pay for themselves within a few years.

The organization has also gone on record approving the change in the city charter to set the city finances up in a businesslike manner under a city finance director.

Both of these matters deserve

West High Student Now In Marine Corps To Receive Diploma

Only GI to qualify for a high school diploma at West High commencement Wednesday, Jan. 26, is Forrest Boutelle of Provo, Utah, formerly a student at the Hilltop school. State School Head Plans Retirement

"I'm ready to leave, but I'm not particularly happy about retiring," commented Dr. F. L. Keiser, superintendent of the Columbus State School, whose prospective retirement date is set for Sept. 22.

When asked what his future plans included, Dr. Keiser, said, "I may do some hunting, fishing or look for another job. I've always been an active person, and plan to keep myself occupied."

The superintendent confesses, he is a sports lover, "I'm not so active in sports as I once was, but I intend to do some fishing, when I have leisure time."

In his 42 years of service with the State School Dr. Keiser has always taken a deep interest in his work. "I've enjoyed my years of service, he said. If I didn't, I wouldn't have remained here so long."

When asked what his biggest problem as head of the institution was, the superintendent replied, "For years we've struggled along without adequate funds or help. We've been overcrowded with too many patients and too little space."

"Recently a large labor turnover has troubled the institution," the superintendent added. "During the year 1948 we had a staff turnover of 25%, which was larger than during the war years. I believe the trouble lies in the fact that wages have been too low to attract the capable employees we need."

The superintendent has requested a 1949 budget amounting to $2 million, "but probably we won't get it," he said.

As the retirement law stands Dr. Keiser's term will not expire until June 30, 1950, but he has indicated he would like to leave Sept. 22, 1949. "I will stay a few months longer, if requested," he said.

The superintendent has been connected with the State School for 42 years, 25 years as superintendent and 17 years as ward physician.

Poetry Editor Is Also Painter; Has 'Rogues' Gallery'

Some of the more recent subscribers to The Hilltop Record and other newcomers to the Hilltop may never have had a formal introduction to Mrs. Esther Weakley, poetry editor of this paper.

Editing the "Modern Poetry" column for 12 years now, Mrs. Weakley began her newspaper career as a reporter for an Oregon paper. Her home at the time was in Portland.

From Portland the Weakleys (husband, Charles, and son, Robert) moved to Zanesville. Later they came to Columbus and have lived at their present address, 3 Belvidere-av, for the past 15 years.

Esther once did much painting and sketching in addition to being a poetess. Now she has a poetry column in the Record and the Columbus Citizen.

Mrs. Weakley, a humorist by trade, has approximately 800 pictures on the walls of her bedroom-study. Many of them are people whom she interviewed at one time or another, some are friends and others are cartoons that her friends have drawn of her. This "display" Esther fondly calls her "Rogue's Gallery".

She is a stickler for mementoes. On her desk in her work room, under a plate of glass, she keeps "special" notes or poems and some of her son's scribblings done in younger days. He is 23 now.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Weakley like music, and have enough phonograph records to be official disc jockeys. Speaking of disc jockeys, one night Esther was unable to sleep, so she quietly crept downstairs, turned on the radio and tuned in a South Carolina station. A disc jockey, on that particular evening, featured a contest on his program. Each person listening was to drop him a card telling him from what town he or she was listening. The person living the farthest away was to receive a prize. You guessed it! Esther is a writer, she couldn't sleep, she wrote a card, and won the prize.

A BOOB NAMED ADHEM

A boob named Adhem (may his tribe decrease,
Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace,
To smell his house a-burning while he snored.
"Fire!" then out the window Adhem roared.
But none was passing by "Boob" Adhem's place,
And so he needs must run at break-neck pace
A distance of a mile to summon aid;
Oh, what a wreck of Adhem's place was made!
The next day Adhem made his chastened way
Into a business office, there to say,
"No more I'll face nocturnal fights alone,
Write me as one who has a telephone."

And soon the new directory was impressed,
And lo! old Adhem's name led all the rest.

TEARS

I have only tears for soldiers,
Soldiers in tossing ships
Soldiers on the gutted roads of war;
Soldiers in foxholes, and in tanks;
Soldiers restless for the end to battles,
An end to fatigue and fear;
Soldiers thinking only of home.

I have only tears for soldiers,
Even when they're gay.

Besides untold suffering, the infantile paralysis epidemic in North Carolina during August and September cost more than a million dollar loss in the state and tourist trade. More than three million dollars was spent in medical care of the 2,400 cases.

Two Proposals That Deserve Public Support

Citizens' Research, a non-political group that has done much to further good government in Franklin County, this week proposes that the county should buy voting machines to take the place of the cumbersome old hand methods of tallying election returns. The machines will have enough to more than pay for themselves within a few years.

The organization has also gone on record approving the change in the city charter to set the city finances up in a businesslike manner under a city finance director.

Both of these matters deserve

State School Head Plans Retirement

"I'm ready to leave, but I'm not particularly happy about retiring," commented Dr. F. L. Keiser, superintendent of the Columbus State School, whose prospective retirement date is set for Sept. 22.

When asked what his future plans included, Dr. Keiser, said, "I may do some hunting, fishing or look for another job. I've always been an active person, and plan to keep myself occupied."

The superintendent confesses, he is a sports lover, "I'm not so active in sports as I once was, but I intend to do some fishing, when I have leisure time."

In his 42 years of service with the State School Dr. Keiser has always taken a deep interest in his work. "I've enjoyed my years of service, he said, if I didn't, I wouldn't have remained here so long."

When asked what his biggest problem as head of the institution was, the superintendent replied, "For years we've struggled along without adequate funds or help. We've been overcrowded with too many patients and too little space."

"Recently a large labor turnover has troubled the institution," the superintendent added. "During the year 1948 we had a staff turnover of 25%, which was larger than during the war years. I believe the trouble lies in the fact that wages have been too low to attract the capable employees we need."

The superintendent has requested a 1949 budget amounting to $2 million, "but probably we won't get it," he said.

As the retirement law stands Dr. Keiser's term will not expire until June 30, 1950, but he has indicated he would like to leave Sept. 22, 1949. "I will stay a few months longer, if requested," he said.

The superintendent has been connected with the State School for 42 years, 25 years as superintendent and 17 years as chief physician.

Our Greatest Asset

Have you a heart? Of course you have. And yet it is not really your own. For hearts were given us that we might give them away. If you have come to yourself, you know that your heart belongs to the child whom you love. It is only when we have lost ourselves that we forget; that we try to satisfy these loving hearts with things. Not even gold or precious stones will long satisfy the hearts of men. Not even grown women and men will permanently satisfy us; we were made to be lovers of children. Only after they come into the house do we really have a home. So our children are the spiritual assets of every life and of every home.

How true must this be in the life of the nation! Why did the Pioneers seek a home in this new land? Surely not primarily for themselves, but for their children. Why do you toil through the long, hot day? Only partly for yourself and for the things that will satisfy your appetite. Children make our lives worth living; and they remain our real reason for being, no matter how old they may become.

How foolish then to deceive ourselves into serving other earthly causes! Like the great Father in Heaven we were made for loving; love is the very essence of our nature. God is love; man at his best also is love. And only our children give us adequate room for loving.

The future of our nation is with our children; the Kingdom belongs to them. Why not set them in the very midst of our planning and of our hoping for the future? We shall build wisely if we care not only for their physical well being, but even more for the furnishing of their minds and hearts. What great thoughts are we putting into their minds? What noble souls are we teaching them to love and to cherish? They are our insurance for the days ahead; they alone will be able to bring to pass the dreams that have urged us on. Let's invest our best in our greatest asset; the child of today; the woman and the man of tomorrow.

Hard Water Stains Cleaned Up With New Soapless Sudser; Business Man's Hobby Becomes Profitable

By Doris McGill

Hilltop housewives! If your dishes and laundry suffer from stains caused by soap and hard water, Willard Harper and V. W. (Doc) Cline of Central State Laboratories, Inc., 585 N. Hague-av, have just the thing for you.

This may sound like a radio commercial for a local soap opera, but Harper, who has developed a new soapless sudser, has turned a hobby into a paying propositon.

Harper, chief chemist at Central States Laboratories, developed in 1946 a formula that cleanses, softens water, makes suds and does not leave a curd. He has been a chemist and water analyst for the past 21 years.

The formula, kept secret by associates of the company, is built around compounds of complex phosphates. "The compound isn't a soap," explained Cline. "What we've done is to build up wetting agents to increase the detergent action." He added that the original formula has been modified some since its discovery in 1946. "Chief trouble with the original powder was its extreme dryness and sneezing effect. But we've overcome that now," he assured.

Overcoming the psychological distrust of soap users who demand suds has been the chief headache in selling the product. "Traditionally people have demanded suds, believing suds to be the cleansing agent. Truth of the matter is," said Cline, "the cleansing agent gets clothes clean, not suds. Another important factor is the rinsability of the compound."

V. W. Cline

Willard Harper

Laundry-du, one of five products manufactured by the company, has been a boon to automatic washing machine users. Housewives who have suffered from clogging of their washing machines due to deposits of hard water minerals, soap film and suds, have learned the advantage of using stabilized suds control," found in Central States Laboratories products.

Biggest buyers of the local firm's products are large commercial firms. These products include Dipsy-du, all purpose cleanser, Laundry du, laundry cleaner, Super-Du, mechanical dish-washing compound, Steri-du, bar and grill cleanser and sterilizer, and Car-du, car washing compound. "Our wholesale business has increased tremendously since 1946, when materials were hard to get," Cline said.

"Our chief concern now is getting the product in large-scale retail markets," he added. "However, we do have a few retail outlets on the Hilltop.

Originally developed as a partnership between Harper and Homer R. Langton, who has since left for California, Central States Laboratories is now incorporated with Harper as president and Cline as general manager.

The following officers were re-elected: J. Calvin Reese, president and attorney; William W. Heimberger, vice-president; John G. Lambert, secretary-treasurer. Frances Zwayer was elected assistant secretary. During the past year the State Savings and Loan Co. has continued to show a steady gain in business. Dale, Concrete Block Firm Head, Cites Expanding Uses For Product

One of Columbus' leading manufacturers of "the most rapidly expanding building material on the market" is located on the West Side at 136 S. Yale-av. It is the firm of Al C. Dale & Son, manufacturers and retailers of concrete building blocks and dealers in steel sash.

The company, founded 42 years ago by Al C. Dale, now retired and of Bradenton, Fla., is one of the oldest in point of service of any such manufacturer in the city. Present head of the partnership is Carl K. Dale, 3122 Steele-av, associated with the company 27 years.

Carl Dale, a firm believer in the inherent good of the product he makes and a staunch proponent of constantly increasing use for that product, is a veritable walking "book of statistics" on all aspects of the concrete block business.

He can tell you, for instance, that more than 80% of all concrete block structures in this country at the present time have been built since 1930. He can tell you also that the economy of using concrete blocks is the reason for their spectacular success when used by farmers for windbreaks and fences and that other inherent value of the product stems from the fact that it is practically indestructible, fireproof and is essentially a prefabricated building unit.

"When people make plans for building prefabricated houses," Mr. Dale says, "they should remember that concrete blocks offer them the closest thing to a prefabricated basement that is available today. One mason with one helper can install a basement under the average six-room house in three days or less after the excavation is completed and the concrete footing is in."

Mr. Dale also stresses the fact that the use of concrete block as an exterior building material is no longer in the future. Use of concrete block is "coming up out of the ground" and the Concrete Block Producers of Columbus have resultantly developed a planning service to apprise prospective home-builders of the advantages of using concrete block in construction of their homes. The service has already published plans for handsome, completely modern concrete block homes priced from $8000 to $30,000.

The Dale firm manufactures and sells its concrete block directly to contractors, mostly small contractors who do their business in one neighborhood. Mr. Dale estimates that his company supplies about 200 contractors in the city, including more than 40 such firms on the Hilltop who constitute some 40% of his total concrete block business. Some of these contractors, Mr. Dale points out, have been customers of Al C. Dale & Son for more than 25 years.

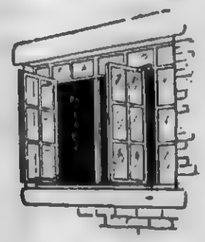
The price of concrete block is up only 40% since pre-war, compared to a rise of 100% or more in other building materials. This rise is due, according to Mr. Dale, strictly to increases in the price of raw materials and increases in costs of maintaining equipment.

Concrete block manufacturers lend stability to the jobs of employes by stockpiling of the finished product during the off-season. The Dale firm has 15 year-round employes who are kept busy during the rush months of spring and summer trying to keep up with orders but who are now manufacturing and storing the blocks to meet the deluge that will come when the weather breaks some three months hence.

In addition to manufacturing and selling concrete blocks, Al C. Dale & Son is a dealer for Truscon Steel Sash, metal windows used in residences, factories and warehouses. Clifford H. Sandusky manages both the concrete block and steel sash lines for the firm.

Carl Dale, a native of Columbus and a resident of the Hilltop 30 years, attended old West High School. His father, also a lifelong resident of this city, was a long-time member of the Hilltop community and attended Bellows Avenue School.

"March of Dimes" polio fund campaign to provide funds to fight infantile paralysis opens in Franklin County, Jan. 10, and continues through the month. The disease struck with vicious force during 1948. Depleted national and local chapter funds must be replenished, so that preparations may be made again for an unexpected epidemic.



If you attempt a job at all, go through with it.

Two Proposals That Deserve Public Support

Citizens' Research, a non-political group that has done much to further good government in Franklin County, this week proposes that the county should buy voting machines to take the place of the cumbersome old hand methods of tallying election returns. The machines will have enough to more than pay for themselves within a few years.

The organization has also gone on record approving the change in the city charter to set the city finances up in a businesslike manner under a city finance director.

Rea-Bow To Get New Storm Sewers

Within the next two weeks work will be started on the roadside drainage and storm sewer in the Rainbow Addition section of the Hilltop, according to a spokesman of the Southeast Excavating Co., Inc., 1966 S. The specifications call for the

State School Head Plans Retirement

"I'm ready to leave, but I'm not particularly happy about retiring," commented Dr. F. L. Keiser, superintendent of the Columbus State School, whose prospective retirement date is set for Sept. 22.

When asked what his future plans included, Dr. Keiser, said, "I may do some hunting, fishing or look for another job. I've always been an active person, and plan to keep myself occupied."

The superintendent confesses, he is a sports lover, "I'm not so active in sports as I once was, but I intend to do some fishing, when I have leisure time."

In his 42 years of service with the State School Dr. Keiser has always taken a deep interest in his work. "I've enjoyed my years of service, he said, if I didn't, I wouldn't have remained here so long."

When asked what his biggest problem as head of the institution was, the superintendent replied, "For years we've struggled along without adequate funds or help. We've been overcrowded with too many patients and too little space."

"Recently a large labor turnover has troubled the institution," the superintendent added. "During the year 1948 we had a staff turnover of 25%, which was larger than during the war years. I believe the trouble lies in the fact that wages have been too low to attract the capable employees we need."

The superintendent has requested a 1949 budget amounting to $2 million, "but probably we won't get it," he said.

As the retirement law stands Dr. Keiser's term will not expire until June 30, 1950, but he has indicated he would like to leave Sept. 22, 1949. "I will stay a few months longer, if requested," he said.

The superintendent has been connected with the State School for 42 years, 25 years as superintendent and 17 years as ward physician.

Musical Comedy and Medicine Aspired Careers of Local Credit Men

By Doris McGill

Samuel N. Alford and Myron T. Rodabaugh have filled a big need in the community with the comparatively new Thrift Finance Co., located at S. Wayne-av.

Surprisingly, though, neither of them thought of being credit men in their early years.

"I intended to be a doctor," Sam confided, "and I started at Ohio State University to learn the profession, but I met my wife, and my doctor's career was cut short."

"Musical comedy was my line," laughed Myron. "I fancied myself a musical comedy producer in those days," he said, referring to three years spent at Ohio Northern University. Myron seriously studied piano and for many years was the Midwest correspondent for the periodical "Musical Courier." "I still play the piano some, but not like I used to," he added.

Both men have been in the credit business for a long time. Beginning with the Household Finance Co. in Columbus in 1932, Sam has been doling out money to needy individuals most of his life. Myron, born in Kenton, O., also started his career with the Household Finance Co. in Columbus, where he was manager for 17 years. They were associated together several years, with that firm.

A Hilltop man nearly all his life, Sam was born and raised here. He graduated from West High School. "I like it out here. Hilltop is home to me. I wouldn't think of starting in business anywhere else."

Sam and Myron are members of many Hilltop organizations, and enter actively in local business life. Sam belongs to the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, the West Gate Blue Lodge and West Gate Council of the Masonic Lodge. Myron is active in the Hilltop Business Association and the Columbus Athletic Club.

When asked if he pursued any exciting hobbies at home, Sam replied, "My wife and I have three boys in the house and believe me that's excitement enough." Sam's three sons are Eddie, 16, a Junior at West High School, Sam, Jr., 9, and Nate, 5.

Sam admits he is a strong football, baseball and basketball fan and participates in games whenever he gets an opportunity. "My favorite night sport," he joked, "is poker, as the boys in Hilltop know."

The Thrift Finance Co. has serviced about 2000 people since the beginning of 1947. "Biggest headache is when our customers won't pay, but we don't have much of that," Sam confessed.

Myron is president of the corporation. Sam has the position of executive vice-president.

Both men are seriously interested in serving the needs of Hilltop families and offer their assistance in any family economic problems.

Weaver Trailer and Body Co. Finds West End Location Profitable

By Myron T. Seifert

One of Hilltop's most lucrative businesses that looms both in volume and size of merchandise sold is the Weaver Trailer and Body Co. at 2848 W. Broad-st, giving employment to seven Hilltoppers, all of whom have been with the Columbus organization since its establishment on the Hilltop in July, 1944.

"Books of the company show in excess of a half million dollar volume of business a year," F. W. Karl, manager of the firm, said.

The only business of its type west of Central-av, it is distributor for Marion dump bodies and hoists, Gramm trailers, Rogers carryalls and Gramm steel van bodies, and handles such accessories as safety tanks, fifth wheels, wheels and drums, axles and brake units.

Territory covered includes 30 central and southern Ohio counties.

"The Hilltop agency, which engages in both wholesale and retail business, maintains a stock inventory of $125,000," Mr. Karl advised.

"Equipment cost per unit may be as high as $10,000," he added. "In fact, just recently Tom Holt, West Side trailer commuter, purchased a unit that approximated this figure."

Many companies purchase large fleets of the motorized merchandise. The 3C Motor Freight cargo, seen frequently on the highway by the same name, is now operating 30 Gramms.

Customers of the Hilltop Weaver firm include the F. E. Gooding Amusement Co., Vogel Cartage, Inc., and Muth Bros.

Mr. Karl highly praised the Hilltop community and expressed his desire to live here permanently if he could find a suitable home. Strategically located along historic, heavily traveled Route 40, Karl believes that the present location is ideal for this type of business.

Headed by Eugene G. Weaver, president, and Raymond J. Weaver, vice-president, the Weaver Truck, Trailer & Body Corporation's home office in Dover, has zoomed from a one trailer business into a half-million dollar firm with branch offices in three cities besides Columbus, including Cleveland, Akron and Canton.

The Weaver brothers haven't confined their business activity to just the truck, trailer and automotive business. Both are also associated with the Cummins-Diesel Sales Corp. of Ohio which maintains its central office in Dover with branches in Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati.

The problem of moving is simplified by the Rogers carryalls, low bottom trailers sold and serviced by this concern. "If it can be moved, there's a Rogers that will move it" is the manufacturers' slogan.

The Rogers' trailers, handled by the Hilltop concern, include the Tagalong, 10 to 90 ton capacity, available either as a semi or filler trailer; H-type drop deck with 10 to 30 ton capacity in semi or full trailer; T-type level deck with 15 to 35 ton capacity in semi or full trailer; D-type drop deck with 25 to 75 ton capacity in semi or full trailer, with side brackets to increase width. Also sold by the concern is the special longitudinal flooring D-type level deck with 25 to 75 ton capacity in semi or full trailer.

Two Proposals That Deserve Public Support

Citizens' Research, a non-political group that has done much to further good government in Franklin County, this week proposes that the county should buy voting machines to take the place of the cumbersome old hand methods of tallying election returns. The machines will have enough to more than pay for themselves within a few years.

The organization has also gone on record approving the change in the city charter to set the city finances up in a businesslike manner under a city finance director.

Both of these matters deserve careful study of all good citizens. The city and county will be taking progressive steps upon the adoption of these suggestions.

Record Printed 946 Pages During 1948

The Hilltop Record is proud to report that the average issue in 1948 contained 18½ pages. This is the same as during 1947.

A check through last year's files revealed that 946 pages were produced during 1948. In the same survey it was noted that 783 local pictures relating to news and feature articles were printed in 52 issues of The Hilltop Record.

These figures far exceed those for any other weekly newspaper in Columbus.

The Hilltop Record is mailed anywhere in Franklin County for $1.50 per year, a rate lower than most papers of this size.

Rea-Bow To Get New Storm Sewers

Within the next two weeks work will be started on the roadside drainage and storm sewer in the Rainbow Addition section of the Hilltop, according to a spokesman of the Southeast Excavating Co., Inc., 1966 S. Champion-av, which was awarded the contract by the Board of County Commissioners Tuesday morning.

The specifications call for the improvement, at a cost of $30,538, to Clarendon-av, Midland-av, Whitethorne-av and Whitehead-rd, a total length of 5,803 feet or 1.1 miles. The improvements will consist of installing 11,573 lin. feet of pipe for roadside drainage, 103 side ditch inlets, 7 manholes, 27 catch basins and 3,710 cubic yards of roadway excavation.

The work, according to the contract, is to be completed by the middle of May.

George Wolfe, president of the Rea-Bow Improvement Association, stated this week that his group has been working on this improvement for several years, three previous petitions having been turned down because of technicalities.

Completion of the installation will eliminate the flooding of streets and the filling of wells with surface water, according to Wolfe.

Lt. Camp And Wife Embark from Manila Visit China, Japan

By Myron T. Seifert

Lt. James C. Camp, Annapolis graduate of 1943 and West graduate, '38, now stationed in California, has had an interesting and colorful naval career. A "twenty year man", Camp has served practically half of his retirement term.

During the last war he was stationed on the aircraft carrier Saratoga and served throughout the Pacific Theater, including Pearl Harbor and the Philippines.

All through high school Camp worked to get an Annapolis appointment. His chance came following 11 months service in the Marines in 1940, when Congressman John Vorys recommended him for the naval appointment. Camp is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Clarence Camp, 188 S. Terrace.

The following is an account taken from the Santa Cruz Sentinel-News of recent date about Lt. James Camp.

"The Ralph Pittman home on Riverside Avenue has been an exceptionally happy one this holiday time, as their daughter and family have been home.

The daughter's husband is Lt. James C. Camp and their two daughters are Dianna Lee and Susan Dene, and they came from Sangley Pt., near Manila, P. I. Lt. Camp has been stationed in Hawaii on Johnson Island, and the Philippines for the past two years.

"The voyage from Manila to Shanghai was quite rough, due to storms at sea. More than 200 evacuees were taken aboard there.

"Lt. and Mrs. Camp, with other passengers from the navy transport, General Mitchell, enjoyed a day's trip from Yokasuika, via Yokohama, to Tokyo, on a modern suburban train.

"They noted on wall traveled routes that most of the rubble had been cleaned out, and the buildings, especially in Tokyo, are

"No Community Will Have Anti-Social Practices Forced On It," State Liquor Director Oscar L. Fleckner Advises

By Doris McGill

"No community will have anti-social practices forced upon it," Oscar L. Fleckner, new state liquor director said last weekend, when interviewed in his office.

"Before any permits are granted, cases will be pursued carefully and fair hearings held," he added. Details regarding the director's policy toward the issuance of new permits could not be revealed immediately, due to his lack of knowledge of all duties of his new office. He did state, that "no licenses will be issued for an indefinite period," explaining that "we want a chance to look things over, before we grant any more permits."

Permits pending, however, have a good chance of being granted. When questioned about pending permits, Fleckner cited a case heard before the Franklin County Court of Common Pleas, Dec. 21, which granted a license to Myer Schecter, after the Board of Liquor Control refused the permit with the following reasons:

1. The area is adequately served. 2. The central businessmen's association in the area objected to the permit. 3. There were general objections filed as to the issuance of the permit.

Col. Frank Hunter, new assistant director said, "We didn't have a chance to appeal that case. This sort of thing ties the hands of the liquor board."

At the present time as outlined in the Ohio General Code the board has the power to issue or refuse permits, according to the state statute's quota system but does not have the authority to rule as to the allocation of permits in particular areas of political subdivisions.

Therefore the court ruled in favor of the Schecter case, granting the permit, saying "The provision established overall quotas for counties, cities and villages, but is silent to the allocation of permits in particular areas of political subdivisions."

Unless action is taken by the state legislature amending the following provision, permits will undoubtedly be granted as long as the quota remains unfilled.

Section 6064-17 of the Ohio General Code sets up the quota system as follows:

"Not more than one class D-3 permit (for retail sale of spirituous liquor or wine by glass. Cost $400.) Class D-4 permit (for retail sale of intoxicating liquor or beer to members of a club. Cost 200.) or Class D-5 permit (for retail sale of intoxicating liquor or beer by owner or manager of night club by the glass. Cost $1000) shall be issued for each 2000 population or part thereof, of any county, city or village excepting that in any city of a population of 55,000 or more. One class D-3 permit may be issued for each 1500 population or part thereof."

When questioned if there would be any change in board personnel, Fleckner replied that he had no opportunity to inform himself as to the duties, if any, of the director as to the selection of board members.

Records show, however, that terms of two board members are due to expire the first Monday of February, 1949. The members are Mrs. Maud McQuate and Frank M. Kreps.

The four year term of Chairman Walter A. Mitchell will not expire until the first Monday in February, 1951. The same is true of Simon L. Leis.

Director Fleckner would make no statement concerning a change in the board's basic policy. He did state, that "arrangements have been made to exchange information and to discuss matters of basic policy."

Harold Greenberg, a new assistant director to the attorney general has been appointed as a trial lawyer to hear appealed cases.

When asked if it would be this administration's policy to make money from the liquor business or to work for the better welfare of the community, Mr. Fleckner replied, "The administration recognizes the monopoly system found in Ohio as a hybrid consisting of supervised business and a system needing social regulation."

He explains this statement by adding that, "the liquor set-up has some business characteristics to the end of the establishment of stores and agencies, and that the state intends to use the best business practices such as clean stores, supervised by courteous personnel, which will favorably reflect on the community."

Regarding the social angle he stated that "no community will have anti-social practices forced upon it."

When questioned regarding past director, Dale Dunifon's proposal to put the matter of permit issuance and enforcement in the hands of local authorities, Fleckner said, "It is a good suggestion and merits a lot of thought." However his opinion is that it would work well in communities where law was enforced by high calibre officers but in other cases, underhanded practices would be more likely to be tolerated by local authorities, than if the state remained in control.

Last year the liquor business netted the state a profit of $12 million and did a business of $144 million.

Recently Fleckner was city manager of Springfield. Earlier in his career he was on the staff of the State Division of Securities.

State School Head Plans Retirement

"I'm ready to leave, but I'm not particularly happy about retiring," commented Dr. F. L. Keiser, superintendent of the Columbus State School, whose prospective retirement date is set for Sept. 23.

When asked what his future plans included; Dr. Keiser, said, "I may do some hunting, fishing or look for another job. I've always been an active person, and plan to keep myself occupied."

The superintendent confesses, he is a sports lover, "I'm not so active in sports as I once was, but I intend to do some fishing, when I have leisure time."

In his 42 years of service to the State School Dr. Keiser has always taken a deep interest in his work. "I've enjoyed my years of service, he said, if I didn't, I wouldn't have remained here so long."

When asked what his biggest problem as head of the institution was, the superintendent replied, "For years we've struggled along without adequate funds or help. We've been overcrowded with too many patients and too little space."

"Recently a large labor turnover has troubled the institution," the superintendent added. "During the year 1948 we had a staff turnover of 25%, which was larger than during the war years. I believe the trouble lies in the fact that wages have been too low to attract the capable employees we need."

The superintendent has requested a 1949 budget amounting to $2 million, "but probably we won't get it," he said.

As the retirement law stands Dr. Keiser's term will not expire until June 30, 1950, but he has indicated he would like to leave Sept. 22, 1949. "I will stay a few months longer, if requested," he said.

The superintendent has been connected with the State School for 42 years, 25 years as superintendent and 17 years as ward physician.

The crossing to Guam was also rather rough, becoming smoother as they neared Pearl Harbor. The Golden Gate Bridge and skyline of San Francisco were their most welcome sight of all, after five weeks' sojourn aboard ship. And it was an exciting day, early in December, when the Pittmans met their children at pier 7, home at last.

Lt. Camp will be stationed at Camp Peinberton, near Ocean Side, and the family will leave next week for their new home at the post.

'Not Guilty' Is Murder Trial Verdict Given By Local Jury

Pretty Karen Andre, on trial for her life, charged with murder of Bjorn Faulkner, international financier, was judged "not guilty" by a jury of 12 Hilltoppers at a unique trial held Sunday evening at John Burroughs School auditorium.

The verdict "not guilty" climaxed the Hilltop Little Theater play, "The Night of January Sixteenth," and the defendant was freed, when the state prosecutor failed to produce the body.

The first play of its kind to be presented on the Hilltop, "The Night of January Sixteenth" was unique in that the audience had a personal part in the play's presentation. Before being seated, guests were instructed to leave their names in a box for selection as members of the jury. From these names the 12 Hilltoppers listed below were selected for jury duty:

Mrs. Katherine Mitchell, Ruth Siples, Mrs. Roy Snouffler, Mary Link, Bill Coon, Cleo Jacobs, Mrs. Paul Wilcox, John Holloway, Fred Riedel, Dr. William Kontras, Edward Schwartz and Franklin D. Sparks, foreman.

In the play's numerous runs in the East and Midwest the defendant has been found "not guilty" the majority of the times.

Stage crews for the production constructed the setting to resemble a court room. D. K. Finley, presiding judge, was seated on stage. At his side was a built up jury box, seating the 12 Hilltop jurors.

A stellar performance was turned in by the entire cast with special credit due Charlotte Alexander for her part as Karen Andre; Virginia Donavan, as the stuttering Mrs. John Hutchins; Barbara Donavan, Magda Svenson, the housekeeper, who knew sin when she saw it; Anne Grubbs, as Roberta Van Rensellaer, wife of the "rubbed out" tavern owner; and Lee Koontz, as Larry Regan, gangster.

Well chosen as district attorney was David Heath. Kenny Schwartz was well cast as the defense attorney.

The supporting cast, which guaranteed the play's success, was composed of: Dr. Kirkland, played by Norman Menge; Homer Van Fleet, played by Joseph Hague; Elmer Sweeny, played by W. W. Marot; Nancy Lee Faulkner, portrayed by Betty Moon; Dr. P. L. Cordray as John Graham Whitofeld; Fay Husson, as Jane Chandler; Art Essman, as Sigurd Junquist; Howard Moon, as the court bailiff, and Hazel Bercaw, as prison matron, who had no difficulty taking care of the prisoner or her large keys to jail. Dorothy Hague, Catherine Belhorn and Marie Wilkins were additional court employees.

Hilltop Polio Victims Recovering Due To Community Help In Fund Drives

By Myron T. Seifert

Polio strikes sometimes where it is least expected. Ask several Hilltop families, who know from first hand the extent of its ravages, and they'll reaffirm this thesis.

Patient Denny Sipe, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert P. Young, 276 S. Roys-av, who was 5 years old last Dec. 22, and whose parents live in Delaware, has been responding to treatment during his more than 5½ month stay at Children's Hospital. Mr. Young is with the Young Insurance Agency, 22 E. Gay-st.

Denny is a respirator case, and was doing quite well up until Christmas when he contracted pneumonia, and his progress was somewhat retarded; however recent reports from the hospital show that he is again on the mend and expects soon to try out many of those newfangled gadgets which he received from Santa at Christmas.

A half year is a long time to be housed in any hospital, and especially if one is incarcerated in an iron lung. Denny, however, has learned a long time ago that if he is to get well again, and he is as confident that it "won't be long", he must persevere and have faith—and Denny has done just that.

His progress is short of a miracle. With two strikes against him—first the measles, and then followed by the polio bug, Denny is staging a real comeback.

Denny's partial recovery is phenomenal, and his morale and spirit has been helped visibly by the visits and personal attention given him by his parents and his Hilltop relatives and friends. Dr. John P. Riepenhoff, 2532 Sullivant-av, is one of Denny's attending physicians at the hospital.

Mrs. Young, who has been a member of Twig 4, of the Children's Hospital, for the past several years, now has more than a membership interest in polio; for she has seen with her own eyes what medical science can do for her nephew.

The Youngs have been constant visitors on the second floor of Children's Hospital where the polio patients are housed; more than a 100 visitations have been made by them since blond, blue-eyed Denny took sick.

Don Jhensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jhensen, 429 S. Terrace-av, now recovered from polio, can tell how it feels to be well once more.

Ill but a few days, with a throat disorder, and some pains in his neck, Don was rushed to Children's Hospital last March. Discharged after treatment of two months in the hospital, Don, a 7A at West High School, is grateful to all who made his recovery so quickly. Don was in the iron lung three weeks.

Except for a brace on his left arm, he now leads an almost normal life. Jan. 16 and 17, Don treaked with his Hilltop Lutheran Boy Scout troop to Camp Lazarus, Delawre, embarking on his first excursion away from home since he was stricken.

Richard and David Eagan, ages nine and five respectively, sons of Mr .and Mrs. Edward Eagan, 265 S. Southampton-av, were rushed to the Children's Hospital for polio diagnosis and treatment last September following but a day or two of illness at home.

Within a period of three weeks, the boys were pronounced "cured" and returned home.

Mother Eagan is ringing door bells during the National Polio Drive in behalf of the movement that has a personal interest to her and Dad Eagan, manager of Kroger Market, at Hague and Sullivant, lending his every support to see that everything possible is done on the Hilltop in particular to sustain this all-important campaign.

"Democracy Not Static," Fred J. Milligan Says

John Q. Public has come a long way in seven generations but his problems are different with each generation and he must be constantly alert in the years ahead or he will face disaster, is the opinion of Fred J. Milligan when he spoke at the Hillcrest Men's Brotherhood Tuesday evening.

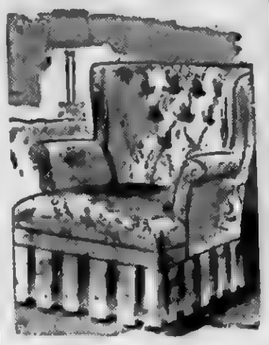
Below are excerpts from Milligan's speech "The Incomparable John Q."

"Democracy is not a static structure like a cathedral or a skyscraper. Once erected it cannot be expected to stand by itself from generation to generation. It is a living organism, and therefore must be cared for, guarded, nurtured and guided.

"Freedom is never gained by default. Therefore the blessings of freedom must be earned and by hard work. Boasting of our progress in science and invention will not excuse our failures in political and economic affairs.

"Those things easily acquired are not long appreciated. The blessings of freedom are taken for granted by too many people today who have developed the 'gimme' complex.

"More people live longer and better today in America than in any previous generation. But fewer people are actively interested in Government than in any previous generation.



"Political apathy leads to dependency thence to slavery. Since 1900 the percentage of eligible voters who go to the polls on election day has dropped from 75% to 45%. During the same period the opportunity to participate has expanded enormously. Those who faced bitter hardships to secure freedom would be shamed by our gasping for personal security.

"All the early pioneer wanted was an opportunity to succeed. All that many of us want today is an assurance that somebody else will take care of us from the cradle to the grave.

"There have been seven generations of John Q's in the past 174 years—that's since the Declaration of Independence. They have fought seven wars, suffered seven depressions and yet we have the highest standard of living and the oldest continuous form of Government in existence anywhere in the world today.

"Here are seven major objectives for John Q: (1) A lasting peace, (2) military preparedness, (3) support United Nations, (4) achieve economic stability, (5) fully support our competitive free enterprise economic system, (6) establish adequate machine to prevent labor-management disputes from paralyzing the national economy, (7) defeat political apathy by increasing citizen interest in Government affairs."

HILLTOPPER RECOVERING

George Wolfe, 856 Midland-av, is recovering from an illness and will be confined to his bed for several weeks. Mr. Wolfe is president of the Res-Bow Improvement Association.

Wife: "Oh, dear, I'm always forgetting."
Husband: "So I notice. Always for getting this or for getting that!"

'News Boys Able, Dependable' Hyer

By Myron T. Seifert

Newspapers are an integral part of our democracy—and the newspaper boy who makes your current reading profitable and enjoyable is an important cog in the machinery of dissemination of the news. The newspaper industry has come a long way from the old days when any boy could have a newspaper route.

Take it from John Hyer, 604 Columbian-av, circulation manager of the Columbus Citizen, who started with the local newspaper in 1930 and came up through the ranks to his present position. Hyer, by virtue of his experience, can really pick boys to do this important task.

"Twenty-five years ago," Hyer says, "any and every boy could carry papers, but today the boys are selected in the same manner that any personnel head would select employes for his organization.

"A paper route offers the boy many advantages, and his promotion, as in industry, is dependent upon his own initiative and ability.

"The good student, for the most part, makes the best paper boy, records show. We are eternally on the alert to enlist the services of such boys and, of course, the boy must be physically able to perform the chores on his route.

"Parents are consulted also before the boy is contracted and a co-operative agency of parent, son and newspaper is established.

"An achievement-accounting record of each carrier, financially and educationally, is on file at the office of the three Hilltop substations. This record card shows the grades the boy makes in school at the end of each grading period."

As in any business transaction, the boy and the circulation department of the newspaper enter into a written agreement, with the mutual consent of the parent or guardian, either or both. This indenture is a protection to both the boy and the newspaper.

When a boy has been on the newspaper honor roll for a period of six months he is qualified to become a "master carrier," making him eligible for extra special awards, including pins and a wide variety of entertainments such as circuses and baseball games.

Then again the newspaper boy has an opportunity to rate a wide variety of educational trips throughout the country by virtue of establishing a service record to his customers and getting results on his respective route.

Some time after the first of the year, Mr. Hyer said, an award banquet will be held to honor the outstanding boys, and some girls, for service they have rendered to themselves and the newspaper.

"Ninety-nine per cent of the boys are honest," Hyer says, "and we can put implicit faith and confidence in them." Only four boys out of every 100 cause headaches for the sub-station manager and the customers, according to records, he added.

"The customer himself decides in the final analysis whether his newspaper boy is dependable," said Hyer. All compliments and criticisms, therefore, come from the subscriber.

Mr. Hyer observed that "a boy who carries a newspaper route for six months or longer is dependable in nine cases out of ten."

Clyde Good Sends China Newspaper

Capt. Clyde C. Good, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Good, 334 S. Roys-av, now stationed with the headquarters air division in Shanghai, China, recently sent some Chinese newspapers giving a good idea of the situation in Shanghai today.

Headlines of the two papers dealt with the skyward leap of prices and the continued fighting between Chinese nationalists and the red armies.

An editorial in the "China Press" revealed that nationalist forces are not in the mood for surrender. Foreign Minister Wu-Te-chen was quoted as saying, "This is a war cabinet and not a surrender cabinet." The "Press" spoke of the equal determination of President Chiang Kai-shek. The article read, "To almost everyone in the country (China) peace does look so desirable and tempting that it may make even the heartiest soul waver, but to Chiang, who looks at things from a hilltop, so to speak, peace is possible only after the teeth have been knocked out of Communism, for only then will peace seem desirable."

Another interesting editorial was noted, which dealt with clippings of American columnists, who had expressed their opinions on the Chinese situation. A particularly bitter attack was launched against Mark Sullivan for his conclusion that probably a great deal of China's present troubles originated in the Alger Hiss schemozzle. Sullivan's conclusion was based on the fact that Mr. Hiss was once in the office of Dr. Stanley K. Hornbeck, who advised President Roosevelt on the Far East. Knowing that Hiss has been accused of a great many mysterious things, Sullivan presumed that he might be mixed up in China's trouble too.

The editorial columnist's opinion on this matter was amusing. He said, "This sort of newspaper writing depresses us greatly. It makes us reflect on the fact that we too are overweight and getting no younger. Can it be that in time we shall find ourselves so lazy, useless and out of touch with real newsgathering that we shall start spinning mental spiderwebs out of moonbeams, maybe helped out by an occasional draught of moonshine."

West Takes 61-48 Win From South

By Dave Miller

The West High Cowboys took a 61 to 48 decision over the South Bulldogs last Tuesday night in a very bitterly-fought affair on the Cowboy court.

The win by the cowboys coupled with Central's triumph over East, opened up the City League's first division somewhat. West is still on top with four wins and one loss; Central has won three and lost one; and South and East bowed out of the fight for the top honors.

Our Cowboys were never once behind in the fray, thanks mainly to the alert shooting and passing of their two scoring aces, Chuck Weeks and Paul Theisen. Dick Culbertson opened the night's scoring with a long shot but Paul Ebert of the visitors quickly matched that with a duo of free tosses. Culbertson sank another long set shot and Theisen followed with a free throw and Cowboys were off and running.

From there on in, they never trailed nor did they manage a tie with the Bulldogs. The period then started to slow down somewhat and after Harry Nicholson of the ultimate losers sank a hook, Chuck Weeks and Paul Theisen chipped in a goal apiece and the quarter ended, 12-5.

The second quarter was played a lot like the first. After Weeks and Zubovich of South matched goals. Theisen, Phil Young and Dick Culbertson all followed with successive baskets to put the Hilltoppers out on top, 20-7, this being the biggest lead the ultimate winners ever held thus far.

The fireworks then started to bank away and the crowd then got to watch each team at its offensive best. The Cowboys scored 11 straight points before the Bug Hood-coached visitors could finally score. Bill Thrush, Weeks, Young and Culbertson all chipped in on this parade of points.

South finally scored when Nicholson and Zubovich teamed together for three points. After Paul Theisen's fielder, the Cowboys held their biggest lead of the night of 17 points which made the score 38-21. South then closed the gap to 40-25, but three quickies by Bill Camp, made the third period end, 40-31.

A total of 38 points swished the nets in the big fourth and final canto for both teams. Biggest lead held by the Cowboys in this period was 51-36, midway of period, just following Theisen's free toss.

The game ended up with West using what will probably be next semester's team. The five are Fred Adams, Phil Young, Jim Rudolph, Bill Thrush and Chuck Frasher. However, the lineup missed Dick Culbertson, who had went out of the game late in the final period via personal foul route.

The game's top point-maker was big Chuck Weeks, who time after time, would take the ball up out of a scramble and throw in a hook or push shot. He netted 16 markers. Paul Theisen hit for 13 to share runner-up spot with Harry Nicholson, Frank Zubovich and Bill Camp, all of Scuth. Theisen had a great record on free throws, making seven out of nine. All in all, this season he has made 33 free throws out of 56 attempts.

The reserve game was again a real thriller with the West seconds doing the same as the varsity by winning their fourth loop tilt in five outings. The score was 43 to 39, in a well-played game. West never led until 2:34 of the third period when Dave Caton made good on a longie and the quarter ended in West's favor, 32-30. From there, with the visitors putting up some comeback play, the Cals were never headed.

Top scorer in this game was Bob Strawster of South with 16 points, while Paul Ellingsworth and Dave Caton followed with 14 and 12 points, respectively. Top scorer of the reserves at this time is Caton with a total of 55 points followed by Ellingsworth, who has 48.

There will be no game this Friday night with the local cagers taking a rest up for a game with a tough East High quintet next Tuesday evening at East. It will be the final game of the City League play for West's two top scoring players, Weeks and Theisen, both of whom graduate. However, the latter two will be able to play in West's game at Middletown next Friday night and at Hamilton the following night.

West High School's 4 Sets of Twins Leave Teachers, Friends Bewildered

By Myron T. Seifert

Who's Who among four sets of twins at West High School stumps even many of their most intimate friends. Teachers sometimes are victims of mistaken identity. This is particularly true at the beginning of each semester, when the teacher frequently has to inquire, "Are you Ike or Mike?" or some similar remark. Only by close observation, sometimes, can the real name and persons be learned.

Let's look at the "troublesome" twins who confuse their neighbors and friends.

Take, for example, Corinne and Connie Taylor, 110 S. Westgate-av, who are 18. They have perplexed teachers many times. Even their names are confusing. Is it Corinne or is it Connie? Both graduate this January.

Fifteen-year-old Wilma and William Vawters, 2186 Springmont-av, age 15, and children of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew F. Vawters, besides their school duties, have some interesting discussions. Wilma collects pennants from schools throughout the country, and Bill goes all out for sports.

Malcolm and Marian Ator, 265 S. Richardson-av, age 16, and 11B's at West High, have many ambitions. Parents are Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Ator.

The musicians, Joy and Jean Wright, 1708 Walsh-av, age 15, have aspirations to become concert artists. Favorite sports of both are horseback riding and basketball.

Collision Injures Mrs. Grace Harter

Mrs. Grace Harter, 43, 3190 McKinley-av, was in fair condition in Mt. Carmel Hospital Friday. She suffered possible fractures of both hips, rib fractures and a head laceration as a result of an auto-truck collision at Cambridge-blvd and U. S. Rt. 33, Upper Arlington, the night of Jan. 13.

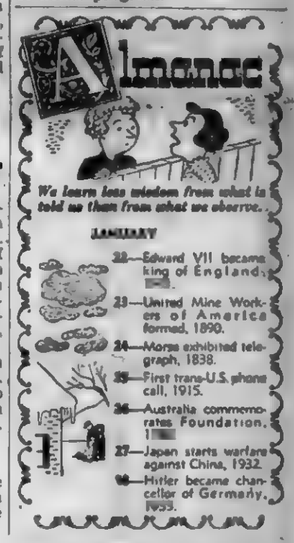
Mrs. Harter was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Leora M. Betsch, 251 S. Westgate-av, who was uninjured. Upper Arlington emergency squadmen took Mrs. Harter to the hospital.

The suggested reason for the vexing problem as to why men leave home is that they don't like to stay there alone.

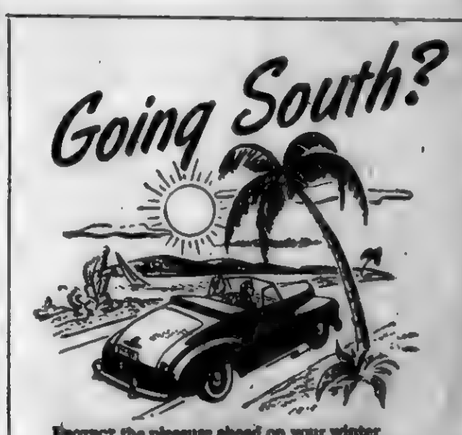
Westway Post to Meet Jan. 21 In Club Rooms

Westway Post No. 3441 will hold an open meeting Jan. 21 at 8 p. m., in the post club rooms. The Blue Star Mothers of the Hilltop are invited guests.

A euchre game will be held Feb. 7 at 8 p. m., in post hall, for the purpose of purchasing uniforms for the post degree team. The game is open to the public.



A post birthday party and banquet will be held Feb. 16 at 8 p. m., in the post hall. Reservations must be in by Feb. 10 for the banquet, which is open to the public. Chairmen are Herbert Kunzi and George Chambers.



There will be a regular post and auxiliary meeting Feb. 4 at the post hall, 2393½ W. Broad-st.

West Takes 61-48 Win From South

By Dave Miller

The West High Cowboys took a 61 to 48 decision over the South Bulldogs last Tuesday night in a very bitterly-fought affair on the Cowboy court.

The win by the cowboys coupled with Central's triumph over East, opened up the City League's first division somewhat. West is still on top with four wins and one loss; Central has won three and lost one; and South and East bowed out of the fight for the top honors.

Our Cowboys were never once behind in the fray, thanks mainly to the alert shooting and passing of their two scoring aces, Chuck Weeks and Paul Theisen. Dick Culbertson opened the night's scoring with a long shot but Paul Ebert of the visitors quickly matched that with a duo of free tosses. Culbertson sank another long set shot and Theisen followed with a free throw and Cowboys were off and running.

From there on in, they never trailed nor did they manage a tie with the Bulldogs. The period then started to slow down somewhat and after Harry Nicholson of the ultimate losers sank a hook, Chuck Weeks and Paul Theisen chipped in a goal apiece and the quarter ended, 12-5.

The second quarter was played a lot like the first. After Weeks and Zubovich of South matched goals. Theisen, Phil Young and Dick Culbertson all followed with successive baskets to put the Hilltoppers out on top, 20-7, this being the biggest lead the ultimate winners ever held thus far.

The fireworks then started to bank away and the crowd then got to watch each team at its offensive best. The Cowboys scored 11 straight points before the Bug Hood-coached visitors could finally score. Bill Thrush, Weeks, Young and Culbertson all chipped in on this parade of points.

South finally scored when Nicholson and Zubovich teamed together for three points. After Paul Theisen's fielder, the Cowboys held their biggest lead of the night of 17 points which made the score 38-21. South then closed the gap to 40-25, but three quickies by Bill Camp, made the third period end, 40-31.

A total of 38 points swished the nets in the big fourth and final canto for both teams. Biggest lead held by the Cowboys in this period was 51-38, midway of period, just following Theisen's free toss.

The game ended up with West using what will probably be next semester's team. The five are Fred Adams, Phil Young, Jim Rudolph, Bill Thrush and Chuck Frasher. However, the lineup missed Dick Culbertson, who had went out of the game late in the final period via personal foul route.

The game's top point-maker was big Chuck Weeks, who time after time, would take the ball up out of a scramble and throw in a hook or push shot. He netted 16 markers. Paul Theisen hit for 13 to share runner-up spot with Harry Nicholson, Frank Zubovich and Bill Camp, all of South. Theisen had a great record on free throws, making seven out of nine. All in all, this season he has made 33 free throws out of 56 attempts.

The reserve game was again a real thriller with the West seconds doing the same as the varsity by winning their fourth loop tilt in five outings. The score was 43 to 39, in a well-played game. West never led until 2:34 of the third period when Dave Caton made good on a longie and the quarter ended in West's favor, 32-30. From there, with the visitors putting up some comeback play, the Cats were never headed.

Top scorer in this game was Bob Strawster of South with 16 points, while Paul Ellingsworth and Dave Caton followed with 14 and 12 points, respectively. Top scorer of the reserves at this time is Caton with a total of 55 points followed by Ellingsworth, who has 48.

There will be no game this Friday night with the local cagers taking a rest up for a game with a tough East High quintet next Tuesday evening at East. It will be the final game of the City League play for West's two top scoring players, Weeks and Theisen, both of whom graduate. However, the latter two will be able to play in West's game at Middletown next Friday night and at Hamilton the following night.

One day a tenant of his found a motorcar stuck in the mud and charged the owner five dollars for pulling it out. When the farmer heard about it he was greatly grieved and denounced his tenant roundly for such an ungenerous act.

Finally he said to him, "Well, John, I'll let you off this time if you can quote scripture for what you have done."

To which John replied: "He was a stranger and I took him in."

West High School's 4 Sets of Twins Leave Teachers, Friends Bewildered

By Myron T. Seifert

Who's Who among four sets of twins at West High School stumps even many of their most intimate friends. Teachers sometimes are victims of mistaken identity. This is particularly true at the beginning of each semester, when the teacher frequently has to inquire, "Are you Ike or Mike?" or some similar remark. Only by close observation, sometimes, can the real name and persons be learned.

Let's look at the "troublesome" twins who confuse their neighbors and friends.

Take, for example, Corinne and Connie Taylor, 110 S. Westgate-av, who are 18. They have perplexed teachers many times. Even their names are confusing. Is it Corinne or is it Connie? Both graduate this January.

Fifteen-year-old Wilma and William Vawters, 2185 Springmont-av, age 15, and children of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew F. Vawters, besides their school duties, have some interesting discussions. Wilma collects pennants from schools throughout the country, and Bill goes all out for sports.

Malcolm and Marian Ator, 265 S. Richardson-av, age 16, and 11B's at West High, have many ambitions. Parents are Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Ator.

The musicians, Joy and Jean Wright, 1708 Walsh-av, age 15, have aspirations to become concert artists. Favorite sports of both are horseback riding and basketball.

Collision Injures Mrs. Grace Harter

Mrs. Grace Harter, 43, 3190 McKinley-av, was in fair condition in Mt. Carmel Hospital Friday. She suffered possible fractures of both hips, rib fractures and a head laceration as a result of an auto-truck collision at Cambridge-blvd and U. S. Rt. 33, Upper Arlington, the night of Jan. 13.

Mrs. Harter was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Leora M. Betsch, 251 S. Westgate-av, who was uninjured. Upper Arlington emergency squadmen took Mrs. Harter to the hospital.

The suggested reason for the vexing problem as to why men leave home is that they don't like to stay there alone.

Westway Post to Meet Jan. 21 In Club Rooms

Pirates Take 50-47 Win Over West

By Dave Miller

Central High's Pirates took a 50 to 47 decision from the West Cowboys last Friday on the West court, handing the locals their first loss in league play.

The setback was the second in nine starts this season for the Cowboys. They beat Newark, Grandview, Aquinas, Chillicothe, Fostoria, North and Linden McKinley while losing to Bexley and Central.

Dave Caldwell was high man for the evening with 18 tallies, Chuck Weeks got 14 and Phil Young of West and Ralph Readout of Central both got 12.

In the opening period Dave Caldwell, lanky Pirate center, tossed through two straight buckets before West noticed what was happening. Charlie Frasher sank a long one and Dick Culbertson stole the ball from Guard Bob Cooper of Central and dribbled down the court for a bucket to quickly tie the game up. Caldwell and Paul Theisen both contributed buckets for their respective teams and the score was again tied. Al Harrison then sank a free toss and a trip in to give Central a 9-8 lead. From there on, until Chuck Frasher and Paul Theisen tossed through two straight buckets to give West a 14-13 advantage, Central held the upper hand.

But Al Harrison of the Bucs sank a long shot and the first quarter ended in the visitors' favor, 16-14.

Chuck Weeks sank a hook to give West an early second stanza lead of 16-15, but Ralph Readout sank two free throws and Al Harrison managed three points to give the ultimate winners a 20-16 advantage. However, Paul Theisen got three points and Phil Young chipped in a long one-handed pusher to give the Cowboys the upper hand, 21-20. Dave Caldwell and Dick Culbertson matched goals, but the former, and George Marshall, collected two straight field goals to put Central ahead, 26-23. Following this, Weeks and Marshall matched goals, but then the locals started their spurt that gave them a halftime lead.

Weeks sank a free throw and Young made good on a push shot to give West a 30 to 28 halftime lead.

For the first couple of minutes in the third period, Central scored a duo of buckets to every one West was able to make. However, West kept fighting and midway in the quarter they held a 36-32 lead. Cooper sank a goal for Central, but Theisen sank a free toss for West's last point in a quarter which looked like a high scoring one, but ended with only seven points for West. George Marshall and Ralph Readout sank goals apiece while Caldwell sank two to give Central a commanding lead of 42-37 at the period's end.

In the fourth period, the Cowboys never once led and the game ended with a Central win of 50-47 over the Cowboys.

The reserve game was a real thriller and the West seconds, like the varsity, lost their first league tilt, a 29-27 decision to the Cetnral seconds. The reserves this season have won four games and lost three. They beat Bexley, Aquinas, North and Linden McKinley while losing out to Grandview, Newark and Central.

James Hairston of Central reserves was top man with 15 points while Caton and Ellingsworth each collected nine for West.

Linden Jr. High Wins Over West

By Dave Miller

Linden McKinley Junior High's basketball quintet won its first contest of the season by taking a 31 to 21 win over our West Junior courters on the winners' floor last Friday afternoon.

The local Broncos never were in the ball game until three minutes were left in the third period when they took a 17-16 lead on Jerry Trabue's pivot. However, their star fouled out less than a minute later and Linden McKinley went back into the lead for keeps.

Linden Juniors took a quick lead in the opening period. From then on, until the middle of the third period, they held the upper hand.

Doug Clark, Jerry Trabue and Dick Hutchison of West each sank goals later in the quarter and Larry Crawford sank one for Linden to make the first quarter 7-4 in Linden's favor.

Trabue's field goal for West early in the second period closed Linden's gap to just one point. However, Bob Sengel of Linden and Larry Safreed sank free tosses while Lou Troutman, also of Linden, was racking in a goal and a free throw.

Johnson's three free tosses and Trottman's two nice pivot shots were the final points made in the quarter, which ended with Linden ahead, 16-9.

West Junior outscored their opposition in the third period, 10-5, and appeared to be on the comeback trail, but their efforts failed in the final period.

The locals couldn't even hit for a bucket in the fourth period but scored their only two points on Douglas Clark's two straight free throws.

Top scorer of the game was Lou Troutman of the winners with 14; Trabue, who played only three quarters, had an eight-point total.

This was the last game of the season for two players on the West Junior list, because the local courters draw the league bye this week. They will lose Jerry Johnson, who also plays first base in baseball, and scored 11 points last year in basketball and 37 markers in five games this year. Jerry also was captain of every West Junior game this season. Another loss will be Kenny Anderson, brother of former West High cager, Don. Anderson played basketball last season and scored four points and has eight points this season.

Marilyn Vincent First Hilltop Girl Accepted

Marilyn Vincent, 19, daughter of Mrs. Addie Vincent, 462 S. Terrace-av, has been approved by the reviewing board at Fort Hayes, for acceptance in the Women's Army Corps, regular army. Miss Vincent is not only the first Hilltop girl to be approved for the WAC, she is the first woman from the city of Columbus to win final approval. Selection is on a competitive basis and those who apply for enlistment must be between the ages of 18 and 34, must have a high school diploma, no dependents and be single, widowed or divorced. They must attain a score of 90 or above on the mental aptitude test, pass the interview board and a physical examination. All applicants are investigated before processing and final approval or disapproval is made by higher headquarters at Ft. Hayes.

Miss Vincent, formerly a cashier at the YMCA, is a graduate of West High School.

She will be accompanied by her friend and fellow employee, newly enlisted Joyce Echelberry of Westerville, when she reports to the WAC Training Center at Camp Lee, Va., Jan. 22, for a 10-week basic training period.

Following basic training, Miss Vincent will attend one of the specialized schools which the army has opened to its women soldiers, before being assigned to a permanent post. Her enlistment is for a two year period.

Dick Slager, Versatile West Athlete, Now Established As OSU Grid Star

By Morris Rokeach

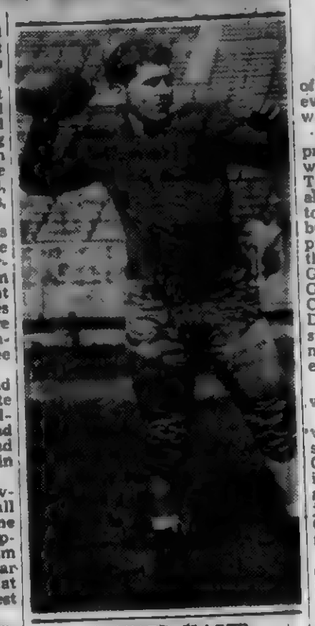
Ed. Note — This is the second in a series about former West High athletes and what they are doing now.

As an outstanding athlete at West High, Dick Slager earned 13 varsity athletic awards and had the distinction of winning more athletic monograms than any athlete in West's history. He earned three letters in football, basketball, baseball and tennis, and one in track.

Not much is known of Dick's ability as a tennis star, because his feats there have been overshadowed by his performance on the gridiron. However, Dick went to the state high school singles finals as a netter in 1946 before losing to Cincinnati's Tony Traberi, champion for the past three years.

He is an ambitious athlete and his achievements at Ohio State have been numerous. Slager alternated between football and baseball in the spring of 1947 and between football and tennis in 1948.

After spearheading West's Cowboys to triumphs on the football field, Dick field-generaled the Southern Ohio all-stars to an upset victory over the North team in the inaugural Ohio All-Star gridiron contest of 1946. That gave Dick one of his biggest thrills in sports.



Dick rapidly established himself as a football star at Ohio State because of his passing ability. In two seasons of play for the Scarlet and Gray Dick proved his ability, competing against some of the best football talent from the state of Ohio, and by the end of the 1948 season he started to come into his own as a tailback.

Operating without adequate protection as a passer from the "T" formation in Coach Wes Fesler's first season at the helm, Dick seldom found his mark because he had to hurry his passes. Slager alternated with Pandel Savic at quarter that year and completed 19 of 69 tries for 236 yards gained.

Last year Slager operated from the single wing post, where his ability as a combined passer and runner became clearly evident. In the annual Red-White spring clinic game, Dick completed seven of 12 aerials and tossed three touchdown passes.

Coach Wes Fesler believes that Dick Slager will have his greatest season next year when Ohio State is given an excellent chance to cop the Western Conference crown. Experience, poise and determination are bound to make Dick one of the best passers in Scarlet and Gray annals.

Scholastically, Dick is an honor student, maintaining better than a 3.0 cumulative point hour ratio in pre-medicine. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. During the past four summers, Dick has been a public park supervisor. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Forman W. Slager, 3122 Wicklow-rd.

RICHARD SLAGER
Ohio State Halfback

DICK SLAGER, former West High athlete, earned 13 varsity awards while at the Hilltop school. He is now fully established as a grid star at Ohio State. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Forman W. Slager, 3122 Wicklow.

"He knows his business from the ground down."

"You mean the ground up, don't you?"

"No, he happens to be a miner."

Highlights From Glenwood Recreation Center

Hi, kids, this is the beginning of many important "special events" here at Glenwood so keep watching The Hilltop Record.

First, and at long last, we are proud to announce that the Glenwood grand opening will be held Tuesday, Feb. 1. We hereby invite all of our friends on the Hilltop to visit our newly decorated building at this time. A special program has been planned and the doors open at 6 o'clock. The Glenwood Girls' Club, Boys' Club, G. A. Club, Photo Club and Press Club, along with Jerry Geroux, Dick Koontz and Patty Matthews, supervisors, are working hard to make this the biggest grand opening in Columbus.

Dancing will start in the Glenwood ballroom at 8 p. m.

The first parent night of 1949 will be held Friday, Jan. 21, starting at 7 p. m. All four of the Glenwood basketball teams, junior juniors, junior, intermediate and senior, will be in action. The junior juniors vs. Second Avenue Church will open the bill at 7 p. m. All parents are invited.

St. Aloysius defeated St. Vincent's basketball team, 30 to 24, to remain undefeated, with Jack Wihl scoring 12 points. The St. Aloysius reserves dropped a hard fought game to the Glenwood junior juniors, 28 to 26. Larry Houston led Glenwood in scoring, with 10 points.

We need more of you fellows and girls at our Wednesday dances. Why last week even Jim Bond, Lee Graybill and "Booty" Wilkes were cutting rugs.

What is this new game, "Corners", that John Wilkes, Jack Fleisher, Bill Dawson, Jim Bush and Dick Koontz play with a basketball?

The Girls' Club held a pot-luck supper in the craft room by candle light.

Well, goodbye kids, see you next week.

Your Press Club reporter,
Wilma Russell.

State of Union, Good?

President Truman may find himself out on a limb as a result of his recent State of the Union message to Congress. Truman proved himself a true new dealer and a strong force in the democratic party, when he politely ignored economic trends in the country and arbitrarily insisted on backing up his party's platform and campaign speeches.

In Truman's opinion the "State of the Union" is good but business men perched on a peak of nervous prosperity are not so sure. Higher corporate taxes and increased middle and upper income taxes are bringing cries of "help" from business. Truman's answer is "if private industry refuses to build plants and to keep up production, the Government will step in with a loan for any necessary expansion of plant capacity."

After eyeing Congress warily for some months farmers are fairly assured tha their present prosperity will continue. Congress has promised a continuation of farm supports and a far-reaching agricultural program later in the year.

On the labor side people on both sides of the fence are predicting that the 81st Congress will make the closed shop legal again. Truman himself has asked for repeal of the Taft-Hartley act. But he qualified this repeal by asking amendment of the Wagner Act as follows: "Jurisdictional strikes and unjustifiable secondary boycotts should be prohibited. The use of economic force to decide issues arising out of interpretation of existing wage contracts should be prevented." This is called for in the Taft-Hartley Act.

Market trends and price developments in recent months have raised storm signals ahead. Truman's program may wind up behind the 8-ball. Generally opinion of Hilltop business men is for the government to leave business alone. Credit men in particular in this area have predicted a bad season for debtors.

Truman's program as viewed by the Hilltopper will either give business a serious set-back or will allow for the return to normalcy so long awaited.

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

THE MUD OR THE STARS?

ONE day I dropped in at the University of Chicago and asked Chancellor Robert Maynard Hutchins how he kept from worrying. He replied, "I have always tried to follow a bit of advice given me by the late Julius Rosenwald, president of Sears, Roebuck and company: "When you have a lemon handed you, make a lemonade."

D. Carnegie

Here is the story of a woman who did just that. During the war Mrs. Thelma Thompson of New York City, was living in New Mexico in order to be near her husband who was stationed near the Mojave Desert. She hated, loathed the place; she had never been so miserable. Her husband was out on maneuvers in the desert and she was left all alone in a tiny shack. The heat—125 degrees—was unbearable. There was not a soul to talk to but Mexicans and Indians and they couldn't speak English. The wind blew incessantly and there was sand, sand everywhere, even in the food. She was so wretched that she wrote her parents she wanted to come home. She said she would rather be in jail than where she was.

Her father replied to her letter with just two lines:

"Two men looked out from prison bars,
One saw the mud, the other saw stars."

Those two lines changed her entire life. She was ashamed of how sorry she had been for herself and she made up her mind that she would look for the stars. So she made friends of the natives and their reactions amazed her. She showed an interest in their pottery and weaving and they gave her wonderful pieces, favorite pieces that they refused to sell to tourists. She studied the fascinating flora around her, watched sunsets, hunted for seashells that had been left there millions of years before when the sands of the desert had been an ocean floor

What changed all this for her? Well, the desert and her surroundings hadn't changed. But her attitude had, and her life had become filled with exciting adventure.

She was so excited that she wrote a book about it, called the "Bright Ramparts." She had looked out of her self-created Hades and found the stars.

One of the most remarkable things in this world is the power you have over your own mind!

Starling Holds Court of Honor

Starling Junior High School had its annual court of honor on Thursday, Jan. 13. There were 88 pages, 28 esquires and six knights. The program was a very interesting one, beginning with a song, "Father Hear The Prayer We Offer," by Mozart, sung by the graduating class. A speech, "Know the Importance of Choosing a Vocation," was given by Sue Stetesbury. Next, Mr. Moore, past commander of the American Legion Post No. 1, presented to Gail Grubb and Clarence Hoodlet the American Legion awards. Another song by the graduating class followed, "My Own America," by Wrubel. The next speaker was Robert Howard, who spoke on "Choosing a Life Occupation." The January meeting of the Rome Study Club was held at the home of Mrs. Carls, Maple-dr. After the regular business of the club, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. James Whalen, program chairman, who introduced Mrs. C. C. Shorts, who gave two book reviews, "The Round-Dog Man" and "Cheaper by the Dozen" by Frank Gilbrith, Jr., and Ernestine. The review was well received. Guests for the evening were Mrs. Freda Anderson, Mrs. O. T. English, Mrs. Kent Richey and Mrs. Larsen. The hostesses were Mrs. Sue Calland, Mrs. Helen Garnett, Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. Carls. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. M. Whalen, Buena Vista.

The baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Smith, Norton-rd, who has been in the hospital for several weeks, is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. English entertained the Monitors of the Columbia Heights Church Saturday evening. There were 20 in attendance and they made plans for a supper to be held at the church Mar. 19. Dick Glass, who had spent several years in Iceland, gave a talk on that country.

The dedication service of the organ was held by the members of Columbia Heights Church Sunday evening. "The Blind Ploughman," sung by Mr. Mussard, accompanied by Rev. Rose at the organ and Mrs. Mussard at the piano, was part of the program. Mr. Mussard, tenor, is a student at Ohio Wesleyan and has sung over Stations WRFD and WOSU. Mrs. Lewis of Worthington is a former pupil of Jascha Heifitz.

Dear Dean: Of course college education helps. Before I went to college I had a job sweeping out the cellar of a clothing store. After four years at your institution I am now sweeping out the main floor. Yours,
Simon Dingurmung.

FOR JAN. 23

'Be Prepared' Is Still Watchword of Christian Progress

"BE PREPARED" is a watchword written largely over our life today. Its significance is largely in the area of security and military preparedness, but it has a very much larger application to the whole of life and to every enterprise and venture. It is an important watchword in religion.

"Preparation" is written over every aspect of the ministry of Jesus, the missionary labors of Saint Paul, and the whole story of the founding of Christianity.

John the Baptist, whom Jesus called the greatest of all men born of women, prepared the way, and called for preparation: "Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make His paths straight."

But that was only the beginning of the Christian preparation. We must never forget the long period of preparation in the life of Jesus himself, the nearly 18 silent years in Nazareth before He began His public ministry. Nor should we forget Paul's silent years, the long preparation before he launched out on his missionary journeys.

Think of the boy Jesus in Nazareth, waiting patiently, preparing fully, obediently listening, before He began that ministry, which was to last so shortly in earthly years, but which was to be timeless and endless in its truth and blessing for mankind. Nothing in God's providence is accomplished without discipline and preparation.

Education, of course, is not all. The poet Tennyson prayed in "In Memoriam" that knowledge should grow from more to more, but along with more of reverence. And Paul's prayer for the disciples was that their love should abound more and more in knowledge, and in discernment.

But without education and the discipline of scholars we could not have had our English Bible, or the church, or all the valued things that despisers of education forget that education made possible.

But it is well to remember that the greatest of all ministries, the ministry of Jesus, had back of it years of preparation. The same applies to the ministry of Paul. "Be prepared" is still the watchword of Christian progress.

Every normal man has two ambitions: first, to own his home; second, to own a car to get away from his home.

Cave-boy calls his sweetie Carburetor—only chicks her when she's cold.

He's such a pessimist he would look for bones in animal crackers.

Fashion Design Hobby of West Girls Who Style, Make and Model Gowns

By Myron T. Seifert

Whether it's "lavender blue" or aquamarine, West High girls look well in any gown creation, particularly when they are designed, fashioned and made by themselves. "They look as well as anything Irene or Adrian designed in Hollywood," commented a casual observer.

Experience and guidance in dress-making with the help of Mrs. Rhoda O'Harra, sewing instructor at the Hilltop school, made possible the gowns which can be used on many occasions by the girls. As models the girls are representative of the type of skilled seamstresses who are enrolled in the sewing studio at West High School.

Each student has an opportunity to build into the gown her own ideas and personality. Initiative and ingenuity are given full sway in the West High dressmaking establishment.

Selected as bridesmaid at a recent wedding, Jena Anne McDaniel, 192 S. Hague-av, a senior, designed her aqua tissue taffeta gown for this particular occasion. She spent 30 hours on the garment at a cost of $28 for material. She eventually plans music as a career, and sewing as an avocation.

With aspirations to become a trained nurse, Mary Beeson, 382 S. Roys-av, an HB at West High, recently displayed her gown at a DeMolay dance. The gown was made from six yards of taffeta and velvet. She completed it in 13 hours working time at a cost of $9 for material.

New Year's Eve Dolores Sparks, 153 Belvidere-av, had occasion to "break-in" her dusty-rose garment, costing exactly $18.67. An overall five and one-half yardage of taffeta was used in the dress. It took Dolores 14 hours to complete the job in time for her New Year debut.

Eight yards of black taffeta and one yard of lace, costing $15.00, were made into a gown by Frances Wiseman, senior, 136 N. Warren-av, who will wear her dress to the senior prom next week.

Frances is enrolled in the sewing class and receives no credit for her work there.

Finishing her white gown on Dec. 10, night of Job's Daughters' installation, Patty Holycross, 97 Powhatan-av, wore her gown when she was installed as "Junior Princess." Costing $30 to $40, and using seven yards of material, Patty made her own pattern from a picture she admired in a magazine.

Railroad Men Adopt English Setter for Mascot

By Myron Seifert

Familiar sight to motorists who travel along W. Broad-st is Bo, seven and one-half year old English Setter dog, who may be seen almost any hour of the day or night at his appointed place on the three-foot dias, located in the show window of the Railroad assembly room at 1342 W. Broad-st.

His proud owner, Harry Watson, 40 Algonquin-av, takes pride in Bo's good grooming. Besides being handsome Bo is also an excellent hunting and watch dog, Watson claims.

Bo is practically an institution in the W. Broad-st block. He is friendly with every one and knows all the kids in the neighborhood.

Daily, children treat Bo to ice cream, sandwiches, bones, and scraps from the table.

One lady, 85, makes a special trip, nearly every day, to see that Bo doesn't go hungry.

Boon companions of Bo are railroad men who use his quarters for their lodge sessions. These railroaders, many of whom are from the Hilltop, have adopted Bo as their mascot.

Bo looks forward to his ice cream cone treat nightly from Railroader Heine Tilton.

Headquarters also for two organizations, "Railroad and steam-shop clerks, freight handlers, express and station employees, and "Boilermakers' Local," Bo is indoctrinated with the railroad philosophy.

Trained, never to step from the curb along heavily traveled W. Broad-st, Bo never crosses the street, even when at large, unless accompanied by Watson.

Reared in a friendly atmosphere of railroaders, Bo is reminded daily of a plaque that graces the wall at 1342 W. Broad-st.

It reads:

"Hail guest, we ask not who thou art;
If friend we greet thee hand and heart;
If stranger, such no longer 'be;
If foe, our love will conquer thee."

Seated on his throne Bo can also hear the railroaders talk from the "Liar's Bench."

Y Board To Elect Three Members

Three men are to be elected to membership on the Hilltop YMCA Board when the first annual meeting of the organization is held tonight at the Y building, Burgess and Broad. All three will be for three year terms.

Names of eight men have been placed in nomination by the nominating committee and nominations may be made from the floor. The candidates are Carl Turner, present member of the board who was elected for a one year term, Paul Leighninger, Joe Briggs, Ray Anderson, Howard Pennell, Frank Mason, Don Rice and Harold Mielke.

All persons holding voting memberships, are entitled to vote in the election. The meeting will be open to all members.

The constitution will be presented for approval at this meeting.

A report of activities to date as well as plans for the future will be given by C. Carlton Hartley, board chairman, Averille Thorn, executive secretary, Jerry Spears, chairman of the finance committee, and Harry Spyker, executive secretary of the Metropolitan Y.

Thompson Twins Separated After 28 Yrs. Together

Mrs. Clifford Thompson, 68 S. Harris-av, mother of identical twins, Walter and Wilbur, 28, reported Tuesday that the two boys were separated recently for the first time in 28 years.

Walter Thompson and his wife, Kitty, have left for Lake City, Fla., while Wilbur and his wife will remain at their home, 278 S. Terrace-av. Walter is transferring to a university in Florida to continue his education.

The boys were stationed together all during the war and were separated only for a brief time, while Wilbur was in the hospital with a broken leg.

The twins both married southern girls, Wilbur's wife being from Bainbridge, Ga., and Walter's wife from Daytona Beach, Fla. The original plan for a double wedding was abandoned because of Wilbur's hospitalization. Walter was married first and Wilbur followed a few months later.

Memorial Rites To Be Conducted For Two Brothers

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Stoneburner, 124 N. Ogden-av, were notified officially last week that their son, First Lt. William, and his crew lost their lives in the North Sea when their B-17 aircraft went down.

Another son of the Stoneburners, Pfc. Earl Richard, 22, was killed at Lichenberg, Germany, Apr. 8, 1945. He served with the 78th Division, 309th regiment.

Double memorial services for the sons will be conducted at 1:30 p. m. Saturday in Bucyrus, the family's former home.

Services for William will follow those of his brother. William, a B-17 pilot, was lost on his 15th mission Oct. 17, 1943. He was 22.

Both boys were graduates of Central High School and were attending Ohio State University when they enlisted.

Services will be conducted by Rev. Raymond Stephens, pastor of the Bucyrus Church of Christ.

Westway Post Plans Birthday Banquet

Highlight of this year's activities at Westway Post No. 3441, 2393½ W. Broad-st, will be the annual post birthday party to be held Feb. 16 at the post hall. A banquet will be served at 7 p. m. by the Blue Star Mothers. Reservations for the banquet must be made before Feb. 10.

The next regular post and auxiliary meeting will be Feb. 4. Regular meetings are held the first Friday of each month. Open joint meetings of the post and auxiliary, which are open to the public, are held the third Friday of each month.

At the Mar. 4 meeting, there will be an election of officers. Installation will be held at the first meeting in April.

PLAN VALENTINE PARTY

Mrs. J. A. Ptacek, 614 Salisbury-av, president of the PTA at St. Joseph Academy, is assisting with plans for the annual Valentine party to be held Feb. 10 in the school auditorium at 1 p. m. Mrs. Scott Lindsey is chairman of the party and Mrs. George Sharp, co-chairman.

Bo is a good illustration of canine brotherhood. He adds much enjoyment to the brotherhood of railroad workers quartered at this address.

West Salesmanship Students Learn Selling Technique At Hilltop Firms

NOTICE THE FULL VISION and streamlined version of the new 1949 Ford which prompts Salesmen Robin Schmidt, 39 Whitethorne-av, 12A senior, as he attempts to impress prospective buyer Jack Kelly, 146 S. Hague-av. This is merely one example of sales demonstration that students practice in their sales classes at West High under the supervision of Mrs. Delaine Kittel, teacher.

By Myron T. Seifert

Two salesmanship classes at West High School are engaged in actual selling demonstrations.

Many of the students have borrowed selling ideas from Hilltop merchants whom they have contacted regarding merits of their merchandise and selling pointers.

Getting selling ideas by actually working in Hilltop establishments is the experience of many in the class.

Here are a few of the salesmen enrolled in the classes who gain practical knowledge from Hilltop concerns.

Floyd McDaniel sells good will in his usher duties at a Hilltop theatre, the Ritz; has also worked as ice-man for the Eureka Ice Co.

Bob Witherspoon sells advertisements for the Columbus Dispatch; recently he was "curb boy" at a local White Castle.

Cashier in a Hilltop grocery and a local theatre makes Teresa Dennison a veteran salesman.

Grocery delivery service has been parceled out by Jack Martin.

Serving as mail clerk in soldiers' bonus agency was an interesting occupation of Bob Smith.

Addressograph operator and clerk in a Hilltop drug store are selling activities of Gene Mayhew.

Robin Schmidt's work in City Traffic aids him in selling products.

Louis Wolfe, erstwhile examiner of swimmers and artist, has been able to sell the idea of health to his "patients"

Others who have had selling spots include William Johnson, with a local florist; Helen Gammell, clerk in a department store; Pat Alkire, selling in confectionery; Marylou Galentine, clerk in a local store; Bob Henery, drugstore clerk; Ward Cassel and Jean Burke, grocery clerks; Charlie McGuree and Fred Fennekon, paper boys.

Robin Schmidt, in the picture, is demonstrating his selling powers, as agent for the revolutionary 1949 Ford, to Jack Kelley, his prospect. Taking a spin in the new flivver, Schmidt points out that the ride almost sells the vehicle without much talking.

La Donna Distelhorst, horse fancier, is more than a horse trader—and that's no "horse feathers"; she sells her prospect "the best trotting mare in the country."

Other students sell bathroom tile, linoleum, furniture, washing machines, stationery and a host of products in class.

Competition is keen and students are free to select their own products and services which they wish to sell.

Pythian Sisters, 469, To Install Officers

These officers will be installed: most excellent chief, Mrs. Grace Snyder; excellent senior, Mrs. Kathleen Quellette; excellent junior, Mrs. Grace McMillen; manager, Mrs. Eleanor Appelby; protector, Mrs. Lillian Potts; outer guard, Mrs. Anna Nelson; secretary, Mrs. Mary Wright; treasurer, Mrs. Florence Bieber, and past chief, Mrs. Margaret Tanner.

Murphy's Market Opens In Rome

Morgan C. Murphy is announcing the opening of his new super market in New Rome. Murphy's Super Market is located on the business site previously occupied by the Knotty Pine Confectionery.

Murphy's new market is completely modern in very respect. The interior is newly decorated and a soda fountain has been added in the rear. It is equipped for self-service and carries a complete line of fresh meat, groceries, frozen foods and canned goods.

The new grocery store owner has been a Hilltopper for many years. He operated a service station at Westgate and W. Broad-st for 10 years, which he sold recently before acquiring the market in Rome. Murphy is married and has three children. He and his family live at 233 S. Huron-av.

West Suffers 67-49 Defeat

A tough and determined East High quintet took a 67 to 49 victory from the West High cagers Tuesday night, at the victors' home court.

Paul Theisen, Ted Hughes and Luther Towers of East tied for top honors. All three collected 17 tallies. Chuck Weeks of West was out of the running when he left the game on fouls early in the fourth period.

The lead see-sawed during the first half of play with both teams not holding more than a five-point lead at any time. The half-time score after Paul Theisen tossed in a free throw was 27-26 in favor of the Tigers. This was the closest West got to winning.

At the beginning of the third quarter a rejuvenated Tiger team tallied 16 points to West's six, and from then on the Tigers clicked. Towers who was held to two points in the first half set a fast pace by racking up 15 points during the third and fourth periods.

In the reserve game West suffered a 34 to 25 defeat from East. Paul Ellingsworth of West tallied 14 points and kept West in the running.

West Dunks Bexley Lions

By Bob Cromwell

The Cowboy aqua-men couldn't do anything wrong as they won nine out of a possible nine events to completely submerge the Bexley tankers to a count of 54-31 on Jan. 20.

There were four double winners as the West Siders won everything but the kitchen sink. The double winners were Wes Hart, Dick Sherman, Lowell Cummins and Capt. Louis Wolfe.

The water-boys still have three meets in the Southern League, namely St. Charles, Academy and Scuth. If they should win all three of these they have a chance with North for the city championship. Following the city meet will be the district meet on Feb. 21 and 22, and the state meet on Mar. 4, 5 and 6.

The most exciting feat of the West-Bexley affair was the winning of little Joe Balthaser in the diving event by 0.5 of a point. Joe beat the third place district man, Bill Pierce, of last year.

Summary of events:
(1) 50 yard free: Wes Hart (W) Creager (B) Binkley (W). Time.

(2) 100 yard breast-stroke: Rigsby (W) Howison (W) Harlor (B). Time: 1:19.6.

(3) 200 yard free: Cummins (W) Shields (B) MacLaughlin (B). Time, 2:30.0.

(4) 100 yard back: Gossett (W) McCrady (W) Sand (B). Time, 1:18.6.

(5) 100 yard free: Sherman (W) Swartz (B) Creager (B). Time, 59.6.

(6) 150 yard ind. med.: Wolfe (W) Hoffnier (B) Addison (B). Time, 59.6.

(7) Diving: Balthaser (W) Pierce (B) Imboden (B). Pts. 52.55.

(8) 150 yard med. relay: (McCrady-Howison-Binkley). West Bexley. Time 1:41:7.

(9) 200 yard free relay: (Hart-Cummins-Wolfe-Sherman). West Bexley. Time, 1:48.8.

You Can't Go Wrong On One of These GENERAL ELECTRIC
(LIMITED SUPPLY — BUY NOW)
REFRIGERATORS
BIG, ROOMY STORAGE AND FOOD SPACE
8 CU. FT. REFRIGERATOR
Permanent Supply of Oil $259 Sealed-In Mechanism
No wonder it's "the refrigerator most women want most." Holds ⅓ MORE food under refrigeration in the same kitchen floor space as the previous smaller-sized models! Roomier, more efficient at a low price, that's G-E.
10 CU. FT. Refrigerator
With Home Freezer Unit
(AS PICTURED)
Two Separate Doors $460 Removable Utility Shelves
This combination refrigerator and home freezer has two storage compartments at distinctly different temperatures. A separate refrigerating system is used for each compartment, and each system has its own temperature control which can be adjusted by the user.
The lower compartment maintains high humidity so that meats, leftovers, and other moist foods not stored in vegetable drawers need not be covered.
Upper compartment maintains zero temperature, and provides for long-time storage of frozen foods. Fresh foods can be packaged and then frozen in this compartment just as in a home freezer. Four ice trays provide 80 ice cubes, or eight pounds of ice. Freezer will hold up to 70 pounds of frozen food.
Fresh-food compartment never requires defrosting. Freezer compartment needs defrosting once or twice a year.

JOE BRIGGS Says:

An expert is a man who tells you today what's going to happen tomorrow, and who tells you tomorrow why it didn't happen today.

The future is always uncertain. Suppose you should have an accident tomorrow in which someone else were involved, and you were legally to blame. Are you prepared to pay out hundreds, or even thousands of dollars in damages? Peace of mind is worth a lot; protect what you have TODAY, against tomorrow's exigencies. THANKS A MILLION

We wish to take this opportunity to thank our great host of friends and customers for the marvelous way you received our new Red & White super market.

Business was great, far beyond our fondest expectations we made some mistakes, but who wouldn't with such a crowd as jammed our market for three days, for these mistakes we are truly sorry, and please believe us it will be our greatest ambition to render the kind of service with quality merchandise and low prices that will warrant your continued patronage.

It is my personal belief that you would enjoy shopping in the evening and we are making this shopping service available so that if you are busy during the day you can do all your food shopping up to nine o'clock in the evening and enjoy the same low prices and large variety as you might find in any market.

Again I say "thanks a million."

New Chevvy On Display

A product of three years' development work and more than 5 million miles of engineering research, the 1949 Chevrolet went on display at Rodenfels Chevrolet Co. last Saturday.

The latest model has been completely restyled. It is lower, wider and more distinctive than any previous series. Not only does the design introduce superior beauty to the lowest-priced ranks, but numerous body and chassis improvements promise to add to Chevrolet's reputation for comfort, safety and convenience.

Two series of cars, the Fleetline and Styleline, are included, with deluxe treatment an option in most body types. Deluxe cars lay increased emphasis on the styling of fabrics, trim and appointments. The lineup shows:

Fleetline — Two and four-door sedans. This design is distinguished by the extension of the roof line in an unbroken sweep to the rear. Known to the trade as a "fast back", the form achieved great popularity on the 1946 two-door Aerosedan.

Styleline—Two and four-door sedans, sport coupes, three-passenger business coupes, convertibles, wood and all-steel station wagons. Styleline sedans carry the "notch back". Here the curvature of the roof meets the rear deck at the body belt line.

Starling Graduates Have Annual Party

A play, "A Day In Court", was presented by the 9A's at the 9A party on Jan. 21.

The play was written by the 9A dramatics class under the leadership of Nancy Beavers, Betty Boggs, Richard Thompson, Nancy Munk, Sharon Frederick, Barbara Blake and Ida Jordon.

The play took place in a courtroom and concerned several 9A's who had committed various "minor offenses" in their three years at Starling.

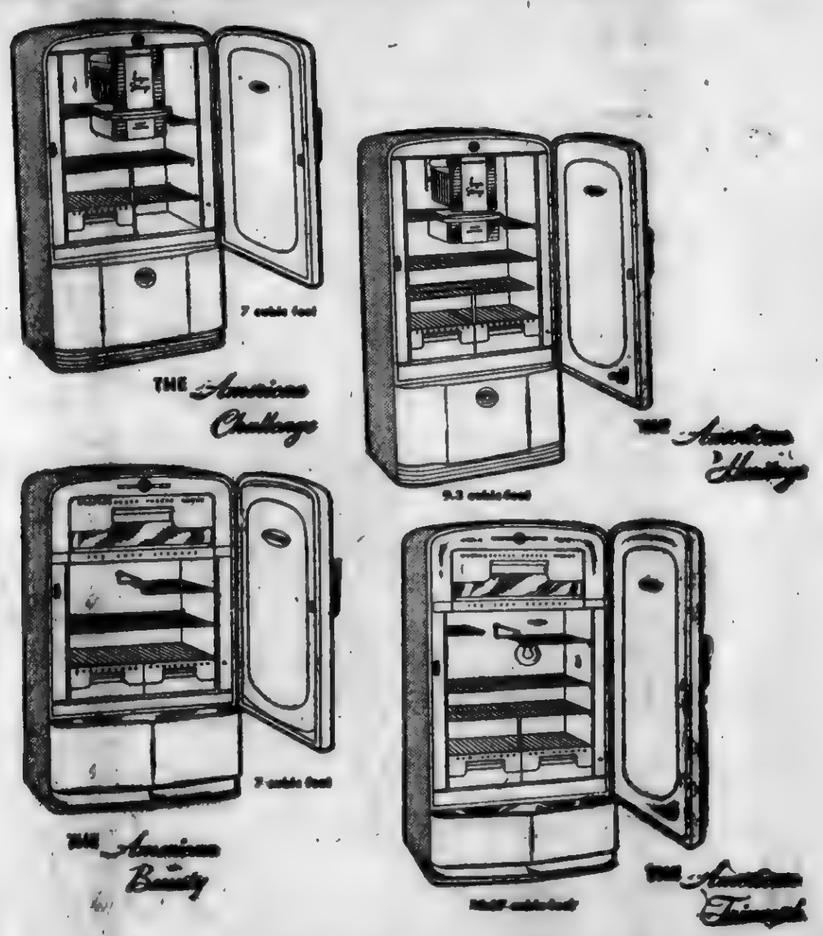
Richard Thompson took the role of the judge. The jury consisted of Nancy Munk, Nancy Beavers, Charles Albrecht, Marjorie De Conniuk, Carol Gray, Joan Fisher, Richard Knapp, Sherry Frederick, Barbara Blake, Aurilla Walker, Greta Frank and Fred Robison. The bailiff was Ross Devis and the clerk was Marion Cloud.

The defendants brought before the court were Marjorie O'Hearn, Eugene Fisher, Helen Moss, Paul Stevenson, Edgar Weaver, Dwight Reynolds, Leroy Morgan, Hazel De Vault, Sue Stotesbury, Charles Tayor, Joe Williams, Howard Cassady, Margaret Johnson, Paul Pettit, Wesley Sharp and Barbara Maxson.

George Fee acted as an attorney, Gail Grubb interrupted the court and Don Fritch was the janitor.

Following the play there were games, directed by Antoinette Lowrie, of the Bexley schools, and dancing. Refreshments were served.

The faculty committee planning the party consisted of Mrs. Helen Bauer, E. N. Naylor and Glen Rader. The party was a semi-annual affair given by the faculty in honor of the graduating class.



Decorations were under the supervision of Mr. Naylor, assisted by the following committee: Sherry Frederick, Marjorie Blake, Betty Boggs, Marjorie De Connick, Joan Fisher, Carol Grey, Bernice Turner, Helen Moss, Don Fritch, Richard Burnette and Howard Cassady.

BIBLE COMMENT

Like Mortals, Jesus Was Tempted, But Never Succumbed

THE writer of the Book of Hebrews says (Hebrews 4:15) that Jesus "was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin." We speak of "the temptation of Jesus," though as Matthew records them in Matthew 4, the temptations were three.

It is important, however, to realize that, if Jesus were tempted as we are, the temptations were not only three, nor were they all at that one time. As we read the Gospels we can see how persistent were the temptations.

How else can we interpret His passionate rebuke of Peter, "Get thee behind me, Satan," when Peter had said to Him, "Be it far from Thee, Lord," when the Master had spoken of His prospective sufferings and death? Was it not that Peter was voicing the temptation from within Jesus himself to renounce His mission and destiny, and turn from that way of sacrifice?

No, the temptation of Jesus was not all of one time or place. For Him, as for us, it lasted all through to the end, and His admonition was, "Watch and pray."

But the three temptations of Jesus that Matthew records were basic and had a significance beyond any later, or inherent, temptation. There is a point in all of our lives at which temptation is crucial, at which the decision we make or the victory we achieve determines our whole life.

In those three temptations of Jesus the allurement was of the things that ambitious men have sought: power of achievement, "Command that these stones be made bread"; the sense of personal grandeur and superiority, "Cast thyself down" (from the pinnacle of the temple); and wealth, combined with power, "All these things will I give thee."

They were the temptations to which strong men have succumbed, and to which Jesus, conscious of a great possible destiny, must have been susceptible. He was tempted, as He was tempted later, even to the last hour. But He never failed. His triumph was in the humble and courageous submission to the Father's will. "Nevertheless, not my will, but Thine be done."

Men's Glee Club To Give Concert Of Sacred Music

Power and depth of tone will characterize the concert of sacred music to be presented by the Men's Glee Club of Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill., at Immanuel Baptist Church, 286 Belvidere-av, Jan. 31, at 7:30 p. m.

Under the direction of R. William Nordin, associate professor of music at the college, the 33 men on tour will open the concert with the chorale, "O Bone Jesu", by Palestrina, followed by "O Sacred Head" by Christiansen. Richard Reed will sing the solo in an arrangement by Mason of the familiar "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross". Singing next a Negro spiritual, "Were You There", the group will be heard in "Jesu, Friend of Sinners" by Grieg and "The Day of Judgment" by Arkhangelsky. The glee club will complete its first group with "Hallelujah, Amen" from Handel's oratorio, "Judas Maccabaeus."

A trombone duet and a vocal quartet will be heard before the choralists sing their second group which will begin with "Bless the Lord, O My Soul" by Ippolitof-Ivanof. The singers will present next a favorite, Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring". A Negro spiritual, "Soon Ah Will Be Done", arranged by Dawson, will be followed by Ritcher's "O God the Spring of All Our Joy", and "Finlandia" by Sibelius will complete the second group.

The club's last group includes "The Old Rugged Cross" by Bennard, "Brother James' Air" by Bain, and Handel's "Let Their Celestial Concerts All Unite."

West Band Parents Honor Chas. Bennett

The West High Band Parents Club, at its regular meeting Wednesday, Jan. 19, honored Charles W. Bennett, instrumental music instructor at the school, with a party. Mr. Bennett has been granted a leave of absence from his teaching duties.

Approximately 75 attended the affair. Testimonials and gifts were showered upon Mr. and Mrs. Bennett for their many services to West High School and to the community. Principal I. F. Young commented on the contributions of Charles Bennett to West High School.

Mr. Bennett's father was in attendance also.

The Business Scene Changes

Recently when Don Smith was going through his files he came across a roster of the Hilltop Business Men's Association of 1928 and passed it on to me

It is interesting to note how many firms then in business are no longer serving the community. The roster listed 92 firm names. Of this number 52 of the firms have since ceased to do business here for some reason or another. Six of the firms have changed ownership and are operating under different names.

One can't help but observe that business firms have a very hard road to travel in order to stay in business over a long number of years.

Hilltop Little Theatre Movement Is Progressing

We have heard much favorable comment on the recent production of the Hilltop Little Theatre. The show really was a most successful one and each production is finding more and more interest in the little theatre movement on the Hilltop.

We understand the next production of the group, sometime this spring, will be held at West High School If you aren't already a patron of the group you should plan now to be present.

A recent magazine editorial had this to say about the little theatre

"Little Theatre is fine practice in cooperation, because only the finest cooperation results in a good performance And as a result of working together, one for all and all for one, a wonderful feeling of loyalty and friendship develops."

The Hilltop can well be proud of its own Hilltop Little Theatre.

Flowers Of The Week

This week's flowers from Rosebud Floral should go to Charley Bennett, West Band leader, who is taking a leave of absence. Charley has had the flowers before but we feel it is only right that upon his retirement from the community he should be reminded that he is held in high esteem by the public and his students. He has given West High a fine band and orchestra and has contributed materially to the fine school spirit that has grown up in recent years. The Hilltop wishes him well and hopes that happiness abounds for him in his new home.

Hilltop Can Be Proud Of Glenwood Center

Tuesday night it was a pleasure to take time out and drop in at Glenwood Park for the celebration being held there in connection with the reopening of the remodeled Glenwood Shelter House

The city has just finished spending something like $23,000 for needed improvements there and the building is now a credit to the community.

The recreation commission and the department are deserving of a big hand from Hilltoppers for this improvement.

Hilltop Boy Scout Is Auctioned Off At Kiwanis Club Meeting January 27

A young Hilltop boy, Jim McCready, was auctioned off to the highest bidder Jan 27 at the weekly meeting of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club. The price was one million dollars.

In recognition of Boy Scout Week Kiwanis members prepared a clever skit in the form of an auction sale. A Hilltop youth was auctioned off to the Boy Scouts of America with various fields of service taking part in the bidding.

Edgar Pranek, representing WAR, opened the bidding with an offer of $10,000, saying, "I need this boy to fight the nation's battles, which greed, selfishness and hatred are bringing to the world."

PLEASURE, represented by Sam Alford, interceded and jumped the bid to $20,000, explaining that "Pleasure can offer the boy the fastest motor cars and speedboats, the gayest dance halls, the richest foods, the finest wines and the wildest movies."

But CRIME, represented by Mose Weinstein, raised the bid to $50,000, alluring pleasure as a friend. Crime said "I can offer the boy real thrills, banks to rob, protection for criminal children to kidnap and racketeering to spread."

Topped as bid by BUSINESS, represented by H G Deems, who declared that "Business needs boys to spearhead real progress, saying that business needs boys to captain the industries of tomorrow."

Vernon Fiscus, representing labor, said that "labor needed the boy as much as business" and bid $70,000.

Other constructive interests, represented by Dr C S Cowles, Harold Cunningham, George Williams, Jim Miles and Harold Fox, each raised the bid $10,000 until the auctioneer offered to let the boy go for the $100,000 bid by Harold Fox, representing the church.

War, Pleasure and Crime hurriedly conferred and put in a combined bid of $200,000, which was later raised to $750,000.

But after conferences with Home, Education, Church, Business, Labor, Farm and Professions, Cliff Matthews, representing the Boy Scouts of America, bid $1 million

With going going gone" the auctioneer turned the boy over to the constructive interests saying, "Son, you are the hope of the world and here is your chance to repay all that you owe society You are sold to humanity for a million dollars and cheap at that for no money can buy your possibilities and golden opportunities."

The auctioneer presented the boy to scouting, saying, "He is yours to build into the highest kind of man that will ever be true to the highest ideals and standards of conduct"

Television: Local Dealers Say It Will Be Popular Here In Short Time

What's ahead in television" Should I buy a set now? How much should I invest in a set? What will the upkeep be?

These and perhaps a hundred other questions are being asked these days as practical television gets closer and closer to Columbus. In an effort to give some information on the subject The Hilltop Record has interviewed Hilltop radio and television dealers and they have passed on what information they have available on the subject.

It was learned from reliable sources this week that the local television station, WLW-C, owned by Station WLW at Cincinnati, will start operation of its Columbus station about Mar. 27 This will make local reception very good, according to Hilltop dealers. In addition it will provide national coverage since this station will have a hook up by relay from New York.

Local dealers now have television sets for sale but at present there are only about 150 of them in use in the city Attractive and practical sets range in price from $100 up It is believed with the approach of the new and better television reception provided by the operation of a station right here in Columbus that a great number of people will be purchasing television sets. Hilltop dealers have a wide array of sets available and are capably informed as to operation and installation of the sets

A series of questions and answers regarding television will be carried in the Record starting next week

Farmer Follows New Hog-Raising System

The hog raising system followed by Sam Frantz, Amlin, O., draws comment in an article in the February issue of Capper's Farmer.

The story about Frantz's system in the nationally-circulated farm magazine says that he finds January the best time to farrow the spring pig crop.

"He lines up A-type houses and covers them with straw to provide warm quarters," the story says. "Litters are weaned in time to breed sows for August farrow. Fall pigs are born on stubble fields. Sows make nests of straw and litters require little attention. The pigs get a ground grain mixture in creeps to make them big and husky before cold weather starts."

Last year West Junior High School students collected $20,000 in sales tax receipts. A net revenue of $600 was turned over to the school as a result of their effort. This total revenue was nearly matched by senior high collectors.

Tax stamps are collected by students and turned over to Lola Forbes and Margaret Campbell, advisers of the West Junior and Senior High groups, respectively. Stamps are classified, counted and turned in to the State Sales Tax Division for redemption at three per cent of face value.

Methods of tax collection are varied. Chief method is to place boxes or receptacles in strategic spots throughout the Hilltop and in business establishments. Boxes are properly identified with West High labels.

Competition is keen, among the students in both schools. Home rooms sponsor contests to increase the total stamps brought in. Junior High students who are active in collecting used stamps are named above.

West Graduate Now At Harvard Plans Visit Here

Bernard Wilde, who graduated from West High School 11 years ago, is proof of the adage that study and hard work pays off.

Wilde, formerly of 1560 Demorest-rd, is currently at Harvard University as a National Research Council post - doctoral fellow for 1948 - 1949, being awarded this position for his contribution during the war as spectrochemist on the atom bomb.

Miss Campbell, a former teacher of Wilde, received the following letter from him recently.

"Dear Miss Campbell: I was very happy to receive your card and note at Christmas time. I am very much ashamed of not keeping you better informed on what I have been doing since I left West.

I received my B. S. degree summa cum laude and with high distinction in chemistry from OSU in March, 1943. During my undergraduate work I was elected to the Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi and Phi Eta Sigma honoraries.

I started graduate work at OSU, but was interrupted by the war. I went to Los Alamos, New Mexico, and worked as a spectrochemist on the atom bomb. Taking a small part in those momentous activities. I spent a year in the army at Los Alamos, being discharged in 1946.

I returned to OSU and picked up my graduate work. I was awarded an American Chemical Society Predoctoral Fellowship. This allowed me to pursue my research without having to teach part-time.

I received my Ph. D. Degree in March 1948. At the present I am at Harvard University as a National Research Council Post-doctoral Fellow for 1948-49. I am working with one of the best organic chemists in the country. He is Professor Woodward, known for his syntheses of quinine. We are working on the structure of one of the antitrotics.

I hope to get a teaching position in a college or university beginning in the fall. This would give me an opportunity to teach, which I like, and to carry out some ideas of my own in research.

I hope to return to Columbus some time in April. I will make an effort to drop in and see you at West. You wouldn't recognize me now. Weigh about 200 and am getting bald. I am still unmarried. Best Wishes, Sincerely, Bernard Wilde."

Former Scouts To Attend Special Troop 45 Meeting

Boy Scout Troop 45 will meet at West High School, Monday, Feb. 21, to conduct routine business and to observe the 25th anniversary of the Hilltop troop.

A special program in observance of the occasion is being planned by Scoutmaster Gerald Tallman and his assistants, Stanley Frost and Ronald Fuller. An invitation is extended to all former members of the troop during the quarter of century of its existence.

Al Elliott, who served as the troop's scoutmaster for many years, will be there to greet the guests. Al suggests that all the boys who were formerly identified with the troop bring to the meeting photographs which exemplify Troop 45 experiences, especially in the early twenties.

Parents of all boys who are now registered in the troop are urged to attend, Elliott said.

PLAN EVENING SERVICES

The Community Christian Church will hold regular Sunday evening services at 7:30. The pastor, Rev. James F. Lorenz, will preach a series of sermons from the epistle of James. The public is invited.

Ohio excels in transportation facilities. It is served by all the major railroads, airlines, and truck-lines, and has important lake ports and extensive river shipping facilities.

Ohio has an abundance of raw materials and is rich in fuels.

Former Hilltopper Rev. Bernhard Retires From Presbyterian Church

By Myron T. Seifert

Former Hilltopper Rev. George Bernhard, 76, who resided for years at 152 S. Westgate-av, has retired officially from the ministry. He preached his farewell sermon Sunday, Jan. 30, at the West Broad Street Presbyterian Church. His snappy step, fashion-plate clothes and striking personality characterized the outward personality of Rev. Bernhard. His understanding and sympathetic attitude and his true devotion to God mark him as an outstanding Hilltop leader.

George Bernhard worked at three occupations before becoming a minister at the age of 36. He served as social service worker, tailor and traveling salesman.

Rev. Bernhard came to Columbus 24 years ago from a pastorate in Nunda, N. Y., to serve the Calvary Presbyterian Church for two years. He then accepted an offer at the West Second Avenue Presbyterian Church, where he remained for 20 years.

It was in November, 1945, that he announced he would let a younger man take over his job. However, his retirement was brief. He was soon persuaded to "fill in" at the West Broad Street Church until they found a pastor. That was nearly two years ago.

Rev. Bernhard is a native of Allentown, Pa., where for 14 years he was a tailor.

Looking back over the years, the minister recalled that tailoring had been a good life, and there was a lot to be said for "being on the road." "But there is just nothing like the satisfaction one gets out of being a minister," he said. That Mr. Bernhard didn't decide to go into Christian work until he was 36 years old turned out to be a great help instead of a hindrance as he at first feared. Because of his varied background, Rev. Bernhard explained that he was more capable of understanding the everyday problems of his congregation and to "talk their language" so to speak. He declared: "If I had gone into the ministry when I was very young, I might have been a minister in an ivory tower, lacking the understanding of men who were tailors, traveling salesmen and so forth."

Always interested in young people (he is a father of three children), he was an active worker for many years among young people of the Christian Endeavor Society and is a former officer in the Ohio Christian Endeavor Union. He was graduated from Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, Ill.

Rev. Bernhard said he planned to remain in Columbus following his retirement, and he admitted—with a grin—that he might "just occasionally" fill pulpits when ministers are on vacations or business calls.

Mr. Bernhard's wife died several years ago, but he has three sons living. They are Dr. Joel Bernhard, a Columbus dentist; Dr. John Bernhard, Allentown, and Paul E. Bernhard, Wilmer, Calif.

He resides at 185 E. State-st.

West Cagers To Reopen City Play Friday With Aquinas; Drop 2 Week-end Games

By Dave Miller

West High School cagers will reopen City League play with a second round of games beginning Friday at their home court. First opponent will be the Columbus Aquinas quintet. Aquinas has only one win in 13 starts this year but the determined cagers will be primed for an upset. A new star, Chet DeBellis, guard, will be on hand for Aquinas. Chet has collected 57 points in his last three games.

Last week-end West High's cagers were given a rough time in a two-game week-end trip. The Cowboys dropped both encounters to Middletown and Hamilton Public.

In both games the Cowboys clung to the lead most of the time but lost during the final quarter by a large score. In the two final quarters, West was outscored, 29-10. Score with Middletown ended 47 to 38 on Friday, and on Saturday the Cowboys lost a 41 to 33 encounter to Hamilton. Both teams have lost only one game this season. The Cowboys' record to date is eight wins in 13 tries.

At Middletown the Cowboys were ahead twice in the game, both early in the contest. However, the local courters played the Middletown five a close game all the way.

Middletown held the lead most of the way in the opening quarter, but West was still fighting and the score ended in the ultimate winners' favor, 10-8. The second and third quarters were evenly played, with the halftime ending 21-18 and the third quarter, 33-29, both leads being held by Middletown.

Paul Theisen and Dick Culbertson of West and Dick Morris of Middletown each collected 10 points. Jesse Wayabb was first with 14 tallies.

At Hamilton Public, West held the upper hand in this encounter for nearly three periods. The Cowboys were stopped cold in the final quarter and scored only three points as compared to 15 by the ultimate winners.

The first period see-sawed with one team setting the pace and the other matching it. The opening quarter ended in a 13-13 tie.

The Cowboys again set the pace in the second quarter and gained a 21-19 edge at the close of the period.

The final quarter told the story.

Two straight goals by Bill Wilks and Jim Wells tied the score at 30-all. Theisen's hook put the Cowboys into the lead for the last time, and from then on it was Hamilton's ball game.

Paul Theisen and Chuck Weeks closed a colorful career for West High School in the game with Hamilton. Big Charlie was held to only two points in each game while Theisen paced the Cowboys in getting 25 in both games together.

In the Hamilton game, Theisen was top point maker with 15 tallies. Bill Wilks, all-round Hamilton forward, came close with 14.

The team, after the Middletown fray, stayed overnight in the Manchester Hotel in Middletown, and then on Saturday left for Hamilton. Those making the trip were Theisen, Weeks, Fred Adams, LeRoy Hood, Larry Frazier, Bob Tewell, Jack Winnestaffer, Bill Thrush, Dick Culbertson, Bob Epps, Jim Rudolph, Jack Gammon and Phil Young. The coaches who went were George Williams, Dave Randall and Mack Pemberton. One manager, Don Trimmer, made the trip.

Friday morning.

Coach Lehman's probable starting lineup against Franklin this Friday will be Jerry Trabue and Eddy Gleibs at forward, Doug Clark at center, and Bill Haire and Dick Hutchison. All but Gleibs of this quintet will be back for next year's play. Trabue, who is the fifth top scorer in the City Junior High League with 84 points, will graduate at mid-term, but the others will be available the whole year. Another stellar guard, Walter Meredith, may start in the game against Franklin. Meredith has been ineligible for the past semester but is now ready to play. He played on the varsity last year and received a letter.

In facing Franklin this Friday, the local Juniors will face one of the top teams in the City Junior High circuit. The former team is tied with Champion Junior High for first place, both being undefeated.

The remainder of the schedule for the Juniors will be Feb. 17, Champion; Feb. 14, Roosevelt; Feb. 18, at Mound; and Feb. 25, at Starling.

Ohio probably possesses about one-sixteenth of the national wealth, or about 50 billion dollars, at current prices. The state's annual income has been estimated at almost 12 billion dollars—considerably above the national average.

In addition to playing the West Senior reserves several times, the local courters were 45 to 31 victors over a little, but rugged, Grandview five in the West gym last

Scout Troop 45 Boasts of Many Famous Alumni

Hilltop's Boy Scout Troop 45, one of the oldest in the city, is steeped in history and tradition and boasts of a host of illustrious alumni and scout officials, many of whom have made their marks as useful citizens.

Scouting gave many of these men their chances, and added impetus and encouragement to boys who later transferred many of the principles learned in scouting to their lives in a wide variety of occupations.

A recital of many of the names reads like a 1949 "Who's Who" edition of boys, now men, who have achieved many worthwhile accomplishments.

Many of them you will recognize by virtue of their excellent work on the Hilltop since their scouting days.

They include John Wolfe, one-time Hilltop Record editor, and now on the teaching staff at Ohio State University; Frank Andrix, research engineer with the Bell Airplane Co., New York; Dr. Jack Miles and Dr. Beryl Miles, local doctors; James Matheny, sales manager for the Hutchins Motor Co.; Rollin Eckart, head of physical education and health at Cortland, N. Y., Teachers' College.

Dale Jenkins, government research worker in biology; Ralph Harper, West Point graduate, who was killed in the Battle of the Bulge in World War II; Jerry Spears, Jr., Hilltop Funeral director; Sam Alford, manager of the Thrift Finance Co.; Lew Rausch, hardware merchant; Roy Kraus, with the Hilltop Post Office; Marvin Elliott, identified with the Veterans' Administration; Dick and Jim Slager, football "greats" and students at Ohio State University.

Gerald Gifford and Jack Morris, post-graduate students at Ohio State; Dr. Fred Marsch, optometrist; Dave Randall, West High social science teacher; Sam Snashall, druggist; Howard Monroe, in industry; Bill Maurer, Lustron engineer; Roy Anderson, Hilltop Post Office; Bud, Charles and John Holloway, and many others.

Al Elliott, scoutmaster of the troop from 1924 to 1936 and now on the West High School faculty, says that "the 12 years spent with these boys who are now making their marks in the world, were reward enough."

Other scoutmasters of the celebrated troop included George Heitz, West High teacher; Frank Mason, Highland Avenue School principal; and Sam Morrison, with Fort Hayes. Present master is Gerald Tallman, a former member of Troop 45.

One of the projects, begun in 1924, was engineered by personnel connected with Troop No. 45. It was the purchase of an appropriate building site and the construction of a cabin on the plot, in southern Ohio near the Boys' Industrial School, an institution in sharp contrast to the Boy Scout program.

Originally financed by six scout officials of Troop 45, George Heitz, Frank Andrix, Ray Gaib, Sam Morrison and Al Elliott, the boys worked hard to pay off the original six proprietors in war bonds.

The cabin, itself, is a structure of approximately 24 by 40 feet and was completed in 1938. Two acres of land were added and bought from the adjoining Ben Borcher farm.

Scarcely a week-end since its construction has the building not been used by the boys and their scout officials.

John Burroughs Sponsors Pack 43

Pack 43, sponsored by John Burroughs PTA, has increased in the number of cubs, dens and den mothers during the year 1948.

At the Christmas pot-luck party in 1948 there were almost 150 present. At the Christmas party in 1947 only 61 were present, which serves to illustrate this gain.

Following is a brief review of activities of 1948:

At the February, 1948, meeting a picture show was enjoyed by all.

At the March meeting, which was attended by 35 parents and 30 cubs, there were eight awards given and one boy graduated into a scout troop. The cubmaster resigned and Harry Keller was named acting cubmaster for the Cub Olympics to be held in April. The job of being Cubmaster was later accepted by Mr. Keller and he is still holding the position. Pack 43 won the trophy for best window display at this time.

In May two new bobcats were accepted, making a total of 35 cubs. At the May meeting skits were put on by dens.

A pack pot luck picnic was held at Maple Shades, where the cubs enjoyed swimming and refreshments. Pop and ice cream were furnished by the pack.

First fall meeting was held on Sept. 23, at which time Mr. Dunn presented Den 6 with an award for having best parent and cub attendance during the past year. Billy Coon and Jerry Osborne graduated into scout troops.

In October a Bobcat induction ceremony was put on at the PTA meeting. In October the annual wiener roast was held at Westgate Park in the form of a Halloween party. Games were played and prizes awarded. Cider and doughnuts for everyone closed the meeting.

At the November meeting three more cubs graduated into scouting. Eight awards were given and our cub membership increased to 40. We added another den at this time. New officers were named at this meeting while the cubs enjoyed a magic show. New officers were T. J. Hill, chairman; Kenneth Haney, secretary; Myrl Williams, financial secretary.

In December a Christmas pot luck party was held. The pack was entertained by music played by members and group singing of Christmas carols. Gifts were given all cubs, and candy and balloons to all the kiddies present. The pack received five new boys during the month. The pack was also given a table at the PTA Bazaar and money was turned over to the treasurer from the sale of used comic books donated by the cubs and from the sale of Christmas tree ornaments made by the mothers in the pack.

At the January, 1949, pack meeting 34 parents and 33 cubs were present. Eight awards were given and two more cubs became scouts.

During the past year Pack 43 has accepted 21 new cubs, graduated into scouting 16 cubs, and has at the present time 41 cubs, nine den mothers and six dens.

J. B. School Sponsors Pack 86

Pack 86, sponsored by the John Burroughs PTA, holds its pack meetings in the school on the fourth Thursday of each month.

The pack was started in November, 1946, and has grown rapidly. There are 56 members at this time. It is self-supporting, rasing money by paper drives, sale of stationery and saving sales tax stamps.

The pack participated in the Cub Olympics held last March at West High School. For their good will offering Christmas baskets were sent to several needy families and gifts, cookies and candy to the State Hospital and State School.

Blue and Gold month was observed with a pot luck dinner with the parents as guests. A picnic was given in June.

Dens have been active in worthy causes. Den 4 held a March of Dimes drive for a Cub member who was stricken with polio. Den 2 has adopted an elderly lady at the Sunridge Rest Home. They send her gifts and cards frequently. All the Dens have taken trips to the penitentiary, museum, state capitol and various city offices.

Mrs. Margaret Nigh, Den mother for Den 3, has been in Cubbing for nine years. A luncheon was held Jan. 21, honoring her at the home home of the hostess, Mrs. Charles Meddles, 507 Binns-blvd.

Officers are Russell Martin, chairman; Warren Leeka, secretary; Arthur Edwards, treasurer; Homer Ranney, cubmaster.

Troop 214 Was Organized In 1946

Troop 214 of St. Mary Magdalene Church was organized in March, 1946, through the efforts of Harry Drake, chairman of the organization, and Ray J. Eyerman.

At a meeting of men interested in the Boy Scout movement, plans were discussed for the formation of a troop.

The first meeting with the boys was held May 29, 1946, with 21 boys in attendance. All phases of scouting were started. The first expedition was to Camp Clime with the entire troop in attendance.

Since this beginning such hikes have developed into overnight stays at Camp Lazarus, Camp Clime, Big Darby at Darbydale, Big Darby at Harrisburg, Zane Caverns at Bellefontaine and Valley Ranch at West Jefferson.

The leaders of the troop are proud of the advancement of the boys. Of the original 21 boys, 16 are still active in the troop. At present the troop has 33 active scouts, ranging in rank as follows: four Eagles, Ray Eyerman, Fred Kirn, Jack Harris and Charles King; 8 Star Scouts, Dave Armour, Dick Deebel, Bob Gilham, Red Holocher, Don Jackson, Bill Kelly, Dick Robinson, Bob Sheehan; eight First Class Scouts, Dave Bates, Ron Eifert, Fred Obertine, Jack O'Brien, Jim Shifflette, Wolf Vieth, Jim Walter, Lee Walter; five Second Class Scouts, Dave Brownell, Larry Hoffman, James O'Reilley, James Segbers, James Wintle; and eight Tenderfeet, Francis Gunning, Joe Ryan, Don De Shetler, Larry O'Brien, Ralph Orendorf, Mick Colley, Greg McEttrick and Jim Martin. Collectively the boys have been awarded a grand total of 146 merit badges.

A spirit of companionship has been built up between the boys and their fathers through events held annually, including ball games in the summer, the annual father and son picnic and visits to Lake Hope, Bryant State Park at Yellow Springs and Scioto Trail Park below, Chillicothe.

The committee of Troop 214 is composed of R. J. Eyerman, chairman; Ray Woerner, secretary; Ed O'Brien, treasurer; Mr. Hoffman, Harry Shifflette, Joe Sheehan, Joe Deibel, Fred Obertine and Fred Kirn. Father J. Jerback is the spiritual adviser. John Martin is the scoutmaster and his assistants are Tom Garrity and Howard Harris. Dr. Tom Hughes is the troop physician.

BIBLE COMMENT

For Feb. 6

Jesus Fulfilled All That Was Promised By Prophet Isaiah

JESUS began His ministry at home, which was the proper and natural place to begin, but also the most difficult.

His sayings, "A prophet is not without honor, save in his own country," and "A man's foes shall be those of his own household," express a truth widely exemplified in human experience. How many men of genius have had to win their way and fame against the strong opposition of parents, who designed them for something else!

Jesus, of course, did not have the embarrassment of the average youth, who rises to preach in his own home town.

But to preach in Nazareth, nevertheless, was not easy for the Master. His own brothers, as we know from John 7:1-5, did not believe in Him, or His professed mission, although at least two of them later became earnest Christians and leaders in the church.

The favor with which His fellow townsmen had viewed Him soon disappeared as Jesus announced that mission and ministry; and with the blindness and prejudiced zeal that have been the curse of the otherwise religiously earnest all through the history of religion, they not only rejected Him, but they sought to throw Him from the brow of a nearby hill and kill Him.

Jesus must have sensed these dangers, for "He knew what was in man." But He dared to face them, and to declare in the place where He was brought up, the consciousness of the mission and ministry to which He had been called, to fulfill the prophecy of Isaiah. "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because He hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; He hath sent me to heal the broken-hearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovery of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, to preach the acceptable year of the Lord."

In teaching, preaching, and healing He fulfilled all that a great prophet had declared of God's plan and purpose.

Y., where 50 per cent of his congregation were students and faculty members of Cornell University. Previous to assuming his work at Ithaca, he held pastorates in Oklahoma and Nebraska. Let's Conserve The Parking Space

Police have been active recently in tagging autos parked in the areas marked for bus stops on the Hilltop. The campaign is largely one conducted in the daytime.

We sincerely believe the city could cut these bus stop areas down by about half and still allow them ample space in which to pull up to the corner for their stops.

We have observed the buses in making stops and find that few of the drivers ever cut in toward the curb until well up to the

City Set to Buy Land For Golf Course Here

It was learned from reliable sources this week that the city will purchase the 220 acre Yeager farm on Trabue-rd to be turned into a golf course by the city recreation commission.

A purchase price acceptable to Gebhart Yeager, owner, has been determined upon and members of city council, the recreation commission and the mayor have inspected the tract and have found it to be ideal for the establishment of a 27 to 36 hole golf course here.

The tract is bordered on the north by the railroad, on the south by Trabue-rd and on the west by Wilson-rd and runs north to a line fence near the Hayes Home factory.

The large stone house and other buildings on the property would be utilized for lockers and club room space.

Phil Stout, attorney, 2532 W. Broad-st, president of the Hilltop Business Association, and a member of the city recreation commission, states that the recreation commission believes the course can be ready for play by the spring of 1950. He has been active in seeking the purchase of the land.

Money to purchase the tract will be provided from bond issue funds available to the recreation division and from general funds. Total investment by the time it is ready for play will amount to about $120,000.

Mayor James Rhodes has advocated the establishment of this course for some time, pointing out that there are only nine holes of golf available in this area and that in the past 15 years 180 holes have been removed from play.

If the city purchases this land it will be the largest single tract the city will own.

Ziggy Coyle Gets Starling Teaching Post

William, better known as "Ziggy" is the leader of a well-known dance band, popular in Columbus and other vicinities. A favorite of teen-agers, Ziggy is known as a "real gone guy" by Hilltop's Be-bop fans.

A graduate of West High School, Ziggy graduated from Ohio State University in December, and took up duties as Starling's music director about a week ago. He was a member of Ohio State's marching band, and played for many Ohio State dances while an undergraduate there.

His present schedule allows three days of instruction at Starling and two days at Everett Junior High. He teaches beginners, intermediate and advanced orchestral groups and also gives semi-private instruction to small groups.

In addition to orchestral classes Ziggy instructs three classes in vocal music.

Hilltop Scouts To Celebrate Anniversary

1000 Local Boys To Join In National Observance of Scout Week Starting Sunday, February 6

The nation's 2.2 million members of the Boy Scouts of America and Hilltop's more than 1,000 participants will actively join in the 39th annual celebration of the organization's birthday with unit and council celebrations during the week Feb. 6 to Feb. 12.

"Adventure — That's Scouting," the theme of Boy Scout Week this year will be carried out in special programs planned by scout troops and cub packs.

The 39th birthday of the Boy Scouts marks the beginning of a two-year crusade in celebration of the organizations 40th anniversary next year. A national theme, "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" will prevail during the two-year program.

Council President of Columbus Boy Scouts Fred J. Milligan will light a symbolic torch of liberty at the Court of Honor ceremony Feb. 6 at 2:30 p. m. at Upper Arlington High School, and will formally open the two-year crusade for Columbus Scouts. At this meeting 12 Columbus districts will be represented and will be pledged to carry the "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" theme to their respective units.

Hilltop churches sponsoring scout troops will join in with observances Sunday, Feb. 6 commemorating the anniversary and pastors are planning to launch the two-year "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" program with special sermons. Boy Scouts will be in uniform that day and will act as ushers before services.

The "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" program has a three fold objective, according to Cliff Matthews, field scout executive for the southwest district. "The first goal is to seek a higher quality program in each of the three age-levels, cub scouting, boy scouting and senior scouting. Second goal is for more membership and third goal is to obtain more volunteer leaders with proper training in scouting techniques.

According to Matthews the two-year theme symbolizes the Statue of Liberty or the heritage of freedom secured by our forefathers through hard work, sacrifice and clear thinking. "The scout's job," adds Matthews, "is to guarantee that this liberty will be preserved in his generation. Learning the 12 points of the scout law to be trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean, and reverent, is the first step towards this objective."

In Washington 12 outstanding boy scouts representing each of the nation's regions, will share in ceremonies opening the "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" program nationally. While in Washington scouts will make a report to the nation of the "Scout Citizen at Work in 1948," summing up the service projects and activities of America's 70,000 scout units.

After their stay in Washington the scouts will go to New York to meet United Nations officials and to take part in ceremonies at the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor, Feb. 12, where torches will be lighted to start the two-year crusade.

Four Troop 214 Members Will Become Eagle Scouts

Charles King — Fred Kirn — Jack Harris — Ray Eyerman

One does not become an Eagle Scout in 10 easy lessons. This is the experience of Fred Kirn, Charles C. King, Jack Harris and Ray Eyerman (shown above).

These four Hilltop boys have qualified for the highest rank in scouting and will be presented with eagle awards during Boy Scout week, Sunday, Feb. 6, at the "Eagle Court of Honor" ceremony, to be held at Upper Arlington High School at 2:30 p. m. The court of honor is a special service designed for the presentation of advancement awards. Bland L. Stradley, vice-president of Ohio State University and Boy Scout council advancement chairman, will present the awards. A musical program is planned, with the Capital University Women's Choir participating.

All four of the boys are from Troop 214, sponsored by St. Mary Magdalene Church, and have been active members in the troop for more than two years. Three of them are freshmen at Aquinas High School and one, Charles King, is a freshman at St. Charles High School.

Fred, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Kirn, 2993 Fremont-st, lists scouting as his chief hobby and intends to be an aviator when he grows up.

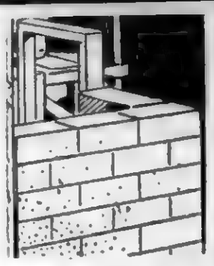
Charles, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. King, 191 Guernsey-av, in addition to his scout work, is a sports fan. He especially likes basketball.

Jack, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harris, 204 S. Westgate-av, a former basketball player at St. Mary Magdalene School, likes sports. His ambition is to be a veterinarian.

Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Eyerman, 2979 Parkside-dr, who celebrated his 15th birthday Jan. 23, lists swimming as his favorite sport. Ray's entire family takes an active interest in scout work. His brother, Tom, is a Cub Scout of Troop 214. Mrs. Eyerman is finance chairman of the Southwest District Boy Scouts.

All of the boys are bird enthusiasts as a result of study for scout merit badges awarded in the field of bird study. Satisfactory completion of this course is a necessary qualification for the Eagle Scout honor. The scouts have housed, fed and observed birds from their homes and on bird hikes, which are a favorite pastime. The boys have even interested their parents in this study. Mrs. Harris, Jack's mother, now watches birds and reports to him the number and species appearing in the yard, while he's at school.

In order to qualify for the Eagle award, the four Hilltop scouts had to ascend the scouting advancement ladder. Beginning with the tenderfoot class, each boy had to pass satisfactorily the second and first class scouting requirements, and after a [redacted] month waiting period they were eligible for the Star rank. With five merit badges to their credit and another three month waiting period behind them, the boys were promoted to the Life rank. The Life rank is one step below the Eagle degree on the scouting ladder. In order to qualify for Life rank, scouts must have 10 merit badges to their credit. Badges are awarded after satisfactory completion of such courses as first aid, physical education personal health, public health, life saving, pioneering, safety, and others.



The four Troop 214 scouts to receive Eagle awards have passed the Life rank and have 21 merit badges to their credit. In addition to the badges above, boys have satisfactorily completed courses in cooking, camping, civics, bird study, pathfinding and others listed in the scout handbook.

Scouting Officials Deserve Credit For Time And Energy They Put Into Successful Program

JACK SENSENBRENNER

Cliff Matthews

Joe Goodwin

For their interest and enthusiasm in making scouting possible on the Hilltop a real tribute is due the officials, who have volunteered their time and energy to promote scouting and to plan character building programs so that Hilltop boys will have an outlet for their energies.

Officials responsible for Hilltop's successful units are Cliff Matthews, field scout executive of the southwest district; Jack Sensenbrenner, district chairman; Joe Goodwin, district vice-chairman; Harry Drake, organization and extension chairman; Vernon Sanford, leadership and training chairman; Bob Miller, health and safety chairman; Ray Eyerman, finance chairman; V. A. Barbee, activities chairman; Paul Wichterman, advancement chairman; Charles Maus, publicity chairman; James McCready, district commissioner, and Herman Eisele, assistant district commissioner.

A special tribute is due Cliff Matthews, Jack Sensenbrenner and Joe Goodwin, the real heads of the southwest district.

Cliff, who came to the Hilltop in 1947, as a result of his appointment two years ago as field executive of the southwest district, has worked tirelessly for the promotion of Boy Scouting on the Hilltop. Cliff's appointment was his first venture in professional scouting, but for five years in his youth he was an active Boy Scout in Pennsylvania.

Cliff ended his volunteer scout work when he entered the Army Signal Communications Division during World War II. He spent two years in Italy and the Mediterranean Theater. In 1945 he received his discharge and returned to Muskingum College, where he graduated with a B. A. degree in June, 1947.

Cliff's chief job on the Hilltop is to assist in Boy Scout unit organization and training by interpreting local council policies from instructions received from National BSA headquarters.

Jack Sensenbrenner, real head of the Hilltop district, has a big job in scout promotion. He is behind the character building programs carried out by volunteer committeemen named above. It is his duty to see that volunteer workers and committee chairmen receive proper instructions for their work and to coordinate scout activities in the southwest district.

Mr. Sensenbrenner has been associated with the Boy Scouts of America for more than 20 years, having received his 20 year award in May, 1948. Beginning his scout career in 1914 in Circleville, he first became a scoutmaster six years later in Long Beach, Calif., in 1920, and served during the earthquake there.

After returning to Columbus, he was made scoutmaster of Troop No. 1, first troop organized in the city. When he moved to the Hilltop he was made assistant scoutmaster of Camp Chase Post and since then has been active in Boy Scout work here. At the present time he holds the positions of chairman of the southwest district and neighborhood commissioner.

On Jan. 14 Mr. Sensenbrenner received his latest honor, the Red Cross scoutmaster's key, for completing requirements in scoutmaster training, first aid, health, safety, troop camping, leadership, troop committeemen training and the necessary five year registered tenure in scouting. The key is available only to scoutmasters.

The post of vice-chairman, a new position on the executive council was delegated to Joe Goodwin a year ago. Mr. Goodwin acts as assistant commissioner to Mr. Sensenbrenner and carries out his instructions regarding coordination of scout units in the southwest district. Mr. Goodwin, owner of Goodwin's Pharmacy, started his career with the Boy Scouts in Youngstown, his home town, and served as scout councilor there for more than a year.

The Central Ohio Council of the Boy Scouts of America has a total of 346 registered scout units. Units are 98 Cub Scout packs, 213 Boy Scout troops, and 35 Senior Scout units. Office of the Central Ohio Council is at 26 N. Grant-ave. A net increase of 48 units was noted during the past year.

Cub Pack No. 21 Has Three Dens

Cub Scout Pack 21, sponsored by the Dana PTA, consists of three dens with a membership of 25 boys. The den mothers are Mrs. C. D. Cook, Mrs. Art Sibbalds and Mrs. Lloyd Little.

Other committee members are C. D. Cook, cubmaster, Art Hale, assistant, Art Sibbalds, chairman, and Robert Deyo, secretary and treasurer.

During the past year several of the boys have graduated and gone into scout troops of their choice. Tommy Allis transferred from Pack 10, southeast district, to Pack 21. Regular den and pack meetings were held during the summer months.

In May the Cubs and fathers held a wiener roast at Westgate Park. A family picnic and swim was held in July at Maple Shade. A family wiener roast was celebrated at Halloween at Westgate Park.

The boys are looking forward to the annual blue and gold pack party to be held in recognition of Scout Week in February.

THE ROAD TO KNOWLEDGE

HOW do you pack a blanket roll that's fit for a forest tramp?

HOW do you build a crackling fire when all of the wood is damp?

HOW do you stretch a shelter tent and how do you make your camp.

HOW do you cook your bacon and spuds so none of the stuff will burn?

HOW do you know the things to take and the things you must leave behind?

HOW do you make a bed of boughs that's comfortably designed?

HOW do you know the trail to take—and the way that you should return?

GO to the scouts, go to the Scouts, go to the Scouts—and learn!

WHERE are the streams that teem with fish and how do you travel there?

WHICH is the trail to the piney woods where fragrance is on the air?

HOW can you keep to a faint blazed trail as your only thoroughfare?

WHAT is the secret of your craft and where did you get your key?

HOW do you pilot a slim canoe through rapids that seethe and toss?

HOW do you pick the safest ford when there is a stream to cross?

HOW can you always find yourself wherever you chance to be?

FOLLOW the Scouts, follow the Scouts, follow the Scouts, and see!

WHAT did you do to get so brown, so husky and strong and straight?

WHERE did you learn that easy walk, that breezy and swinging gait?

AND where did you get that fearless glance that challenges chance or fate?

AND why do you grin and blush a bit yet hold your head so high?

WHY do you spring so ready to answer a call for aid?

AND why do you tackle each job you find as if you had learned the trade?

AND why do you view this big round world with a confident, cheerful eye?

I AM A SCOUT—and a first class Scout, and that is the reason why.

Let's Conserve The Parking Space

Police have been active recently in tagging autos parked in the areas marked for bus stops on the Hilltop. The campaign is largely one conducted in the daytime.

We sincerely believe the city could cut these bus stop areas down by about half and still allow them ample space in which to pull up to the corner for their stops.

We have observed the buses in making stops and find that few of the drivers ever cut in toward the curb until well up to the corner. Yet if a person

"If it wasn't for the Scouts I never would have done it," he reported at that time. "It took me wo years to learn to swim but ow I can't keep out of the wa..."

...coutmaster R. C. Kadel was ...strumental in letting the story ...ut and also in securing the med... ...l for Joseph.

While Mrs. Clifford Lewis was eaching Gladys Anderson to swim in Buckeye Lake in July, 1927, Miss Anderson became frightened, getting a strangle hold on Mrs. Lewis and causing them both to go under.

Erlenwein, seeing the attempts of the young ladies to keep from going under, went to their assistance. After the couple had gone under three times Joseph pulled them to shore and thus saved their lives.

One of the peculiar features of the whole affair lies in the fact that the scout did not learn to swim until after he had spent two summers at the task. All his other scout merit badges were easily made but the one for swimming threatened to keep him from advancing.

Later, when a member of the armed forces, where he served almost five years, he taught swimming and safety in the Hawaiian Islands as a bona fide instructor with the American Red Cross and he taught groups of 200-250 in first aid.

As far as your reporter can learn only one other official Boy Scout medal for life-saving has been awarded in Columbus.

Back in 1927, when the coveted award was given to Erlenwein, newspapers throughout the country heralded him for his heroic efforts. A banquet was held in his honor at a downtown hotel and many celebrities were invited.

Gov. Myer Y. Cooper made the presentation on behalf of the Boy Scouts of America, and a Hollywood photographer was dispatched to Columbus to photograph Erlenwein.

At present Mr. Erlenwein is associated with the Veterans' Administration and lives with Mrs. Erlenwein at 1349 Sunrise-av, Grandview.

He is still much interested in sports, including swimming, horseback riding and photography.

City Set to Buy Land For Golf Course Here

It was learned from reliable sources this week that the city will purchase the 220 acre Yeager farm on Trabue-rd to be turned into a golf course by the city recreation commission.

A purchase price acceptable to Gebhart Yeager, owner, has been determined upon and members of city council, the recreation commission and the mayor have inspected the tract and have found it to be ideal for the establishment of a 27 to 36 hole golf course here.

The tract is bordered on the north by the railroad, on the south by Trabue-rd and on the west by Wilson-rd and runs north to a line fence near the Hayes Home factory.

The large stone house and other buildings on the property would be utilized for lockers and club room space.

Phil Stout, attorney, 2532 W. Broad-st, president of the Hilltop Business Association, and a member of the city recreation commission, states that the recreation commission believes the course can be ready for play by the spring of 1950. He has been active in seeking the purchase of the land.

Money to purchase the tract will be provided from bond issue funds available to the recreation division and from general funds. Total investment by the time it is ready for play will amount to about $120,000.

Mayor James Rhodes has advocated the establishment of this course for some time, pointing out that there are only nine holes of golf available in this area and that in the past 15 years 180 holes have been removed from play.

If the city purchases this land it will be the largest single tract the city will own.

Let's Conserve The Parking Space

Police have been active recently in tagging autos parked in the areas marked for bus stops on the Hilltop. The campaign is largely one conducted in the daytime.

We sincerely believe the city could cut these bus stop areas down by about half and still allow them ample space in which to pull up to the corner for their stops.

We have observed the buses in making stops and find that few of the drivers ever cut in toward the curb until well up to the corner. Yet if a person

C. D. Cook, cubmaster of Cub Pack 31, has led activities of the cubs for about two years.

The Boy Scouts of America is organized not only in the United States, but in Alaska, Hawaii, Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam. Troops or Packs are also found in foreign countries where there are American boys.

Total Scouts and leaders since 1910—15,500,000.

Activities

V. A. Barbee is new camping activities chairman of the Southwest District Boy Scouts. Mr. Barbee was appointed to his position in November.

"Adventure—that's Scouting!" The theme of Boy Scout Week this year is a reality for hundreds of thousands of Boy Scouts. They enjoy thrilling experiences in the 701 long-term camps maintained by Local Scout Councils and an even greater number of short-term camps for outings of one to three days. Camp property owned or leased by the Boy Scouts of America comes to more than 250,000 acres with a value of over ten million dollars.

More than 2,200,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Senior Scouts and their adult leaders in every part of the nation will observe this 39th Anniversary.

West Teacher Organized Scout Troop On Guam

Cyrus Sedgewick, 24, mathematics instructor at West High School, had a singular experience during the last war, in helping to organize Boy Scout troops in Guam.

Mr. Sedgewick, during his three years of military service as ensign in the United States Navy, along with 15 other officers and enlisted men, succeeded in interesting 500 natives during World War II in scouthood principles.

The natives, chamorrows of Spanish descent, were products of a ravished people, reduced to servitude by the invasion of the Japs.

When the Japs left the desolate island, the Americans moved in and found a subservient people eager to accept the teaching of American scout work.

Mr. Sedgewick, a linguist, spent much time in organizing troops and interpreting the scout work for the natives.

Following temporary organization the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America recognized officially the troops in which West High's math teacher had a vital part. Native school teachers in Guam now serve as scoutmasters.

A scout since the age of 12 in his native town of Bellaire, O., Sedgewick has never gotten away from the movement completely. He is now serving in an official capacity with the organization.

An Eagle Scout, he served as scout counselor at two summer camps and is identified with the scout fraternity at Ohio State University, the Alpha Phi Omega.

He lives at 1739 Gerrand-av with Mrs. Sedgewick and their three-month-old daughter, Jennifer.

Health, Safety

Bob Miller

Bob Miller, health and safety chairman, has been active in scout work for 10 years. He has led a district training course, served as merit badge counselor and served on the staff at Camp Lazarus. Mr. Miller is chairman of the committee for Troop 29 in addition to his duties with the southwest district.

Troop 49 Spent 34 Days In Camp

Troop 49 meets at Wilson School every Tuesday night at 7:30. During the year 1948 the troop spent 34 days in camping. Winter camp was held at Buckeye Lake and a play called "The Worth of a Boy," was produced for the Wilson School PTA, sponsor of the troop.

Let's Conserve The Parking Space

Police have been active recently in tagging autos parked in the areas marked for bus stops on the Hilltop. The campaign is largely one conducted in the daytime.

We sincerely believe the city could cut these bus stop areas down by about half and still allow them ample space in which to pull up to the corner for their stops.

We have observed the buses in making stops and find that few of the drivers ever cut in toward the curb until well up to the corner. Yet if a person

City Set to Buy Land For Golf Course Here

It was learned from reliable sources this week that the city will purchase the 220 acre Yeager farm on Trabue-rd to be turned into a golf course by the city recreation commission.

A purchase price acceptable to Gebhart Yeager, owner, has been determined upon and members of city council, the recreation commission and the mayor have inspected the tract and have found it to be ideal for the establishment of a 27 to 36 hole golf course here.

The tract is bordered on the north by the railroad, on the south by Trabue-rd and on the west by Wilson-rd and runs north to a line fence near the Hayes Home factory.

The large stone house and other buildings on the property would be utilized for lockers and club room space.

Phil Stout, attorney, 2532 W. Broad-st, president of the Hilltop Business Association, and a member of the city recreation commission, states that the recreation commission believes the course can be ready for play by the spring of 1950. He has been active in seeking the purchase of the land.

Money to purchase the tract will be provided from bond issue funds available to the recreation division and from general funds. Total investment by the time it is ready for play will amount to about $120,000.

Mayor James Rhodes has advocated the establishment of this course for some time, pointing out that there are only nine holes of golf available in this area and that in the past 15 years 180 holes have been removed from play.

If the city urchases this land it will be the largest single tract the city will own.

Kadel Is Pioneer In Local Scouting

R. C. Kadel 1369 Frank-rd, is one of Hilltop's pioneers in scouting. He was the first scout master of Troop 1, one of the oldest on the Hilltop, sponsored by Hoge Memorial Church, and was the first scoutmaster in Columbus to receive the scoutmaster's key. He served as scoutmaster of Troop 21 for nine years with an almost perfect attendance record.

Since Mr. Kadel's original interest in scouting he has never lost contact with local organizations. In 1933 he succeeded Byron Redman as southwest district committee chairman and to this date retains his office of merit badge counselor.

Kadel is remembered on the Hilltop for his bravery in 1929, when he was a boy scout in Troop 21 and saved the life of Paul Miller, 4, of Chillicothe. The child fell in Indian Lake at Waterbury Resort, and had gone down for the third time, when Kadel saw him. Without a moments hesitancy he jumped into the lake, and pulled the child to shore and restored his breathing with artifical respiration.

At the present time Mr. Kadel is associated with the Thomas Engineering Co. on the Hilltop.

He Assists

Harry Drake

Assisting the executive officers are committee chairmen. Harry Drake, organization and extension chairman, first served the southwest district by assisting former chairmen of this committee for two years. Three years ago he was made head of the committee and has filled this job until the present time. In his youth he was a Boy Scout at Avondale school.

Recently Mr. Drake received the Red Cross training award after successfully completing courses in first aid, health and safety.

Cub Pack 37 Is Hilltop's Newest

Pack 37 is the youngest pack of Cub Scouts on the Hilltop, having just been organized, and yet to have its first den meeting. This pack has no official sponsor but is backed by a group of parents who are interested in giving their boys something constructive to do. All the boys live in the Hilltonia section of the Hilltop, and the pack meetings will be held in the Hilltonia EUB Church.

Plans for 1949 are incomplete at the present, but several projects have been planned. For the first den meeting, the boys will make plaster paris moulds of Indians, tepees, wigwams and other Indian figures.

Plans have also been made to do leather work. One of the parents has access to scrap leather. As a first project in leather work coin purses will be made with leather lacings.

The boys will also do woodcarving. One of the boys is a collector of dogs and is quite anxious to add to his collection some dogs which he has carved himself.

One of the overall aims of Pack 37 is to lead the boys into new fields of interest — interests and hobbies which they may not otherwise discover for themselves.

The pack committee of Pack 37 is as follows: Harold Howe, chairman, Earl R. Fulton, treasurer and Mrs. Harold Howe, secretary. Paul R. Langdon is the cubmaster. Winfield Shields is a den dad. Den mothers are: Den 1, Mrs. Paul Langdon, with Mrs. Louise Hoover as assistant; and Den 2, Mrs. Winfield Shields, with Mrs. Charles Watts as assistant.

Boys in Den 1 are Stephen Foster, James Fulton, David Hoover, Robert Howe, Charles Landenberger and Larry Langdon. Boys in Den 2 are Fred Green, Robert Messing, Thomas Shields, Vernon Vagnier and Tom Watts.

Let's Conserve The Parking Space

Police have been active recently in tagging autos parked in the areas marked for bus stops on the Hilltop. The campaign is largely one conducted in the daytime.

We sincerely believe the city could cut these bus stop areas down by about half and still allow them ample space in which to pull up to the corner for their stops.

We have observed the buses in making stops and find that few of the drivers ever cut in toward the curb until well up to the corner. Yet if a person park

City Set to Buy Land For Golf Course Here

It was learned from reliable sources this week that the city will purchase the 220 acre Yeager farm on Trabue-rd to be turned into a golf course by the city recreation commission.

A purchase price acceptable to Gebhart Yeager, owner, has been determined upon and members of city council, the recreation commission and the mayor have inspected the tract and have found it to be ideal for the establishment of a 27 to 36 hole golf course here.

The tract is bordered on the north by the railroad, on the south by Trabue-rd and on the west by Wilson-rd and runs north to a line fence near the Hayes Home factory.

The large stone house and other buildings on the property would be utilized for lockers and club room space.

Phil Stout, attorney, 2532 W. Broad-st, president of the Hilltop Business Association, and a member of the city recreation commission, states that the recreation commission believes the course can be ready for play by the spring of 1950. He has been active in seeking the purchase of the land.

Money to purchase the tract will be provided from bond issue funds available to the recreation division and from general funds. Total investment by the time it is ready for play will amount to about $120,000.

Mayor James Rhodes has advocated the establishment of this course for some time, pointing out that there are only nine holes of golf available in this area and that in the past 15 years 180 holes have been removed from play.

If the city purchases this land it will be the largest single tract the city will own.

HAND IN HAND

THE trust of a little child is one of life's high goods. Each of us has been the better for the unquestioning faith of one of these little ones. To betray such confidence is to maim and twist the human spirit, perhaps beyond recovery. Shall we be worthy of childhood's trust, worthy in word and in deed, worthy in the example and the instruction we offer, worthy in the direction we give to young feet? We must be trustworthy, for their sakes... We must walk hand in hand.

EQUALLY as important is our trust, our confidence in the possibilities wrapped up in every new life. The little girl, the tiny boy, each merits our meditation and our imagination to look into the future and dream of what this life may be and do. God has made them worthy of our highest hope; they will go beyond what most of us can believe, surely beyond where we have come.

THIS eager mind, with its eternal questing to know, will learn all that we can share with him and more; he will solve problems that were too difficult for his parents. Give him a chance; help him to believe and to dream; fill his teeming brain with everything we have to offer; then trust his own thinking. He will be the master of the new age which he will help to build.

THE immortal spirit or soul will grow into a rich person with capacity for loving and for creating. Encourage him to read great biographies, teach him to sing our noblest songs, share with him our reverent prayers, acquaint him with high souls that pass his way, lead him into the church. Who can tell the grace and the nobility that lie hidden within the soul? It doesn't matter so much where he may be today; it matters much that we shall show him where he may go tomorrow. Trust the aspiring soul. And trust the great God who is creator of body, mind and soul. Who knows what you and the child and God may accomplish through this life? Walk hand in hand with him.

The object for which this loan company was organized, is to furnish a safe profitable place for the investment of its members and to use these investments to aid other members to build and own their own homes.

Many people have idle money or money which they think should be earning a higher rate of interest. Perhaps they are uncertain as to what to do with it. If you are considering the worth of an investment, just ask yourself these questions: Is it safe? Is it tax exempt?

The plans of the association offer you an investment that will meet every requirement of the most exacting investor.

The wise policies of its management is evidenced by the fact that it has large assets. The safety of its methods is further evidenced by the fact that it loans exclusively on first mortgages.

Heroism of Scouts Saves Child

By Myron T. Seifert

Boy Scout heroism came to the front in 1928 and recognition went to a member of Boy Scout Troop 21, which met at Hoge Memorial Church. The boy was Richard Beard, 13, 1496 Sullivant-av.

Mary Ann Haldy, 2½ years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Haldy, 331 S. Bullferd-av, was rescued from severe burns after her clothes had caught fire from a bonfire.

Beard and his friend, Marvin Southworth, 12, 1510 Sullivant-av, saw the flames surround the little girl. Marvin shouted "Roll her on the ground," and Richard followed instructions. They extinguished the flame and stopped a passing motorist to take her to Mt. Carmel Hospital.

NOTICE

While all scout units are not represented in the Boy Scout Feature supplement this week, the Record used all material submitted to this office by scout authorities, in compliance with The Hilltop Record deadline.

All pictures submitted, which were suitable for publication, have been used.

Let's Conserve The Parking Space

Police have been active recently in tagging autos parked in the areas marked for bus stops on the Hilltop. The campaign is largely one conducted in the daytime.

We sincerely believe the city could cut these bus stop areas down by about half and still allow them ample space in which to pull up to the corner for their stops.

We have observed the buses in making stops and find that few of the drivers ever cut in toward the curb until well up to the corner. Yet if a person

City Set to Buy Land For Golf Course Here

It was learned from reliable sources this week that the city will purchase the 220 acre Yeager farm on Trabue-rd to be turned into a golf course by the city recreation commission.

A purchase price acceptable to Gebhart Yeager, owner, has been determined upon and members of city council, the recreation commission and the mayor have inspected the tract and have found it to be ideal for the establishment of a 27 to 36 hole golf course here.

The tract is bordered on the north by the railroad, on the south by Trabue-rd and on the west by Wilson-rd and runs north to a line fence near the Hayes Home factory.

The large stone house and other buildings on the property would be utilized for lockers and club room space.

Phil Stout, attorney, 2632 W. Broad-st, president of the Hilltop Business Association, and a member of the city recreation commission, states that the recreation commission believes the course can be ready for play by the spring of 1950. He has been active in seeking the purchase of the land.

Money to purchase the tract will be provided from bond issue funds available to the recreation division and from general funds. Total investment by the time it is ready for play will amount to about $120,000.

Mayor James Rhodes has advocated the establishment of this course for some time, pointing out that there are only nine holes of golf available in this area and that in the past 15 years 180 holes have been removed from play.

If the city urchases this land it will be the largest single tract the city will own.

Ziggy Coyle Gets Starling Teaching Post

William Coyle, new instrumental director at Starling Junior High, is a familiar figure on the Hilltop.

William, better known as "Ziggy" is the leader of a well-known dance band, popular in Columbus and other vicinities. A favorite of teen-agers, Ziggy is known as a "real gone guy" by Hilltop's Be-bop fans.

A graduate of West High School, Ziggy graduated from Ohio State University in December, and took up duties at Starling's music director about a week ago. He was a member of Ohio State's marching band, and played for many Ohio State dances while an undergraduate there.

His present schedule allows three days of instruction at Starling and two days at Everett Junior High. He teaches beginners, intermediate and advanced orchestral [illegible] and also gives semi-private instruction to small groups.

In addition to orchestral classes Ziggy instructs three classes in vocal music.

'Doc' Campbell Celebrates 25th Year In Drug Business On The Hilltop

By Doris McGill

Charles H. Campbell, owner of Campbell's Pharmacy, 2766 W. Broad-st, and well-known secretary of local organizations, is celebrating his 25th year in business this month.

Campbell's Pharmacy today is a little different from the store which made its original appearance Feb. 7, 1924. Floor space has been doubled since that time, a new soda fountain added and three clerks hired to keep up with the trade. The new soda fountain is the third one for the drug store. "The last one we had just wore out," Doc Campbell said.

Many drug stores have prospered by selling everything except drugs, but Doc still maintains his largest trade is pharmaceutical supplies. However, he stocks his shelves with everything from soup to nuts. Most popular selling items are school supplies, cosmetics, photo supplies, cards, stationery and magazines.

Doc has been a Columbus resident since 1917. He is a veteran of World War I, when he served as a laboratory technician. After graduating from Ohio State University in the college of pharmacy, he worked for two years as an assistant in Slaters Pharmacy, formerly at Burgess-av and W. Broad-st. Shortly thereafter he went into business for himself at his present business site.

C. M. Campbell

Originally from the southern part of Ohio, Mr. Campbell graduated from Gallipolis High School. His wife is also from that part of Ohio and they were married in 1918.

The Campbells have one son, Fletcher, 27, who is employed at the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. The Campbell residence is at 91 S. Westmoor-av.

In addition to his duties at the pharmacy, Doc finds time to serve as secretary to the Hilltop Business Association, which position he has held for 11 years; secretary for the Central Ohio Academy of Pharmacy for five years, and has been secretary for the Servall Druggist Organization for 15 years.

50 Cubs Make Up Pack No. 214

Pack 214 sponsored by St. Mary Magdalene Church was organized in May, 1947. The first cub master was Thomas Howell. At the present time the pack is composed of seven dens with a total of 50 cubs participating in the program.

The officers of the pack are: Celeste Caprette, chairman; Pat Timmons, secretary; James Hughes, treasurer; Everett Wilson, assistant treasurer; Larry Halter and John Stack, program; Raymond Everman, institutional representative; Larry Hoffman, advancement. Francis Boehm is cubmaster with William Davis and Edward Segbers, assistant cubmasters.

The den mothers are: Den 1, Mrs. O. C. Mackey; Den 2, Mrs. Paul Quinn; Den 3, Mrs. William Davis; Den 4, Mrs. Larry Hoffman; Den 5, Mrs. John Mercurio; Den 6, Mrs. Everett Wilson; Den 7, Mrs. John Stack.

This year as an added incentive to the cubs three ribbons are presented at each pack meeting, the achievement, attendance and good conduct ribbons. The dens winning these ribbons place them permanently on their den flags.

The monthly themes have been very interesting to both the cubs and parents. The September theme was roundup time and the achievement award was presented for the best made cowboy outfit. In October there was a trading spree of homemade noise makers and the achievement ribbon was given for the most unique den pumpkin face. November was artists' month in the pack, with each boy exhibiting a Thanksgiving poster. The annual pack Christmas party was held in December with the boys making and giving gifts to their parents. Den minstrel shows was the January theme and some cub talent was discovered. February being cub birthday month, a big family pot luck is planned in the school basement. The achievement award for this month will be given for the best center piece and place cards.

As goodwill projects the cubs repaired more than 60 toys and delivered them to St. Vincent's Orphanage along with bags of candy. They also sent more than 200 pounds of food to a colored mission school in Fairfield, Alabama. This porject was supervised by Mr. and Mrs. William Davis.

The boys are progressing with their achievement books and many have received their awards. There will be a joint Cub and Boy Scout investiture service held at St. Mary Magdalene Church in the middle of February. The Cub monthly communion Sunday is the third Sunday of the month.

Capital University Girls' Chorus To Sing At Scout Eagle Court of Honor

Boy Scout Advancement Committee Chairman Dr. Bland L. Stradley announced that 41 Boy Scouts will receive their Eagle awards Sunday, Feb. 6. The Eagle Court of Honor will be held at Upper Arlington High School at 2:30 p. m., with scouts from Franklin County receiving Second and First Class, Star and Life awards. The program will feature the launching of the 40th anniversary crusade, "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty," and Capital University Girls' Chorus of 75 voices under the direction of Kenneth R. Keller.

Let's Conserve The Parking Space

Police have been active recently in tagging autos parked in the areas marked for bus stops on the Hilltop. The campaign is largely one conducted in the daytime.

We sincerely believe the city could cut these bus stop areas down by about half and still allow them ample space in which to pull up to the corner for their stops.

We have observed the buses in making stops and find that few of the drivers ever cut in toward the curb until well up to the corner. Yet if a person parks a car in this area, back some distance, while they run in to pick up a package, they are certain to get a ticket.

Parking space is at a premium. Let's conserve it.

Do You Have A White Elephant On Your Hands?

Something new in the trade-in field is being announced this week by Ed Witherspoon, proprietor of the Better Home Center Stores, 2775 and 1384 W. Broad-st.

The firm is announcing a "White Elephant Sale" in which they ask the public to furnish the "white elephants". He advises that they will take "anything" in trade on new electrical appliances. If you no longer have a use for it his firm will accept it in trade he says.

Mr. Witherspoon says he has given the matter much consideration and feels that many people have certain useable items about the house that are strictly "white elephants". Through a connection that he has recently established he now has an outlet for "anything" that is useable including (but not limited to) furniture, used appliances, sporting goods, diamonds, etc.

Plenty of Vitamin "R" In Record Classifieds!

Yes-sir-ree, folks, those Record Classified Ads are brim-full of Vitamin "R" — RESULTS! How do we know? Why, you good Hilltoppers tell us so, every week. The following examples are typical:

WHITE DROP-HEAD sewing machine. RA. 9218.

Mrs. Henry Martin, 306 N. Hague Ave., placed the above "For Sale" ad in last Thursday's edition. By 10 a. m. Thursday, she had sold the sewing machine.

2 BABY GUARD high chairs. Excellent condition. RA. 7546.

The above "For Sale" ad was inserted by Mrs. I. Proctor, 330 S. Huron Ave. The response to her ad began with a phone call about 10 o'clock Thursday morning, and by that afternoon the high chairs had changed ownership.

Still another Record Want Advertiser sold an 1840 tractor through a 35c ad. We could go on and on citing various illustrations of the Classified section's pulling power, but space does not permit.

If you haven't given ol' Vitamin "R" an opportunity to go to work for you, why not run an ad in next week's paper. Call RA. 1135 before 9 a. m. Wednesday.

City Finance Director Is Discussed At HBA Meeting

Pros and cons of the proposed amendment to provide for the establishment of a city finance director were presented at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Hilltop Business Association at Westgate Methodist Church.

John King, Jr., a representative of Citizens' Research, Inc., outlined the amendment and spoke in behalf of the measure while R. P. Barthalow, city auditor, pointed to weaknesses of the proposal and advocated the appointment of a city budget director by city council rather than take the matter to the people for a vote.

King stated that the present system provides terrific confusion due to deficit financing, the result of "living with financial machinery not adequate for present day use." Under the proposed amendment he claims sound and careful planning can be done by the department of finance. Responsibility is now divided and the new plan would definitely place the responsibility in the finance director.

King pointed out that the proposed amendment would establish four departments, the division of auditing, purchase and supply, tax collection and licenses, and treasurer. The finance director and deputy director would be appointed by the mayor. The director would appoint the other division heads. The auditor would be elected and would be a "watch dog of the treasury and other city officials."

Barthalow admitted the great need of more attention to city finances but claims this can better be accomplished and with less cost to the taxpayers by the establishment of a city budget department with the head of the department appointed by council. He objected to the appointment of the finance director by the mayor.

"In reality under the provisions of the proposed amendment to the city charter, the mayor appoints not only the finance director, but also the city treasurer, the collector of taxes and city's purchasing agent and the man who makes the audits.

"Do you not see that if anything is found amiss in any of these departments, it is the responsibility of the mayor, and can you for one moment imagine that the chief accountant appointed by the mayor be very willing to make an exposure of another department head, such as, say the city treasurer or the city's purchasing agent, also appointed by the mayor. You know he would not. True, it would probably be corrected but John Q. Public would not be in the know if it could be avoided," he said.

Barthalow pointed out that other cities of Ohio having finance directors have much higher taxes than those of Columbus.

He referred to a committee appointed by the mayor last summer to investigate the advisability of the proposal. Edgar Planck, past president of the Hilltop Business Association, was a member of the committee. This group failed to make a report favoring the proposal, he stated.

"There should be created within the city government the position of director of the budget and it should be the duty of this person to give full time to studying and analyzing budget and appropriation requirements.

"This is one of the duties that the proposed amendment to the city charter imposes upon the finance director, but it also imposes so many other duties upon him that he could not possibly give it his personal full time attention and this is the one thing more than anything else that is needed in this city.

"If the position of director of the budget were created and an expert on such matters were appointed to the position, thousands of dollars could be saved the taxpayers of this city each year and at the same time they would receive better municipal service at a very small additional cost," Barthalow said.

Mayor Rhodes To Speak Here Tuesday

Mayor James A. Rhodes will be the speaker at the February meeting of the Hillcrest Baptist Brotherhood next Tuesday at 6:45 p. m. He will tell of his recent trip to the olympic games.

A special program has been planned, at which time members of Boy Scout Troops 181 and 45 will be honored by the group.

Little Theatre To Produce 3-Act Comedy

"Her Husband's Wife," a three-act comedy by Albert E. Thomas, has been chosen by the Play Selection Committee of the Hilltop Little Theatre as the organization's next production.

Mrs. Lucille Bogue, chairman of the committee, is most enthusiastic regarding "Her Husband's Wife" as a vehicle for the enjoyment of Hilltop residents. The complicated thread of the plot results in many uproarious situations throughout the three acts, climaxed by the surprising denouncement which the audience does not suspect.

Try-outs for the production will be held Sunday, Feb. 20 at the Hilltop YMCA; rehearsals will start immediately after casting has been completed, and the play will be given the latter part of April in the West High School auditorium.

The board of directors, in selecting West High School, realize that it is an ambitious venture, but they feel that the success attending the three productions already played by the Hilltop Little Theare, justifies the decision to give more. Hilltoppers the opportunity of witnessing a clean, wholesome, well acted play.

City Set to Buy Land For Golf Course Here

It was learned from reliable sources this week that the city will purchase the 220 acre Yeager farm on Trabue-rd to be turned into a golf course by the city recreation commission.

A purchase price acceptable to Gebhart Yeager, owner, has been determined upon and members of city council, the recreation commission and the mayor have inspected the tract and have found it to be ideal for the establishment of a 27 to 36 hole golf course here.

The tract is bordered on the north by the railroad, on the south by Trabue-rd and on the west by Wilson-rd and runs north to a line fence near the Hayes Home factory.

The large stone house and other buildings on the property would be utilized for lockers and club room space.

Phil Stout, attorney, 2532 W. Broad-st, president of the Hilltop Business Association, and a member of the city recreation commission, states that the recreation commission believes the course can be ready for play by the spring of 1950. He has been active in seeking the purchase of the land.

Money to purchase the tract will be provided from bond issue funds available to the recreation division and from general funds. Total investment by the time it is ready for play will amount to about $120,000.

Mayor James Rhodes has advocated the establishment of this course for some time, pointing out that there are only nine holes of golf available in this area and that in the past 15 years 180 holes have been removed from play.

If the city purchases this land it will be the largest single tract the city will own.

TELEVISION

Hilltop Dealers Give Answers To Questions You Are Asking

Hilltop radio and television dealers have supplied the answers to the following questions regarding the advent of television:

Q. What kind of programs will be available from national networks?

A. A typical program of one station follows: Vaudeville show, Junior Jamboree, Singing and Dancing novelties, News, Newsreel Theatre, Cartoon Carnival, theatre, sports, basketball games, etc.

Q. How big a screen should I buy?

A. That will depend upon how many people are to view the show at one time. Some people are finding it best to determine the size screen they will get by the amount they want to spend. One rule is that it will cost about $100 per head. Some dealers are advising their customers that they should buy a less expensive set at this time and one that doesn't have all the extra gadgets on it such as radio and record players.

Q. Where should it be placed?

A. One simple rule is: Where it can be seen to best advantage provided you avoid glare by facing it away from windows. Then too, there is always the lady of the house to be satisfied when it comes to placing her furniture. Most of the sets are attractive and should be a nice additional piece of furniture for any home.

Q. What should I determine about the sound of the set?

A. In buying a set try to get a demonstration of a live rather than recorded music and voices.

Q. How many tubes should my set have?

A. The more tubes the better the set.

Q. How long will the tubes last?

A. Most sets have tubes that will last at least 1000 hours and many will run for 4000 hours.

Lt. Eugene Miller, 561 S. Eureka-av, in charge of the City Fire Department's No. 1 Fire Squad, heroically rescued a 15-month-old baby Sunday, Feb. 5, from flames enveloping her second floor home.

Her five-year-old brother, saved by a neighbor, and the young baby were alone in their S. Ludlow-st apartment when a kerosene stove exploded.

West Suffers 44-42 Defeat In Close Game

By Dave Miller

West High cagers suffered a tough 44 to 42 setback at the hands of a rough North five Tuesday night in the North gym.

The loss, coupled with East and South wins, tied the Cowboys and South's Bulldogs for third place in the City League. First place Central and second place East still lead.

The Cowboys and Polar Bears fought bitterly throughout the game, but North managed to make good use of the few shots they took to capture the victory. The Polar Bears had no individual star, but Bob Blanchard took high honors for the Bears with nine points.

The Cowboys, paced by Phil Young, their one-hand push shot artist, connected for eight goals and a duo of charity tosses for 18 tallies, making him high scorer for the evening. Fred Adams was next in line with seven. Dick Culbertson, stellar guard, who hit for 18 against Aquinas last Friday night was held to two baskets. Dick was taken out of the game midway in the second period after he had four fouls. He committed his fifth with nine seconds to go in the game.

The game was nip and tuck from start to finish with Phil Young's two straight push shots accounting for a close score at the first quarter's end, 9-8, in North's favor.

However, 36 points swished through the nets in the second quarter, and each team felt itself at its offensive best. Young and Thrush paced the Cowboys scoring this period, each hitting for six tallies.

After Adams, Young and Thrush had scored six straight points for West late in the second period, and had given the Cowboys a 25-24 advantage, "Zack" Willson and Bob Blanchard of North sank consecutive goals and North went to the locker rooms at halftime, leading, 28-25.

A low scoring third period started out with West going like a house afire. Jim Rudolph, Young and Adams all joined in for nine straight points in the opening part of the period to give West a quick 34-28 lead. However, Thomas, Blanchard, Widdoes and Hyatt all came back with seven tallies and the quarter ended in North's favor, 35-34.

The final quarter saw both teams struggling to cinch the game. However, Young and Adams managed two straight in a row and the score read in North's favor, 43-42, with 1:13 left in the game. North in a possession game, stalled the ball until the end of the game, and North ended in front.

The reserve fray was another close one. With the Cowboys ahead, 26-17, North started to hit and scored seven straight points, but three free throws by Paul Ellingsworth of the locals and one by Dave Caton, also of West, sewed up the game for a 30 to 26 decision for the Hilltoppers. Ellingsworth was top man with 11, followed by Caton and Paul Thompson, who had seven and six points, respectively.

One inch of rain over one square acre of land. The water would weigh 113¼ short tons and be equal to 27,143 gallons of water, or 603 barrels containing 45 gallons.

Glenwood Center

tests, treasure hunts and dances.

Glenwood Center's system of clubs is unique in that nearly every type of activity is represented. Clubs choose their own officers and carry out their own programs with a minimum of supervision. Clubs have regular weekly meetings and include the Photography Club, Press Club, Girls' Athletic Club, Patrol Club, Girls' Club, Junior Girls' Club and Boys' Club.

Winter Program

Basketball is the current highlight of the winter athletic program at Glenwood Center. Five varsity basketball teams, all uniformed, play regular weekly or bi-weekly contests at the Center. Teams range from the Junior Junior team (for boys 12 to 14) to the Senior team (for boys 16 to 18.) Glenwood teams compete in community league contests, playing church or other recreational center teams.

Girls also compete in community contests and select their own teams and schedule their own games.

Current attractions in Glenwood gym are boxing and volleyball. Glenwood entered several boys in the Columbus Golden Gloves tournament.

Dances

Ballroom dancing is a comparatively new feature of the center. Weekly dances are held on Wednesday from 8 to 10 p. m. Jimmy Powell and his orchestra have been booked to play for these affairs. Dances are open to the public and the admission is 20c per person.

A Friday night innovation is the square dance, to be held weekly from 7 to 9 p. m. A professional caller has been engaged to instruct and call the dances. Admission to the Friday night dances is free.

JOE BRIGGS Says:
A tenderfoot is a person who gets that way by always being in hot water.
Any person who finds himself liable for damages because of an accident or injury suffered by another is really in "hot water" unless he is sufficiently covered by liability insurance. Don't take unnecessary chances. Ask Joe Briggs about the inexpensive liability policy that will keep you out of "hot water." Call Joe at RA. 3194 or pay him a visit in his office at 2596 Sullivant Ave.

Valentine Rhymes In Season Again, Postman Busy Delivering Greetings

You've got a dictator Instead of a wife."

The postman has been busy this week delivering Valentines to wives, husbands, mothers and sweethearts. Greetings this year range from the flowery and overly sentimental to the barbed "comic valentines."

A survey of local Five and Dime stores, including Sheskey's, C and S, and the Economy Variety stores, reveal that there is an appropriate Valentine for everyone. Prices are aimed to suit all pocketbooks, even the youngster who chooses the two for a penny kind. Prices for valentines range from a penny to 50c in local stores.

For the sentimental lover there are the traditional heart-shaped boxes of candy, which can be bought for $1 to $4. Cinnamon and chocolate hearts, 2 to 5 cents each, are popular with Hilltop youths.

Seiller's windows are decorated with appropriate Valentine gifts for sweethearts who wish to send more than the traditional paper greeting. Shirts, ties and jewelry are on display for men's gifts. For women there's the usual line of lingerie, gloves, scarfs and pretty jewelry.

Some of the sentimental greetings expressed at this Valentine season are as follows: "You seem to suit me just fine. Won't you be my valentine".. "I hope this arrow finds its mark, 'cause it's aimed right at your heart."

"Special days bring back to me
Fond memories of you
Of all the fun we used to have
The things you say and do,
And so this comes with warmest thoughts
Of days that used to be."

"There's someone that I seem to [illegible]
Far more with every passing day
Someone who plays the biggest part
In all my plans along life's way
Someone who's near and dear to me
Somecne who always is true
And here's a Valentine to say
That Someone is no one but you."

Comic valentines with their humorous caustic comments usually get their share of attention from Valentine readers. Rhymes can be found to fit nearly every type of undesirable person. Here's one for the housewife:

"Although with broom and duster,
You never seem to stop,
The house looks worse than ever
And you look like a mop."

School kids like this one about the unpopular school teacher:

"You think you know all the answers,
You know what it's all about,
Why don't you get an eraser
And just go rub yourself out."

The hen-pecked husband, favorite object of ridicule, is not forgotten on the comic valentines. Here's his verse:

"You weak-minded sissy,
You're scared for your life.

7B's Are Busy Learning High School Procedure

Happy and bewildered 7B's are getting their bearings as West Junior High School after their graduation from Hilltop elementary schools last week.

With schedule cards in hand, new students are charting their courses and learning the West High School routine. It's a new world for the 100 7B students, who have joined more than 2000 other West High Students.

Nine periods of classes and a study routine from 8:45 a. m. to 3:25 p. m., a program much different from that in elementary school, is one of the biggest adjustments new students must make. At West High School most students have a new teacher for each subject and frequently attend classes in different parts of the building.

High school teachers are busy now orienting new students, instructing them in study habits, how to get along with other people and how to make friends.

Among the new West 7B students is Dean Woodruff, 12, 228 Belvidere-av, former Highland-av pupil, who is busy learning his new schedule. Dean, a light-haired blue-eyed youth, is busy studying for his new courses, which include mathematics, art physical education, geography, English and history.

Charlene Myer, 12, another new student, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everet Myers, 824 Hilltonia-av. She formerly attended John Burroughs and West Broad Street schools before coming to West. Charlotte thinks lessons are harder at West, but she admits she likes the school.

Ten-year-old Beverly Sue Booth is one of the youngest new 7B students. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschell C. Booth, 319 S. Roys-av. The Booths have two other children attending West.

Beverly's hobby is collecting glass objects. She is studying currently geography, English, mathematics, history, sewing, art, music and physical education.

Chairman of YMCA Hartsook Re-Elected

M. D. Hartsook, superintendent of Hilliards schools, was recently re-elected chairman of the Columbus Town and Country YMCA. J. H. Winkler, 2411 Lane-rd, was named vice chairman.

Re-elected to the YMCA board were A. B. Weiser, George C. Beery, William A. Spangler, Charles R. Bennett, Rev. J. Nelson Wright and Philip Purdin.

Bethel No. 3 Choir To Sing

Bethel No. 3 Choir has been invited by the Grand Guardian to assist the choir of Bethel No. 2 in its formal inspection at the Masonic Temple in Marion on Saturday, Feb. 12. Mrs. Lula Leyda, supreme guardian from the state of Washington, will make an official visit.

Job's Daughters To Honor Royal Matron

The International Order of Job's Daughters Choir, Bethel No. 3, will sing Feb. 10 for the Palace Court No. 13, order of the Amaranth, in honor of the Royal Matron, Dorothy Smith. The meeting will be at the K of P Hall, 697 S. High-st.

Members of the choir are Barbara Bradfute, Charmain Butner, Alvada Clark, Mary Cummins, Irene Curl, Jeannine Dickendoscher, Audrey Eddy, Jeanette Fulton, Lois Jennings, Peggy Jhensen, Nancy Nichols, Thelma Mugrage, Sue Hardy, Lynn Hunt, Judy Schulz, Patty Smith, Patty Thompson and Barbara Wendell and assisted by Julia Billingsley, senior princess of the Bethel librarian. Piano accompaniment will be by Yvonne Clover, Bethel musician. The girls are under the direction of Mrs. Velma Schulz, Bethel choir director.

The girls are students of West Senior and Junior High Schools and are members of the Bethel.

The program is as follows:

"In the Garden of Tomorrow"—Barbara Bradfute, Alvada Clark, Nancy Billingsley, Audrey Eddy, Peggy Jhensen and Judy Schulz.
"My God and I" ..... Choir
"Whispering Hope" ..... Choir
"Skating Song"—Sue Hardy and Lois Jennings
"Gypsy Love Song" ..... Choir
"Far Away Places" — Julia Billingsley
"Down at the Station" ..... Choir

A U. S. SUPER MARKET

Every visitor to our store on Friday and Saturday will be eligible to receive one of the 24 baskets

The new, steel food gondolas and shelves were furnished and installed by FRANK HERREL, store planning engineer, 642 N. High St. The gondolas are designed to give maximum shelf space in a minimum of floor space. Their steel construction assures many years of service.

Here's Why You Save at CAPRETT'S, an Associate of U. S. SUPER MARKETS

The U. S. Super Markets is an organization of Independent Stores which have combined their purchasing to buy in greater volume at lower prices. These savings are passed along to the consumer in LOWER PRICES. Check our prices carefully . . . then come to CAPRETTA'S, WHERE YOU TAKE HOME MORE FOOD FOR YOUR FOOD DOLLARS.

The dairy display case was furnished by C. L. Murdock, 642 N. High St., distributor for McCRAY COLD FLO REFRIGERATORS. The 12 ft. sectional case is so designed that each 6 foot section gives more display space than an old style 10 foot case. In addition this case requires a minimum of floor space.

Call Mr. Herrell at AD. 4940 when you plan a modernization program for your store. He will be glad to recommend the refrigeration and shelving best suited to your requirements.

Well Worth Heeding

Here's good advice from the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards, which knows whereof it speaks in recommending the following rules for safe driving under winter conditions:

1. Get the "feel" of the road before you start out.
2. Adjust speed to road, weather and traffic.
3. Use tire chains on ice and snow.
4. Keep windshield and windows clear.
5. Pump your brakes on snow or ice. Don't lock wheels.
6. Follow at safe distance. It takes three to 12 times more distance to stop on snow or ice.

And with the exception of Rule No. 3—since tire chains aren't used the year-round, the recommendations hold good for every hour of every day of the year.

We are sponsoring another dance after the Linden-McKinley and West basketball game. We will contact you later about publicity.

State Inspectors Pay Visit to West; School Lauded

By Myron T. Seifert

West High School was recommended to be continued on the list of approved schools by the State Department of Education, according to the report of the representatives from that department who inspected the school Thursday and Friday, Jan. 13 and 14.

Every department and activity in the school fell under the scrutinizing eyes of the state inspectors, who were liberal in their praise of the commendable way in which the Hilltop school is being operated, and offered the opinion that West High is run for the benefit of the student.

It is no easy task to appraise and observe a school in action. These inspectors visit more than 600 Ohio schools and their judgment and decision carry much weight.

Complimenting the principal, teachers and pupils, the visitors were much impressed with the efficient and cooperative manner in which citizenship is developed via learning processes at West High.

Interested in the organization, equipment, teachers and methods, the visitors learned much about West High School from the students themselves.

Interviewing students about the building they learned a great deal of what goes on in the class-room.

The inspectors invited to the office a number of teachers and two students from each of the six grades as guests in a round-table discussion.

They engaged the students, picked at random, in a discussion of three key questions, which elicited replies from Hilltop students.

The three questions included (1) What are the things you like in West High School; (2) What do you like in teaching; and (3) What is the best thing you are getting out of school.

West High students made these responses to the above questions:

The office staff does everything possible to help the students.

I like the good sportsmanship of the pupils in their attitude toward each other.

I like the interest the teachers take in the pupils. They try to give them a good education while they are in school.

I like the progressiveness of the school. Students are allowed to express themselves. If they have any talents they are given a chance to use them.

I like the curriculum offered in the school.

I like the school because of the careful guidance program. Besides the program of guidance we have guidance in our instruction and by individual teachers.

I like the attitude of the pupils toward their teachers. The pupils respect their teachers.

We have a fine sports program.

I like the cooperation of school and community. The community backs up the school.

I like the pride the pupils take in the school itself.

I like the methods of teaching.

I like the cooperation of the pupils in the clubs. They try to help the officers. This is true in Student Council too.

The teachers are willing to help us with our personal problems.

I like the interest of the teachers in the pupils when they need guidance.

The science department is well equipped.

The staff helps in placing graduates in jobs.

I like the attitude of the parents. They are interested in improving the school. The PTA has the largest membership in the state.

I like the way the school tries to improve all of the time.

I like the way we learn through activities.

I like the opportunities we have to take part in scholarship tests.

I like the way the teachers try to get the students to think for themselves.

The health conditions are good. The rest rooms are clean. The cafeteria is good.

The visual education program is very good.

The music department is wonderful.

We have democratic procedure in Student Council and in the clubs. Students plan and carry out the projects of the organizations.

The nurse comes regularly. We have a nice clinic.

We are learning the principles of democracy in school.

The library is good, and the staff is very helpful. They try to give you the best books.

I like the way assemblies are planned for the pupils. The pupils are interested in the programs.

We learn to associate with other people.

The work is well planned to meet our needs.

We are given actual experience and practice in our work, especially in laboratory and language classes.

I like the cooperation in social problems.

Teachers are always willing to discuss outside things in class when they have some bearing on the subject.

Teachers try to give us confidence in ourselves.

Scientific methods are used in teaching.

I like the sincerity of the teachers. They try to push us forward to do our best.

I'm being prepared for college.

I'm learning how to get along with people and how to cooperate.

I'm learning wisdom, honesty, sincerity.

I'm learning sportsmanship.

I am learning to stand on my own feet and to get along with others.

I am learning tolerance and understanding.

I am developing a feeling of being able to face the world without being afraid, for I am learning the things I need to know to get along.

DEACON SENSENBRENNER Says:

American women use enough lipstick to paint 40,000 barns a year. I'd rather see it on a barn.

Eight Students Have Part In Magic Show

Eight West High students participated in the annual magic show presented last Saturday, Feb. 5, at the Fourth Street Masonic Temple.

Each year the magicians throughout the state convene here in Columbus, and during their sojourn a benefit performance for the Masonic Children's Home at Springfield is given by the sleight-of-hand experts.

West students entertained the thousands of interested spectators with rope twirling magic in a commendable manner.

Those from West High who spun many tricks for the patrons included Jim Harter, Roland Sunker, Patty Miesse, Barbara Gordon, Carolyn Gordon, Donna Fledderjohann, Mary Ann Amos and Thelma Mugrage.

The illuminated sash-cord trick with lights out brought down the house.

The Red Mill To Be Presented At OSU

Victor Herbert's musical comedy, "The Red Mill," will be presented by the Strollers Dramatic Society of Ohio State University Feb. 17, 18 and 19 at University Hall. Curtain time will be 6:15 p. m. on Feb. 17 and 19, and at 7:45 p. m. on Feb. 18.

"The Red Mill" is the story of two Americans stranded in Holland and of their attempts to get money to return to New York.

One woman to another: A mud pack improves her looks tremendously—as long as she keeps it on.

Francis and Stinson, league-leading team on Tuesday night, got a taste of the kind of medicine they've been handing opponents all year as they were bumped three games last Tuesday night by last year's champs, Home Bakery. Norm put together games of 174, 180 and 253 for a grand 607 total for high individual honors for the night.

They also knocked the league leading Vee Dee'ers around to the tune of 1013-834, 892-887 and 928-927. Larry Baird had the high single game for the team and league with 231, while Don Bollie had the best three game total of 606 on games of 213, 194 and 199. This is the way they lined up:

West Jr. Loses 37-26 Cage Tilt

By Dave Miller

West Junior lost a 37 to 26 verdict to a tough Franklin Junior High five last Friday afternoon on the Franklin court.

Bob Thornton's goal early in the game was the only time the local basketballers led throughout the game. After his goal, Bob Cochran, Billy Kreamer and Sam Brunner all sank goals to put Franklin in the lead, 6-2, before Jerry Trabue of the locals broke the ice with a free toss. Brunner, Dick Kendall and Cochran all sank goals to put Franklin into a 12-5 lead at the first quarter's end. Bill Haire's long shot was the other West Junior goal in this period.

The second period followed the same tempo as the first as Haire's free toss and Trabue's goal pulled the Junior Cowboys up to a 12-8 deficit, but Brunner, Carl Martin, Billy Kreamer and Bob Cochran all sank goals in consecutive fashion and the locals were trailing at the first half, 22-8.

In the third period, the ultimate winners outscored the locals, 14-5, and led comfortably by a 36 to 13 margin. Then, in the final period, Coach Red Tomkins of the winners substituted some players he referred to as "boys who never saw a ball before."

Then the Juniors, paced by Jerry Trabue, Walt Meredith and Jim McGuire, outscored Franklin, 13-1, and the game ended at a much closer score than the game indicated.

Bob Cochran, captain of the Franklin team, was top man with [illegible] points, followed by teammates Billy Kreamer and Sam Brunner, both with eight tallies. Jerry Trabue and Jim McGuire paced West Junior, both getting seven points. All of McGuire's points came in the final period, missing only two shots.

All the players who made the trip to Franklin played. They were Bob Thornton, Jim Murray, Captain Eddy Gleibs, John Whalen, Jerry Trabue, Doug Clark, Bill Haire, Walt Meredith, Dick Hutchison and Jim McGuire.

The local Juniors played host to loop-leading Champion Junior High Tuesday afternoon and the story of that game can be found in Section A of today's Hilltop Record.

West High Students To See Magic Show

Jack Courtney and his magic show will appear at West High School Feb. 18 at 3:30 p. m., returning by popular demand to the Community Junior Theater Series after an absence of two years.

Jack's favorite trick is the popular comedy routine, in which a watch is borrowed from someone in the audience and completely vanishes. It fails to reappear until much later in the show, when it is discovered tied around the neck of a live guinea pig.

Courtney's most spectacular display is the closing number, Phantasy in Silk. Three hundred yards of vari-colored silk, valued at $500, is produced from an apparently empty container.

Tickets for the performance will be on sale at West High School the day of the show. Tickets are 25c for children and 35c for adults. Adults accompanied by five or more children are admitted free.

Remaining Community Junior Theater performances include "Hansel and Gretel," to be given by the Ohio Wesleyan Players in March; Tatterman Marionettes in April; and a water carnival as the final performance.

Guest Organist To Play

Richard Ross, organist and choir director at Brown Memorial Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, Md., and a member of the faculty at Peabody Conservatory of Music, will give a recital at the First Congregational Church on Wednesday, Feb. 16 at 8:30 p. m. This outstanding program is sponsored by the Central Ohio chapter of the American Guild of Organists. The public is invited.

West Takes 49-33 Win In Aquinas Game

By Dave Miller

West High's basketball squad, revised somewhat since the loss of two stars through graduation, walked off its home court last Friday evening with a well-earned 49 to 33 win over a hapless Aquinas five.

It was the first game in the second round for both teams. It was West's fifth City League win in seven tries, losing only to Central and East. Meanwhile, the Mt. Vernon Avenue basketballers were suffering their seventh loop setback in the same number of tries.

The Cowboys had to really give all they had to defeat a noble and stubborn Aquinas five. They trailed in the game early in the first stanza until Jim Rudolph's fielder in the third quarter. However, after Rudolph's two-pointer the Cowboys still had trouble with the Green and Gold as they led, then see-sawed back and forth until the Cowboys' dead-eye shooters, Dick Culbertson and Fred Adams, put the Hilltoppers back into the lead for keeps.

The opening stanza went very slow, with West's new team just merely "feeling" its way around. The Cowboys were hurt at midseason through the loss of Chuck Weeks and Paul Theisen, Fred Adams and Jim Rudolph were the new faces in the starting lineup. After Jack Schmidt and Rudolph had matched free throws, Adams put the Cowboys ahead with a left handed hook. However, Chuck Schmidt and Chet DeBellis got together for five tallies and Aquinas was ahead, 6-3. Phil Young sank a push-up and Jim Rudolph made a free throw to close the gap to only one marker, but John Masdea, DeBellis and C. Schmidt got together for a seven point spree and the visitors held a 13-6 lead at the first quarter's end.

Dick Culbertson, star Cowboy all-round athlete, scored all but three of the locals' points in the second period as the Cowboys were setting up their defensive tactics very well by holding the visitors to only four points in this quarter. Culbertson started off the stanza with a long two-hander and Bill Miller of Aquinas sank a free throw. Culbertson then sank a fielder and charity toss to narrow Aquinas' lead to 14-11. Chuck Schmidt sank a beautiful right-handed hook and that was all of Aquinas' points in that quarter. Culbertson, Adams and Bill Thrush of the Cowboys collected five points to tie the score at 16-all with three seconds left in the half. John Masdea's free toss just one second later put Aquinas into the lead at intermission, 17-16.

In the third period, Chet DeBellis opened up the scoring for Aquinas with a push shot, but Culbertson, Thrush and Rudolph all sank goals in succession and the Cowboys took the lead at 22-19. John Masdea and Bill Miller both sank goals for the Green and Gold to put Aquinas back into the lead, 23-32. Young of the Cowboys and DeBellis of the Terriers matched goals but Adams and Culbertson sank free tosses and Adams made a tip-in of short shot and the Cowboys took the lead for keeps as the third period ended in West's favor, 28-25.

The final period was merely a period that sewed up the game for the Cowboys. The Hilltoppers never once trailed in the period, but when Don Outland sank a free toss for the Terriers to narrow West's lead to 39-33, the Cowboys promptly scored 10 points in succession without a point for Aquinas. Culbertson scored three goals; Hood, one fielder; and Young scored two free throws all in this last minute uprising.

After this, Coach George Williams of the locals felt safe to do some substituting.

Coach Williams didn't take any players up from the reserves to take the place of Theisen and Weeks but put Jim Rile and Pete Kershall on the varsity in their places. The two boys didn't play the first semester due to poor grades.

In the reserve game, the West seconds took their fifth win in seven outings in loop play by downing a yet-to-win Aquinas reserve team by a 41 to 24 score. The Cowboy seconds never trailed in the game, due to the alert shooting of Dave Caton, Paul Ellingsworth and Earl Potts, who got 10, nine and nine points, respectively, and the fine rebound work of Ted Fladt. Bob Fogo paced the Aquinas five with eight points.

The Cowboys visited North High last Tuesday night and the story of that game can be found in Section A of today's Hilltop Record.

Well Worth Heeding

Here's good advice from the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards, which knows whereof it speaks in recommending the following rules for safe driving under winter conditions:

1. Get the "feel" of the road before you start out.
2. Adjust speed to road, weather and traffic.
3. Use tire chains on ice and snow.
4. Keep windshield and windows clear.
5. Pump your brakes on snow or ice. Don't lock wheels.
6. Follow at safe distance. It takes three to 12 times more distance to stop on snow or ice.

And with the exception of Rule No. 3—since tire chains aren't used the year-round, the recommendations hold good for every hour of every day of the year.

State Inspectors Pay Visit to West; School Lauded

By Myron T. Seifert

West High School was recommended to be continued on the list of approved schools by the State Department of Education, according to the report of the representatives from that department who inspected the school Thursday and Friday, Jan. 13 and 14.

Every department and activity in the school fell under the scrutinizing eyes of the state inspectors, who were liberal in their praise of the commendable way in which the Hilltop school is being operated, and offered the opinion that West High is run for the benefit of the student.

It is no easy task to appraise and observe a school in action. These inspectors visit more than 600 Ohio schools and their judgment and decision carry much weight.

Complimenting the principal, teachers and pupils, the visitors were much impressed with the efficient and cooperative manner in which citizenship is developed via learning processes at West High.

Interested in the organization, equipment, teachers and methods, the visitors learned much about West High School from the students themselves.

Interviewing students about the building they learned a great deal of what goes on in the class-room.

The inspectors invited to the office a number of teachers and two students from each of the six grades as guests in a round-table discussion.

They engaged the students, picked at random, in a discussion of three key questions, which elicited replies from Hilltop students.

The three questions included (1) What are the things you like in West High School; (2) What do you like in teaching; and (3) What is the best thing you are getting out of school.

West High students made these responses to the above questions:

The office staff does everything possible to help the students.

I like the good sportsmanship of the pupils in their attitude toward each other.

I like the interest the teachers take in the pupils. They try to give them a good education while they are in school.

I like the progressiveness of the school. Students are allowed to express themselves. If they have any talents they are given a chance to use them.

I like the curriculum offered in the school.

I like the school because of the careful guidance program. Besides the program of guidance we have guidance in our instruction and by individual teachers.

I like the attitude of the pupils toward their teachers. The pupils respect their teachers.

We have a fine sports program.

I like the cooperation of school and community. The community backs up the school.

I like the pride the pupils take in the school itself.

I like the methods of teaching.

I like the cooperation of the pupils in the clubs. They try to help the officers. This is true in Student Council too.

The teachers are willing to help us with our personal problems.

I like the interest of the teachers in the pupils when they need guidance.

The science department is well equipped.

The staff helps in placing graduates in jobs.

I like the attitude of the parents. They are interested in improving the school. The PTA has the largest membership in the state.

I like the way the school tries to improve all of the time.

I like the way we learn through activities.

I like the opportunities we have to take part in scholarship tests.

I like the way the teachers try to get the students to think for themselves.

The health conditions are good. The rest rooms are clean. The cafeteria is good.

The visual education program is very good.

The music department is wonderful.

We have democratic procedure in Student Council and in the clubs. Students plan and carry out the projects of the organizations.

The nurse comes regularly. We have a nice clinic.

We are learning the principles of democracy in school.

The library is good, and the staff is very helpful. They try to give you the best books.

I like the way assemblies are planned for the pupils. The pupils are interested in the programs.

We learn to associate with other people.

The work is well planned to meet our needs.

We are given actual experience and practice in our work, especially in laboratory and language classes.

I like the cooperation in social problems.

Teachers are always willing to discuss outside things in class when they have some bearing on the subject.

Teachers try to give us confidence in ourselves.

Scientific methods are used in teaching.

I like the sincerity of the teachers. They try to push us forward to do our best.

I'm being prepared for college.

I'm learning how to get along with people and how to cooperate.

I'm learning wisdom, honesty, sincerity.

I'm learning sportsmanship.

I am learning to stand on my own feet and to get along with others.

I am learning tolerance and understanding.

I am developing a feeling of being able to face the world without being afraid, for I am learning the things I need to know to get along.

Eight Students Have Part In Magic Show

Eight West High students participated in the annual magic show presented last Saturday, Feb. 5, at the Fourth Street Masonic Temple.

Each year the magicians throughout the state convene here in Columbus, and during their sojourn a benefit performance for the Masonic Children's Home at Springfield is given by the sleight-of-hand experts.

West students entertained the thousands of interested spectators with rope twirling magic in a commendable manner.

Those from West High who spun many tricks for the patrons included Jim Harter, Roland Sunker, Patty Miesse, Barbara Gordon, Carolyn Gordon, Donna Fledderjohann, Mary Ann Amos and Thelma Mugrage.

The illuminated sash-cord trick with lights out brought down the house.

The Red Mill To Be Presented At OSU

Francis and Stinson, league-leading team on Tuesday night, got a taste of the kind of medicine they've been handing opponents all year as they were bumped three games last Tuesday night by last year's champs, Home Bakery. West Jr. Loses 37-26 Cage Tilt

By Dave Miller

West Junior lost a 37 to 26 verdict to a tough Franklin Junior High five last Friday afternoon on the Franklin court.

Bob Thornton's goal early in the game was the only time the local basketballers led throughout the game. After his goal, Bob Cochran, Billy Kreamer and Sam Brunner all sank goals to put Franklin in the lead, 6-2, before Jerry Trabue of the locals broke the ice with a free toss. Brunner, Dick Kendall and Cochran all sank goals to put Franklin into a 12-5 lead at the first quarter's end. Bill Haire's long shot was the other West Junior goal in this period.

The second period followed the same tempo as the first as Haire's free toss and Trabue's goal pulled the Junior Cowboys up to a 12-8 deficit, but Brunner, Carl Martin, Billy Kreamer and Bob Cochran all sank goals in consecutive fashion and the locals were trailing at the first half, 22-8.

In the third period, the ultimate winners outscored the locals, 14-5, and led comfortably by a 36 to 13 margin. Then, in the final period, Coach Red Tomkins of the winners substituted some players he referred to as "boys who never saw a ball before."

Then the Juniors, paced by Jerry Trabue, Walt Meredith and Jim McGuire, outscored Franklin, 13-1, and the game ended at a much closer score than the game indicated.

Bob Cochran, captain of the Franklin team, was top man with 12 points, followed by teammates Billy Kreamer and Sam Brunner, both with eight tallies. Jerry Trabue and Jim McGuire paced West Junior, both getting seven points. All of McGuire's points came in the final period, missing only two shots.

All the players who made the trip to Franklin played. They were Bob Thornton, Jim Murray, Captain Eddy Gleibs, John Whalen, Jerry Trabue, Doug Clark, Bill Haire, Walt Meredith, Dick Hutchison and Jim McGuire.

The local Juniors played host to loop-leading Champion Junior High Tuesday afternoon and the story of that game can be found in Section A of today's Hilltop Record.

West High Students To See Magic Show

Jack Courtney and his magic show will appear at West High School Feb. 18 at 3:30 p. m., returning by popular demand to the Community Junior Theater Series after an absence of two years.

Jack's favorite trick is the popular comedy routine, in which a watch is borrowed from someone in the audience and completely vanishes. It fails to reappear until much later in the show, when it is discovered tied around the neck of a live guinea pig.

Courtney's most spectacular display is the closing number, Phantasy in Silk. Three hundred yards of vari-colored silk, valued at $500, is produced from an apparently empty container.

Tickets for the performance will be on sale at West High School the day of the show. Tickets are 25c for children and 35c for adults. Adults accompanied by five or more children are admitted free.

Remaining Community Junior Theater performances include "Hansel and Gretel," to be given by the Ohio Wesleyan Players in March; Tatterman Marionettes in April; and a water carnival as the final performance.

Guest Organist To Play

Richard Ross, organist and choir director at Brown Memorial Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, Md., and a member of the faculty at Peabody Conservatory of Music, will give a recital at the First Congregational Church on Wednesday, Feb. 16 at 8:30 p. m. This outstanding program is sponsored by the Central Ohio chapter of the American Guild of Organists. The public is invited.

West Takes 49-33 Win In Aquinas Game

By Dave Miller

West High's basketball squad, revised somewhat since the loss of two stars through graduation, walked off its home court last Friday evening with a well-earned 49 to 33 win over a hapless Aquinas five.

It was the first game in the second round for both teams. It was West's fifth City League win in seven tries, losing only to Central and East. Meanwhile, the Mt. Vernon Avenue basketballers were suffering their seventh loop setback in the same number of tries.

The Cowboys had to really give all they had to defeat a noble and stubborn Aquinas five. They trailed in the game early in the first stanza until Jim Rudolph's fielder in the third quarter. However, after Rudolph's two-pointer the Cowboys still had trouble with the Green and Gold as they led, then see-sawed back and forth until the Cowboys' deadeye shooters, Dick Culbertson and Fred Adams, put the Hilltoppers back into the lead for keeps.

The opening stanza went very slow, with West's new team just merely "feeling" its way around. The Cowboys were hurt at midseason through the loss of Chuck Weeks and Paul Theisen, Fred Adams and Jim Rudolph were the new faces in the starting lineup. After Jack Schmidt and Rudolph had matched free throws, Adams put the Cowboys ahead with a left handed hook. However, Chuck Schmidt and Chet DeBellis got together for five tallies and Aquinas was ahead, 6-3. Phil Young sank a push-up and Jim Rudolph made a free throw to close the gap to only one marker, but John Masdea, DeBellis and C. Schmidt got together for a seven point spree and the visitors held a 13-6 lead at the first quarter's end.

Dick Culbertson, star Cowboy all-round athlete, scored all but three of the locals' points in the second period as the Cowboys were setting up their defensive tactics very well by holding the visitors to only four points in this quarter. Culbertson started off the stanza with a long two-hander and Bill Miller of Aquinas sank a free throw. Culbertson then sank a fielder and charity toss to narrow Aquinas' lead to 14-11. Chuck Schmidt sank a beautiful right-handed hook and that was all of Aquinas' points in that quarter. Culbertson, Adams and Bill Thrush of the Cowboys collected five points to tie the score at 16-all with three seconds left in the half. John Masdea's free toss just one second later put Aquinas into the lead at intermission, 17-16.

In the third period, Chet DeBellis opened up the scoring for Aquinas with a push shot, but Culbertson, Thrush and Rudolph all sank goals in succession and the Cowboys took the lead at 22-19. John Masdea and Bill Miller both sank goals for the Green and Gold to put Aquinas back into the lead, 23-32. Young of the Cowboys and DeBellis of the Terriers matched goals but Adams and Culbertson sank free tosses and Adams made a tip-in of short shot and the Cowboys took the lead for keeps as the third period ended in West's favor, 28-25.

The final period was merely a period that sewed up the game for the Cowboys. The Hilltoppers never once trailed in the period, but when Don Outland sank a free toss for the Terriers to narrow West's lead to 39-33, the Cowboys promptly scored 10 points in succession without a point for Aquinas. Culbertson scored three goals; Hood, one fielder; and Young scored two free throws all in this last minute uprising.

After this, Coach George Williams of the locals felt safe to do some substituting.

Coach Williams didn't take any players up from the reserves to take the place of Theisen and Weeks but put Jim Rile and Pete Kershall on the varsity in their places. The two boys didn't play the first semester due to poor grades.

In the reserve game, the West seconds took their fifth win in seven outings in loop play by downing a yet-to-win Aquinas reserve team by a 41 to 24 score. The Cowboy seconds never trailed in the game, due to the alert shooting of Dave Caton, Paul Ellingsworth and Earl Potts, who got 10, nine and nine points, respectively, and the fine rebound work of Ted Fladt. Bob Fogo paced the Aquinas five with eight points.

FOR FEB. 13

There Is No Place For Prejudice In Our Religion

A PLAUSIBLE philosophy of life has said, "Be good and you will be happy." But if happiness consists in being free from danger, and immune from pain, the sufferings of good men, often persecuted because of their very goodness, have revealed how false is that easy adage.

A deep mystery of life is that the innocent have suffered with the guilty. It is the mystery of the Cross, and the suffering and sacrifice of Christ himself.

The hostility that Jesus aroused in His prejudiced fellow-townsmen as He began His ministry in Nazareth continued on the part of many throughout His ministry.

Religion ought to make men humane, kind, considerate, ready and eager to help one another. But unfortunately it has often made them bitter and full of hatred.

It was not unnatural that the claims of Jesus should be questioned by some, as they had been by his own brothers (John 5:7). But why should His pronouncement of the forgiveness of sins have aroused such hatred? If He had no power to forgive sins, the sins would not be forgiven. To question His authority was one thing—to hate Him, and seek to kill Him, was another.

Again, the Sabbath was a noble Jewish institution, a symbol of the utmost sacredness and devotion. Its observance called forth the loftiest feelings in devout Jews. But when its observance became a formal that concern for the welfare of one's fellowmen was obliterated, the glory of the Sabbath was lost. To break the Sabbath, in their idea of it, was a greater sin than to have hatred and murder in one's heart.

The opposition of certain Scribes and Pharisees and official religious authorities had more justification.

The mistake that they made was in ignoring the actual words and deeds, in being blind to the authority of goodness, and in hating One whom the people heard gladly.

Are we wiser than those of old? Is religion our response to the goodness of God, or is it dominated by prejudice and bigotry?

FOR YOUR Valentine

By Doris McGill

Valentine's Day is almost here, and every girl wants to look her sweetest and most becoming on the day set aside to send Valentine greetings.

This year will be no exception. Valentine balls will sparkle with many of the enchanting bare shoulder ball and dinner gowns, just making their appearance on the fashion market.

If you want him for your valentine, cupid's arrow can't miss if you appear in the gown at the left. Styled with a sheer lace strapless bodice, the charming gown is fashioned with a circular very full net skirt, topping and underskirt of rustling taffeta. A filmy lace stole hugging bare shoulders is a sure winner for a captivating evening.

Going to a dinner dance? The smart dramatic lines of the graceful silk jersey gown at the right will mark you the "sensation of the evening."

For informal cocktail or dinner parties wear one of the new smart pure silk prints, so fashionable this early spring. They're good for early summer too. Print dresses are designed in an array of colors and lovely fabrics guaranteed to please the feminine heart.

If it's style you're considering, the full circular skirt is still fashion news. Cap sleeves and the bustle are back, after being replaced by long sleeves and fishtail folds. Buttons and bows are a sure adornment for new spring silks. Bolero dresses are hitting another high note. This year boleros are lined in colorful prints and dresses are styled with smart matching print cummerbunds.

A project that took three years of hard work for members of the Rea-Bow Improvement Association finally was realized last week when the first excavation was made prior to the installation of storm sewers in the Rainbow Addition.

George Wolfe, president of the organization, and other members, fought hard and bitterly for Rainbow residents, whose basements, lawns and roads have been flooded during each rainy season.

Four petitions were filed by residents of the area, before final approval was granted by the Franklin County Commissioners. The first two petitions were disallowed by county courts due to technicalities and the third was disallowed due to orders from the county prosecutor's office.

The main trunk line of the drainage system will extend from Whitethorne-av, west to Early Run-rd, and will give road and surface drainage to Whitethorne, Midland and Clarendon-avs, and Whitehead-rd.

Contract for work on the Rea-Bow drainage project was awarded the S. E. Construction Co. Cost was estimated at $32,000.

Thieves Loot Baker's Home Mon. Night

Surprised and frightened, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Vogelsang surveyed their home at 199 N. Terrace-av Monday night at 10:30 and found it completely ransacked.

"Thieves almost wrecked the place," Mr. Vogelsang, owner of the Hilltop Bakery, said. Drawers, cupboards, beds, closets were rifled and looted. "They even searched the family Bible," he added. Appliances, jewelry and other household articles valued at $500 were missing, he reported.

Police believe it was the work of two men, who evidently gained entrance to the Vogelsang residence through the second story window at the rear of the house.

The Vogelsangs are not sure yet of all the articles missing. They noted Wednesday morning when Mrs. Vogelsang started to prepare toast for breakfast that their new Sunbeam toaster was missing. Some articles taken were Masonic and Scottish Rite rings, cigarette lighter, a small radio, chest of silver, camera, shotgun and a new Hoover sweeper.

The home is assumed to have been entered between 7:30 and 10:30 p. m. Monday, while the Vogelsangs, who live alone in their home, were at a movie. The thieves fled by the back door, which they left standing open.

Gunmen Threaten Ogden Ave. Man In N. Side Holdup

C. A. Worthen, 275 N. Ogden-av, assistant manager of the Personal Finance Co., 145 N. High-st, was forced to retire to a cloak room at the rear of the office Feb. 10, while gunmen emptied the company's cash drawer and escaped.

The bandits menaced two women employees, the assistant manager and a customer with drawn pistols, while they robbed the office.

Police, obtaining detailed descriptions of the quartet from the victims, alerted all cruisers and officers in the area. They were asked to search for a black sedan in which the bandits were believed to have escaped. The auto was reported to have Missouri license plates.

• • •

More Stores To Stay Open All Day Wed.

It seemed apparent this week that the long established rule of Wednesday afternoon closing of individual stores on the Hilltop would soon be brought to an end by many merchants.

In the past two weeks chain stores in the community have departed from the Wednesday closing schedule and several local grocers have kept their stores open. At least four additional individual Hilltop grocers signified this week that they would start staying open this Wednesday for a full day.

Some point out that it is not only economically unsound to open up their business places for only a half day but there have also been many complaints from the public on the lack of uniform hours here.

Some have stated they would rather maintain the Wednesday closing schedule but will go along with other merchants if they decide to open Wednesday afternoons.

It appears likely also that several stores will also announce evening hours for their stores before long. An unsettled condition now exists among the chains wherein they have not been able to get together on uniform night hours and until they settle upon definite evening hours local individual merchants will perhaps not announce a schedule. One grocer expressed the idea that Friday evening hours were likely.

Hilltop Y Board Elects Officers

C. Carlton Hartley, publisher of the Hilltop Record, was re-elected chairman of the Hilltop YMCA Board at the February meeting Tuesday evening.

Jerry Spears was re-elected first vice-chairman. Herbert G. Deems was elected second vice chairman with the duties of the building fund and Don Rice was named third vice chairman with duties of building fund secretary. Paul Leighninger and Don Rice were inducted as new members of the board.

Averille Thorn, executive secretary, reported on numerous activities planned for the coming months.

The annual meeting of the Metropolitan YMCA wil be held at the Central Y at 12 noon, Feb. 24. All voting members of the Hilltop Y are invited to attend.

3 Bandits Rob Sullivant Ave. Man Of $195

Edward C. Gerhart, 1817 Sullivant-av, 62-year-old Hilltopper, was attacked and robbed, Feb. 13, at the garage of his home by three bandits, one of them armed.

Robbers took $195 cash from Gerhart at the point of a gun and forced him to lie on his stomach while they bound his legs with friction tape.

Gerhart told police he believed the three men were waiting for him in the garage. He said he was returning from a lodge gathering and that the loot taken from him included a $100 bill for which he had given smaller bills to a fellow member at the lodge headquarters.

Gerhart, now retired, formerly was a used car dealer.

Saturday Deadline For Realty Taxes

Real estate taxes, due today, will be accepted through Saturday, County Treasurer C. B. Norris announced yesterday.

Normally, he said, penalties are imposed on payments after the deadline, but taxes will be accepted late this year because:

Last Saturday was a holiday, preventing many persons who use cash from paying their taxes then; the treasurer's office was short-handed Monday while personnel attended funeral services for the late Henry Frank, former treasurer and Norris' deputy, and heavy mail, with payments, cannot be opened before Saturday.

Family Budgets Relieved

Grocers Give Insight on Recent Food Drop

By Doris McGill

The current long-awaited price decline is the biggest boon to Hilltop housewives' pocketbooks in years. In the past few months and particularly in the last two weeks there have been noticeable drops in meat, margarine, shortening, soaps, grains and a few canned articles. The Bureau of Labor Statistics announced recently that its index of wholesale prices has dropped from 172.2 in November to 171.1 in December. January figures are expected to show another decline, continuing the slide that began after the index's all-time peak of 174.5 last August.

Most Hilltop housewives who were interviewed stated that they definitely noted a decrease in the amount of money spent for food in their family budgets. Some were buying more food for their families, particularly meat, which they had been doing without, while prices were high. Other housewives commented that "a dollar was worth a little more than it was two months ago."

Hilltop grocers made these observations about the price decline:

Meat Down

Charles Kent of the Sparks-Kent Super Market, Inc., 2976 W. Broad-st, noted that Grade A beef was down at least 30 per cent, shortening down 10 per cent and that baked beans were the first to drop in the canned food line. Mr. Kent said he expects "cereals to take a drop any day now." After a talk with a National Biscuit Co. representative, Mr. Kent said that "shredded wheat will be the first to take the plunge."

Mrs. Ruby Painter, of Painter's Market, 1641 Sullivant-av, said, "Lowered meat prices have increased the demand for meat. We're selling more than ever." Mrs. Painter also noticed a decrease in the demand for bread, explaining that a lot of Hilltoppers are buying corn meal this winter.

Decline In Soap Prices

Charles Haas of Haas Bros. Modern Market, 2787 Sullivant-av, observed that soaps and soap powders are steadily declining. "In the past week," Mr. Haas said, "soaps have dropped from 31c to 29c. The high for soap was about 43c a few months back," he added.

Harold Fox, of Fox Food Shop, 2422 W. Broad-st, believes, "All prices in general have dropped. Bacon is down from 69c to 49c, beef roasts from 59c to 45c and steaks from 85c to 69c."

"Fruit cocktail, Mr. Fox continued, is down now to 39c. It previously was selling for 43c. Paper products, coffee and flour have maintained a steady price level, he added.

Butter and Milk Going Down

Carl Capretta of Capretta's Food Market, 1895 Sullivant-av, particularly noted a decline in dairy products. "Butter," he said, "has gone down from a high of 90c a pound to its current selling price, 65c a pound. Milk is down two cents on the quart and I expect another drop soon." Seeing the present reduction of shortening as a good sign, Mr. Capretta believes cooking oils will take a drop.

Chubby Distelhorst of Distelhorst Market, 2445 W. Broad-st, observed that meat is dropping more on the wholesale market than on the retail. When questioned if the present hard winter in the West would have an effect on spring and summer meat prices, Mr. Distelhorst replied, "I don't believe so, as most beef used on the Hilltop is grown by local farmers and is not obtained from big western cattle growers.

Fresh Vegetables

Roy Beck, manager of the Broad-Warren Market, 2656 W. Broad-st, has also noted a general price decrease, but added, "Prices on fresh vegetables and fruits have gone up. Oranges and grapefruit in particular are experiencing a price rise, due, I believe, to freezing weather in the South and to snowbound transportation facilities."

Ray Burdett of Burdett's Grocery, 192 S. Eureka-av, said, "Just about everything has gone down." Mr. Burdett noted a decline particularly in lard, Spry and Crisco.

Hague Av. Library Marks 21st Year On the Hilltop

By Myron T. Seifert

Hilltop branch library has "come of age"—1949 marks its 21st year on the Hilltop at 21 N. Hague-av.

A wide variety of interests and ages are accommodated through the local library's efficient staff. Children and adults alike spend many hours browsing among the 12,000 library books, now available. It could be difficult to describe any single type of information in greatest demand. Obviously, Hilltoppers are versatile, and like to broaden their knowledge by wide reading in many fields.

Statistics show that 6500 Hilltoppers have called at the library for books this year. Library cards show a current accelerated interest in books.

An average of 9,000 books each month are issued to Hilltoppers. On a per capita basis, each family is getting one book monthly.

Early in 1929 city council appropriated funds for establishing four branch libraries in Columbus and on Oct. 4, 1928, the Hilltop branch library was opened to the public. At the time of opening, the branch had 1800 volumes, consisting of a representative collection of reference, adult and juvenile books.

Over the years of service to the community, the Hilltop library has led all other branches in the city in the total number of members and services. Staffed by three full time, and four part time employes, Hilltoppers are given top-service in the book-dispensary business.

The full-time librarians are: Mildred Phalor, branch librarian, 125 N. Powell-av; Francis Emerick, 2540 Steele-av; and Mrs. Paul Moriarity, 1371 Madison-av.

Part-time girls, all of whom are attending Ohio State University, include: Wilda Swain, 989 S. Ogden-av, Katherine West, 169 N. Hague-av, Virginia Witherspoon, 40 N. Ogden-av, and Patti Murray, 65 E. Seventh-av. The branch subscribes to 48 periodicals, including the daily and Sunday local newspapers and the New York Times.

Lloyd Douglas, author and former Lancaster, Ohio pastor, is a favorite with Hilltop patrons. His new book, "Big Fisherman" is now on hand.

Francis Parkinson Key's "Dinner at Antoines," has been in great demand also. Other novels of interest to Hilltoppers include: Carol Sandman's "Remembrance Rock," and Cronin's "Shannon's Way."

Interest in national road history, particularly as it affects the Hilltop, has been the subject of much interest. Liebman's "Peace of Mind," is frequently on the waiting list.

Much of culture among Hilltop families can be attributed to its well known library.

She will present as guest soloist Mrs. Hazel Wilson who will sing a group of Gay 90 songs, and who will lead group singing. Jack Courtney And Magic Show To Play At West

Jack Courtney

Jack Courtney and his magic show will entertain West High School students Saturday, Feb. 18, at 3:30 p. m. Courtney entertained the Community Junior Theater audience two years ago at Memorial Hall.

Courtney's show always features many small animals and birds in the various acts. A phenomenal illusion centers around a live rabbit which apparently materializes out of nowhere from inside an empty box. The same rabbit is then put into another box with his head and feet protruding. This box is sawed in half and the two parts separated with the head and feet still visible. When the two halves are rejoined once again and the box reopened, one whole live rabbit comes out. The live rabbit next is wrapped in newspaper and—presto!—vanishes into the nowhere from whence it came.

Tickets can be obtained the day of the performance at the school box office at 25c for children and 35c for adults. Any adult accompanied by five or more children is admitted free.

In the Junior League the Blue Devils took a 26-21 win from the Isaly five. A close game between Westgate and the Bronchos ended with Westgate leading 17-16. Burgess Avenue took a 2-0 win from Hoge Memorial to end Junior League activities on Feb. 9.

Book reviews of "On Our Own Doorstep" and "China, Twilight or Dawn," will be presented at 7:30 p. m. Feb. 26, in the parlors of Hilltop Lutheran Church under the sponsorship of the Tena Wagner and Wenrich Missionary and Aid Societies of the church. The reviews will be presented by Mrs. Russell Fletcher and Mrs. Clifford Coil.

Central Hands West Rough Loss Tuesday

By Dave Miller

Central High's league leading Pirates handed West a rough 68 to 48 loss on the Central floor Tuesday night.

It was the locals' fifth loss in 10 starts. One more victory is needed in their next two outings with South and East, respectively, to give them a percentage of .500 at the season's end.

In the first quarter of the Central fray, the game was nip and tuck throughout the period, with two straight goals near the end of the period giving Central a five point margin. The score was tied at 12-all midway until Pirates Readout and Tom Shook sank goals, putting Central in the lead, 18-13.

In the low-scoring second stanza, West was outplayed by the downtowners, 13-7. After a spree of points by Readout and Caldwell placed the score at 26-14 midway of the second period, Bill Thrush and Dick Culbertson sank longies and Fred Adams, a right-handed hook, to close Central's gap to 26-20. Caldwell and Bill Towler came back with five points to give Central a 31 to 20 halftime margin.

A rejuvenated West came from the shower room and started like a house afire, scoring three straight buckets before Central knew what was happening. Culbertson, Thrush and Young joined in the scoring. After Bob Cooper of the downtowners had sunk two straight, Thrush came back in the same style and scored for the locals. However, Readout, Al Harrison and Bob Shook got together for three straight and Central was in front, 41-30. Gaining confidence, Central held a 46-34 third period lead.

In the fourth quarter Central sewed up the ball game. The Pirates outscored their neighbors, 22-14, in this period, with Caldwell and Readout pacing the Pirates. Fred Adams collected eight points in this period, which was high for the quarter.

Big Dave Caldwell was high-point man with seven buckets and the same number of free throws for 21 points. His teammate, Ralph Readcut, was close behind with 20 and Fred Adams of the locals was next with 15.

In the preliminary the West reserves shook off a last minute Pirate uprising and took a 35-29 win over the Central seconds. This win keeps the local reserves in first place with eight wins and only two losses. Top scorer again was big Paul Ellingsworth with 15 tallies. Dave Caton was second in line with seven.

The Cowboys will visit South this Friday night in a battle for third place in the league. On Saturday night they play host to a tough Bellefontaine five.

JOE BRIGGS Says:
A person can't choose his face, but he can always pick his nose.
We can't pick or choose our times of adversity; they seem to swoop down on us when we least expect them. A fire, a theft, a liability suit can deal us a staggering financial blow—unless we're prepared with sufficient insurance. William Siebert Sees Mexican Volcano In Action

Former Hilltopper and West High practice teacher, William Siebert, Jr., witnessed the volcanic eruption at Paracuten in Mexico three weeks ago.

Seibert currently is teaching at Mexico City College under the exchange system. A Mexican teacher replaced him at Ohio State University.

In a letter to E. C. Reed, Mr. Siebert tells of his experiences there.

"Hello 'Pop':

"Heard you showed the card we sent you to the class. Glad you did. We are now in Tapco, one of the silver mining towns of Mexico, and it is very interesting. We are on our way to Acapulco, where we will spend the weekend.

"Two weeks ago we were at Paracuten, the active volcano, and we are enclosing two pictures. One is of Paracuten and the other shows how desolate the area surrounding the volcano is. Also in the second picture you can see the effect of erosion. It was a sight to see the eruption of the volcano at night as it expelled molten-hot lava. It threw the lava thousands of feet in the air, giving the impression of a shower battle on the Fourth of July.

"On the left side of the small volcano (Zapicho), which is at the base of Paracuten and to the left was a river of red-hot lava. It was really a wonderful trip even though we were a little sore and bow-legged from riding horseback for two hours.

"Hope you get a chance to come down to Mexico for it is a beautiful and different country. Write if you have time."

Eastern Star Holds Annual Inspection

The annual inspection of the officers of Robert Morris Chapter No. 372 Order of Eastern Star was held at West Gate Masonic Temple, Tuesday, Feb. 1, at 7:30 p. m.

Fern Johnson, worthy matron and James Ware, worthy patron presided in the East. Dela Dolby, worthy grand matron, was the inspecting officer. She then presented Robert M. Draper, Grand Sentinel of the Grand Chapter of Ohio, who is a member of Robert Morris Chapter, immediately after William Owen, worthy grand patron, was escorted to the East.

Past Grand Matron, Zella Watkins and Past Grand Patrons, Doc Waddell and P. R. DeVore were welcomed.

Deputy Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of Ohio, District 17, Adelaide Snyder was honored with a clever song by the Robert Morris chorus and escorted to the East.

Four To Be Initiated At Job's Meeting

Bethel No. 3 will hold its next regular meeting at Schmelzer's Hall on Thursday, Feb. 24, at 7:30 p. m. Four girls will be initiated at this meeting. All Masons and Eastern Star members are invited to attend the meeting.

About 30 members of Bethel No. 3, Job's Daughters, journeyed to Marion Feb. 12 to greet Mrs. Lulu Leyda, Supreme Guardian of United States and Canada.

Bethel No. 2, Marion, held its semi-annual inspection at the Masonic Temple, following a dinner in the dining room of the Temple at 6 p. m. served by members of the Eastern Star. The members of the choir of Bethel No. 3 assisted the choir of Marion and dthe entire group was directed by Mrs. Ursula Roberts, Grand Director of Music and Guardian of the Hilltop Bethel.

Ida Mae Emrich, Honored Queen of Bethel No. 3, was in the Honor Court for the State Queen.

Besides members of Bethel No. 3 who attended, several parents of the members drove to Marion for the meeting. George Roberts, Grand Outer Guard and Associate Guardian of Bethel No. 3 and Mrs. Lillian Weerner, Past Grand Guardian of Ohio, also attended.

Mrs. Wilkinson Is New Hostess For Welcome Wagon

By Myron T. Seifert

Mrs. Dovie Wilkinson, 450 S. Richardson-av, returned home last week from New York City, where she completed a course of instruction in preparation for her role as hostess for Welcome Wagon, Inc.

Welcome Wagon service was originated in 1928 by Thomas W. Briggs, a newspaper man of Memphis, Tenn., who adapted a custom of pioneer days to present-day conditions. Welcome Wagons carrying food and water to refresh pioneer travelers were the custom in the early days of the West.

That tradition lives today, in Welcome Wagon, a modern version of "old-fashioned" hospitality. Daily, in 1948, throughout the United States and Canada, in more than 800 towns and cities, Welcome Wagon hostesses carry good wishes to 500,000 families, newcomers, newly engaged girls, mothers of new babies, teen-age girls and to those moving from one home to another within the community.

The Welcome Wagon hostess knows her town, and wherever she goes she carries word of its outstanding features—its libraries, churches, newspapers, parks, museums youth groups, welfare associations, banks, shops, radio stations, restaurants, schools and services.

Amiable and attractive, Mrs. Wilkinson contacts all engaged girls in Upper Arlington, Grandview, Westgate and the Hilltop, and makes possible a better understanding and appreciation of greater Columbus.

Mrs. Wilkinson is particularly adept at her work. She averages four to five visits each day and find her work very fascinating.

Her hobbies include collecting china and bisque dolls and colored prints and lithographs.

Ohio has 283 tax-supported public libraries, a state library system and many college libraries. Bookmobiles service many of the rural areas.

A great mineral resource available to Ohio industry is the high grade coal of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky. And, Ohio is the meeting place of the iron ores of the Great Lakes regions and the fuel of the Appalachians.

Pupils Depict Lincoln's Life In Realistic Historical Play

From a log cabin to the capitol was the theme of the historical episodes in the life of Abraham Lincoln which were dramatically presented in costume at the West Broad Street School's assembly Feb. 11 by the 4A class under the direction of Ruth A. Michaelis, teacher. The program was given to commemorate the 140th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln in a log cabin in Kentucky, February 12, 1809.

The first scene showed the arrival of the stepmother, Sarah Bush Lincoln, a widow with three children, who brought with her some good pieces of furniture and who made life more comfortable and pleasant for nine-year-old Abe and his sister, Nancy, whose own mother had died the year before.

Other scenes showed Abe reading before the fireplace, encouraged and defended by his stepmother against his father, who saw no sense in Abe's desire for readin' and writin'.

Another outstanding scene showed Lincoln with two companions in New Orleans, where he witnessed a slave auction and declared, "If ever I get a chance to hit that thing I'll hit it hard."

The next scene showed Lincoln as president, being interviewed by a newspaper reporter, and in the last scene Lincoln delivered the famous Gettysburg speech.

An outstanding contribution to the program was the recitation of Edwin Markham's poem, "Lincoln, the Man of the People," by Dick Glass. The background scenery and pictures in the play were made by the children. All of the costumes and stage properties of antiques such as iron kettles, crockery, jugs, churn, guns, kegs, etc., were either made or brought in by the children.

Owner To Beautify Old Indian Mound

The historical site built by the mound builders centuries ago on Dublin-rd will remain for posterity to explore. Joe Tcepfner, auto dealer and new owner of the former Pope Mound, bought the three and a half-acre site last year. He planned to level it off this year, but protests from citizens forced him to change his mind.

Citizens began protesting the leveling Jan. 9, when they saw the bulldozer at work. The County Planning Committee advised Toepfner that he was within his rights to level the mound, but Toepfner said he will beautify it instead.

He plans to clear off brush about the base of the mound and make it more attractive.

Cowboys Lose 4th Cage Game 49-32 Feb. 11 To Linden-McKinley On Home Court

By Dave Miller

A stubborn crew of West High cagers held on bitterly to the last second of a rough and tumble game at West court last Friday night, but the locals finally went down to a 42 to 39 defeat to Linden McKinley's Panthers.

The loss was West's fourth in nine loop outings and with the less tougher opposition already played in the present second round. Below the Cowboys in the standings are North, McKinley and Aquinas. The Cowboys won all three games from these teams in the first rounds, but in the second round have been able to win only from Aquinas.

The Cowboys have maintained their second place tie with South, behind first place Central and second place East.

In the first quarter, Guard Don Wickiser of the Panthers grabbed the tip and dribbled in for an easy lay-up to set Linden in front quickly. However, Dick Culbertson, Bill Thrush and Fred Adams got together for five quick markers and West held the upper hand the remainder of the opening stanza. Bob Webb and Phil Young matched two-pointers, but Fred Adams sank a bunny and a free throw to put West ahead, 10-4. However, Webb and Johnny Hayes combined for three points, and Adams and Webb matched goals to make the score 12-9. Jim Rudolph's free throw made the score, 13-9, in West's favor at the first period's end.

In the wild and wooly second stanza, Phil Young started the quarter off with a duo of free tosses, but Bob Webb's easy lay-up matched that. Paul Zugschwert and Webb got together for three quick tallies to narrow the Cowboys lead to one point. Bill Thrush of the locals made good on a free throw, but Big Bob Webb of the visitors' plunked through his 11th point of the game and tied the score at 16-all. Phil Young and Don Wickiser matched goals to make it 20-all, but LeRoy Hood of West sank a beautiful under the basket hook to give West a 20-18 halftime lead.

Linden rallied in the third period. Zugschwert, Wickiser and Parker all hit for consecutive goals to put the Lindenites in front, 24-20. However, West came back at a faster pace, with Fred Adams, Phil Young, Bill Thrush and Dick Culbertson all combining for eight straight tallies, and West was on top 28-24. Zugschwert sank a free toss and a goal to narrow West's lead to 28-27. Bob Davis, Webb and Wickiser, in the latter part of the quarter, collected six tallies, and Linden held a 38-30 third period edge.

Linden set the pace in the final period with Wickiser and Hayes getting five, pushing the score to 38-30. Jack Winnestaffer of the locals and Paul Burns of Linden matched goals, but Hood's free toss and Haye's goal put Linden ahead 41-33. From then on West fought bitterly, but Linden couldn't be matched. Final score was 42-39 with the Cowboys unable to catch the determined Panthers.

Linden's Webb and Phil Young of the locals shared the top spot in scoring honors, both getting 14 tallies. Fred Adams, West pivot man, got 13 and Don Wickiser of Linden had 10.

In the preliminary game, the West Reserves took a thriller from Linden's seconds, 26-25, thanks to Jim Lang's free toss with 17 seconds to go in the game. West led nearly all the way, but Bob Vannett put Linden ahead with only one minute and 19 seconds to go in the game. "Wimpy" Potts tied the score at 25-all and set the stage for Lang's game winning free throw.

Vannett of Linden was high man with nine points, eight of his points coming in the last quarter. Paul Ellingsworth and George Crissinger shared top spot for West, both getting eight.

The Cowboys visited Central Tuesday evening and the story may be found in Section A of today's Hilltop Record.

West Jr. In 37-30 Win

By Dave Miller

Let by the alert and timely shooting of their ace forward Jerry Trabue West Junior's basketball five took a decisive 37 to 30 win over a game and stubborn Roosevelt five on the Cowboy court in an afternoon game Feb. 11.

Trabue, convincing, proved his ability to match any Junior High forward in hook and pivot shots. Jack Keller on the defensive, who leads the Junior High League in scoring, had a hard time stopping Trabue's offensive tactics. Big Jerry managed to hit the nets for nine fielders and three free tosses for a 21-point total.

The first quarter started slow, with Tom Evans' push shot from the side starting off the scoring. However, the locals came back with three straight goals by Dick Hutchison, Trabue and Bob Thornton. After Keller of Roosevelt made good on a free toss Trabue sank another two-pointer and the quarter ended with the locals leading 8-3.

In the second quarter, Keller of the Southsiders made good on five straight points, and Hutchison of the locals sank a goal and the score read 10-8. Trabue sank two free tosses, and Bob Thornton, a tip-in, but Roosevelt fought back with Keller, the seige gun, and tied the score at 14-all. Trabue sank a beautiful left handed push-up at this point, but Evans of the visitors made good on a long one-hander and after Bob Pointer had sunk a free toss for the ultimate losers, Roosevelt led at intermission, 17-16.

However, the third quarter decided the issue as Trabue collected three straight tallies and Bill Haire made good on a long shot and the local Broncos were ahead 21-17, keeping the lead for the remainder of the contest.

Trabue was high point man with 21 tallies, followed by his opposing forward, Jack Keller, who collected 16.

The Juniors have two more games remaining in the league. They visit Mound on Friday and travel to Starling the following Friday. To date, the locals have won three games in eight tries, while Mound has taken four in eight tilts and Starling only one in eight tries.

Baseball Season At Starling Opens

One hundred and nineteen Starling Junior High baseball candidates greeted Coach Carl "Smitty" Smith in the first meeting of the year held Feb. 10 at the school.

Al Banister, President of the Columbus Red Birds and Bob Kline, Red Bird Scout, who got his baseball start at Starling, were the principal speakers.

Starling was co-champion last season and has won six championships. The team has been co-champion four times. In the 30 years Smitty has been in the public school system, 29 of those years he has been Starling's baseball coach.

"My Country 'Tis of Thee"

When the Reverend Samuel Francis Smith wrote "My Country 'tis of Thee," he composed two stanzas, not about rocks and rills and templed hills, but concerned wholly with education. We have not through the years sung these highly fitting stanzas but they are in the original poem and should be used today and always, for they deal with one of the fruits on sweet freedom's tree praised so highly in his immortal lyric.

The stanzas following the one bidding the rocks break their silence in freedom's cause apply to our present crisis.

Our glorious Land today
'Neath Education's sway
Soars upward still.
Its hall of learning fair,
Whose bounties all may share,
Behold them everywhere
On vale and hill.

They safeguard Liberty,
The school shall ever be
Our Nation's pride!
No tyrant hand shall smite,
While with encircling might
All here are taught the Right
With Truth allied.

Samuel Francis Smith you spoke wisely. Why have we neglected these inspiring lines? The author belonged to the famous Harvard class of 1829, living today as one of "The Boys" in Oliver Wendell Holmes' well-known poem, written to commemorate the thirtieth reunion of that class made memorable because it gave so many leaders of action and thought to the nation.

"Fate tried to conceal him by naming him Smith," says Holmes.
"But he shouted a song for the brave and the free,
Just read on his medal—'My Country 'Tis of Thee.'"

Still a Castle in the Air

Letters To The Editor

Mr. Editor:

A veterans' service pension is again being considered by the congress of the United States and as usual the opponents of all veterans' legislation raise the same old time-worn cry (patriotism vs. dollars).

Isn't that a strange cry when we consider the fact that the present administration went in office on a promise of total security, social reform, based on "human interests and values above all else"?

This present administration advocates security for all, in this nation, and has undertaken to underwrite, with tax dollars of the veteran as well as the tax dollars of every one else in this nation, security for the underprivileged nations of earth, but not one word is said about underwriting old age security for our own veterans, via a service pension, based on age.

Here are the facts. Veterans organizations have asked, not for total security from the cradle to the grave, but for old age security for the veteran for the short period of some 10 years of their remaining life. IS THAT ASKING TOO MUCH?

This request is based on the fact that, contrary to the common belief, the average veteran does not receive any kind of a pension or disability allowance from our government.

That the vast majority of all veterans of the first World War have now reached an age where they are to some degree partially disabled. Their earning power is gone if they lose their present job they become a burden on the state for they are no longer a good employment risk and employers will no longer hire them. They cannot secure additional life insurance except at prohibitive cost.

Now the real question is this: Shall we follow the precedent set by President Washington, pay them a service pension, at a certain age, or shall we permit them to become a burden to society and to their families, wards of the state, inmates of the soldiers' home (where no space is now available), county, city and state relief cases? Or would you rather take them out and shoot them?

Mr. and Mrs. America, the decision is yours. Write your congressman and tell him your choice, but remember this before you do: We will need soldiers again. Can we get them if we refuse to care for them when they become too old to serve again?

THE OLD SARGE
R. M. Hartman

Dear C. C.

Thanks a million for the very fine Feature Section of The Hilltop Record last week. I am sure it will be a great help for Scouting in the Southwest District for 1949.

The theme for Scouting for the next two-year program is: "STRENGTHEN THE ARM OF LIBERTY," with the goal being every Scout to bring in another boy to Scouting. If this can be done it will be a great help in combating Communism and our nation will have many more boys growing into our American way of life.

Help us keep that theme in the public mind.

Thanks again,
M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner

Just Garden Talk

By W. H. Lindberg

Howdy folks. This is going to be just plain, down-to-earth garden talk. An effort is going to be made to help you get more out of your garden, whether you are a fan for some of the special items such as roses, dahlias, pansies, tuber roses, rooted begonias, azaleas or whether your garden just consists of everything — especially those things that friends and relatives have cleaned out of their gardens and have given to you. It is my aim to help you to make your garden a more intimate part of your life.

This early in the season the most practical thing to discuss is your garden planning. When you get out the old seed catalog a good thing to have handy is pencil, paper and a sheet of cross-section paper such as engineers use.

Know the general dimensions of your garden area and with this plotted on your cross-section paper you are ready to plan your garden like a professional. Use the general information given on the seed packets and in the catalog to allow the proper spacing of your future plants. By planting your garden on paper first you will have just the right number of plants and arranged so that you will have good color arrangement and bloom balance for the year.

To get this started off right you are invited to send your garden questions in with stamped, self-addressed envelope to "The Gardener", care The Hilltop Record.

Wholesale and retail trade is one of the major industry groups in Ohio, with the state ranking fifth in both wholesale and retail sales. Cleveland and Cincinnati are important wholesale distribution centers in the east-central area and all lines of trade are represented. Ohio and Michigan are practically tied for fourth place in retail sales per capita.

PROPHECY

Aloof you rise tonight, and bleak,
O stern, O sad, prophetic hills,
Shattering my dream of inviolate peace
As the north wind flays
The dying fields.

FOOLISH NOTION

Should one of us love better, dear,
As may sometimes occur,
Let's not take issue, sharp and clear,
Nor jealous doubtings stir.

Let no one delve into the past
To analyze emotions;
A calmer love may long outlast
A dozen foolish notions.

But rather let us go our way,
Unhampered by a fetter,
Too proud to ask from day to day,
"Do you or I love better?"

Alice Craig Redhead

BENEDICTION

Even the French peasant
Who labors endlessly,
To till a soil
Rendered sterile by incessant war,
Pauses a moment

OF TRAVELING

How fast? How far? O traveler,
Are those the things that matter?

Thoreau explored but Concord's realm,

John Bunyan journeyed slow by foot,
Yet Paradise attained.

Not speed or distance, traveler . . .
But what is gained.

B. Y. Williams,
in "Talaria."

Hilltop Hospitality To Foreign Students Recognized by UN

Hilltop residents are illustrating what can be done to improve foreign relations between the U. S. and European and Asiatic countries. The Columbus and Franklin County Council of Church Women during the past year have invited foreign students from Ohio State University to their homes for Sunday dinners. This gesture of hospitality was recognized by the United Nations in a letter addressed to the council. The UN stated that members had heard of the work being done by Columbus residents and requested that full details be forwarded, so that this information might be passed on to other interested communities.

Hilltoppers who have done their part in creating good-will among foreign countries are the M. D. Losey family, Graham Prior family, T. C. Herbert family and Mrs. Iva Marsh, all members of Glenwood Methodist Church. J. H. Goewey family, members of Hillcrest Baptist Church, entertained foreign students from Turkey, India, China and South America in April, 1948.

Members of Hoge Memorial Church who entertained students from Turkey and India in October are the C. A. Miror family, W. H. Jones family and the T. R. Morris family.

On Jan. 24 Glenwood Methodist Church members again opened their homes when the M. D. Losey family, Mrs. Iva Marsh, H. R. Lorimer family, H. F. Remington family, C. H. Witherspoon family and Mrs. Doris Hayes entertained students from Turkey, Finland, India, Denmark, Egypt and China.

THE CHICKEN-OF-TOMORROW

CULMINATING a three-year competitive program to find a breeding formula that would add at least 10 per cent more meat to the present-day chicken, the "Chicken-of-Tomorrow" came into its own recently at a dinner-meeting of poultry breeders in New York City.

Conducted by the National Chicken-of-Tomorrow committee under the auspices of the Atlantic and Pacific food stores, the industry-wide competition gave poultry raisers from coast to coast an opportunity to vie for a $5,000 grand championship prize plus $3,000 in regional progress awards.

Dressed poultry contests were conducted among states, the five top-ranking entrants in each of the state contests being eligible to compete in their respective regional trials, with the grand national championships held last spring in Delaware.

In the finals, eggs sent in by the 40 top breeders of the nation were hatched under identical conditions under the supervision of a committee of poultry experts headed up by H. L. Shrader, senior extension poultry husbandman of the United States department of agriculture. In addition to the top cash award of $5,000, there were runner-up prizes totaling $3,000.

The Chicken-of-Tomorrow, introduced to the world for the first time at the poultry breeders' dinner-meeting in New York, boasts a higher percentage of meat to bone structure, with added layers of white meat on the wings as well as meatier [illegible].

D. D. Slade of Lexington, Ky., secretary-treasurer of the International Baby Chick association and chairman of the national committee which blueprinted specifications for the bird, is confident that the improved strain of meat-type chickens produced under the committee's program will reward both producers and [illegible].

He also pointed out that development of a broad-breasted turkey has helped the gobbler out of the holiday class. Development of meatier birds, he said, was partially responsible for a 73 per cent increase in per capita consumption of turkey in the past 15 years.

Similar success, he added, is expected to result from the development of the Chicken-of-Tomorrow.

First it was "homes of tomorrow." Then "cars of tomorrow," "home appliances of tomorrow," etc. Now it's the Chicken-of-Tomorrow—a bigger and better strain of meat-type chicken developed by a three-year competitive search for a breeding formula that would add 10 per cent more meat to the present-day chicken. Evelyn Short of Milford, Del., is shown holding tomorrow's chicken on her shoulder during a dinner-meeting of poultry breeders in New York City which culminated the competition.

2. Starts assurance coverage at the early ages when the premium is at minimum rates. Premium never increases.
3. Covers expenses incurred through death in childhood.
4. Is flexible, permits a wide choice of valuable options and a considerable increase in face value (actually to five times the original amount) at age 21, without medical examination.
5. Ensures protection should the child later become uninsurable.

Hilltop Churches To Observe World Day of Prayer Mar. 4

Women of the Hilltop churches will meet for the observance of the World Day of Prayer at the Oakley Avenue Baptist Church, Mar. 4, at 2 p. m.

Annually observed on the first Friday of Lent, this special day brings together millions of women to unite their prayers for peace and for a deeper communion with God.

Groups of worshippers from 74 countries will participate in this Day that begins Friday in the Fiji Islands, west of the international date line, while Hilltoppers are still asleep Thursday night. As the sun moves westward, reaching country after country, new groups from all sorts of towns, cities and hamlets will join in a universal service of worship until, 40 hours later, the final reverent service is held by fur-clad Eskimos on St. Lawrence Island off the coast of Alaska.

The World Day of Prayer is an outgrowth of prayers of women. For centuries women prayed in secret — gradually their voices were heard in churches. They met in small groups, organized to send missionaries to foreign lands and to the unchurched in our own land. Christian women in other countries united their prayers with those of American women and in 1927 the World Day of Prayer came into being. In 1942 the responsibility for the day was assumed by the United Council of Church Women.

Without solicitation, free-will offerings began to come in, increasing each year until at present four projects are supported in part, with these offerings, the migrant workers and American Indians in the United States and Christian Colleges and Christian Literature in the foreign field.

The spiritual uplift to those of all nations, denominations and races who participated in the observance of the Day cannot be measured. The spiritual power which will be released in the world to combat the forces of evil if "enough Christians pray enough" is beyond human comprehension. To this end, prayer group meetings in Hilltop homes have been formed to undergird the World Day of Prayer.

Some Impressions On How Jesus Chose His Apostles

Of the 12 men whom Jesus called to special discipleship, He said, "Ye have not chosen Me, but I have chosen you."

These, whom we call "Apostles," and worthily so, were not Apostles at first. They were men from ordinary walks of life. There is no evidence that they were men of special education or training, though it is a great mistake to think of them as simple, or unlearned men.

The Jewish system of education, with schools attached to the synagogues and with the responsibility resting upon parents, assured the Jewish boy an education for his time and environment as sound as the average boy receives today. Their future work in the founding and leading of the Christian church made evident the training the disciples had in the Master's school and in His companionship. But they undoubtedly had some education when they responded to the Master's call.

Why, out of the many, did Jesus choose these particular men? We cannot answer that with full knowledge, but we can get some rather definite impressions, from the nature of the men, and the nature of the task to which Jesus called them.

It was not enough that they should be good men and well-intentioned. They must be good for the purpose for which Jesus chose them. They must be men of adventurous spirit, capable of endurance, men of ambition, willing to sacrifice everything for a cause and a worthwhile goal.

Jesus undoubtedly saw in them the makings of what they really became, and their achievement in the founding of the church justified His vision and His faith in them.

But what about Judas? Was Jesus deceived in him? Or did Judas himself change? Of one thing we can be sure. The failure was not the Master's, but the failure of Judas. Jesus called him for what he might have been. But Judas failed to rise to the vision.

Jesus calls us all for what we may be. How much do we rise to His vision of us?

20th Annual Minstrel

Hilltop Minstrel Set To Open February 23

Meet The Director and MC

Lee Koontz

Lee Koontz, many sided entertainer, is shown above in various stages of his specialty numbers. In one scene he is posed with hair ruffled in his famous Ten Little Bottles Act. Another equally popular trick is his act as a leaning violin virtuoso with a demonstration of how to play a violin with anything available, and another is his well known candle trick.

Struttin', swaggerin', funnyman Lee Koontz with his famous Dixieland draw will be back at the Hilltop Minstrel show Feb. 23, 24 and 25 at West High School. In the role of "Mr. Interlocutor" and also director, Lee's a sure fire hit in the Mr. Bones routine.

Minus blackface, Lee is director of the show. He has a big job but has proven himself equal to the task. During Carlton Hardey's tenure in the Navy, Lee directed the Minstrel for three successive years.

A real old-timer in the minstrel show company, Lee's performances date back to the first minstrel produced on the Hilltop 20 years ago. Since then he's been a part of nearly every show produced.

Still a professional entertainer, Lee finds time from his job as a stereotyper at The Hilltop Record to sing, dance and emcee shows, when he's called on.

Koontz is married and lives with his wife and two children at 175 S. Sylvan-av.

Sells Advertising

Ira Claggett

Ira Claggett, who took over the sale of advertising for the Hilltop Minstrel edition last year did such a good job that he is again in charge of the committee.

Claggett, is a real estate broker with offices at 2622 W. Broad-st.

Happy Birthday

Glen Houdashelt

Glen Houdashelt who will celebrate his sixth birthday on opening night, Feb. 24, will make his stage debut with the Hilltop Minstrel. Dressed in an Irish green suit, little Glen will sing "Clancy, Lowered the Boom," an Irish minstrel number.

Glen is in the first grade at West Broad Street Elementary School and attends Sunday School at Glenwood Methodist Church.

Housewife: "I'm sure you are too small to be a nurse for the children."

Applicant: "No, m a 'a m, you see, if I should drop the baby he wouldn't fall so far."

Former Stars and Newcomers To Headline 20th Annual Show

Who said vaudeville is dead? Vaudeville in all its old glory will live again as the 20th Annual Hilltop Minstrel goes on stage at West High School auditorium.

With the cry of "curtain going up", Minstrel goers will take their seats promptly at 8:15, curtain time, Feb. 24, 25 and 26.

Minstrel spotlights will shine for three nights on a talented array of young vaudeville stars, some newcomers to the Minstrel stage, and others veteran Minstrel entertainers.

A complete cast of hand-picked performers will be on hand to give Minstrel fans an evening of music and merriment that hasn't been equalled since last year's show.

The Minstrel stage will be set in the Old South. West High stage technicians and their director, Mrs. Evelyn Hall, have worked hard preparing for the 20th production. Ticket sellers, advertising and publicity men, performers, orchestra, chorus and director have all done a tremendous job getting the large-scale production in readiness for opening night.

Musical score of the show will feature songs of the Southland. Opening and closing orchestra numbers were specially written by Will Marot.

The male chorus, the Hilltop end man chorus, banjo artists, accordionists, vocalists and the Minstrel orchestra, led by Mac Toolll, have been perfecting their numbers to make West auditorium ring with toe-tapping tunes.

Nine specialty acts have been booked for the show. Each is guaranteed to keep your eyes open and your sides splitting with lively tunes, tricky dancing and clever jokes.

Stars in this year's minstrel show are Nancy Bailey, pretty dancer; Glen Houdashelt, youthful Irish tenor; Garnet Menge, sultry torch singer; Donald Hessler, who strums a ukelele; Patty Manus, attractive drum majorette; Four of a Kind Boys, tops in barbershop singing; Linda Prior, petite ballerina.

Shirley Huntsberry, pretty 15-year-old dancer; George and Jackie Hardy, show stopping father and daughter dance team; six little dancing girls from Keith Lovewell's studio; Jack Sherick, talented dancing instructor; Keith Miller, accordion player; the Glamourettes, the Minstrel's famed chorus line; and Herb Germaine, member of Minstrel orchestra, will play a trombone solo.

If you've missed any of the other Minstrel shows, don't miss this one. A show designed, produced, enacted, and directed by Hilltoppers, the 20th Annual Hilltop Minstrel can't be beat for all-round entertainment.

The laziest woman in the world is the one who puts popcorn in her pancakes so they'll turn over by themselves.

HBA President

Philip Stout

President of the Hilltop Business Association has many demands made on him during preparation time for the Hilltop Minstrel, but Phil Stout, attorney, doesn't mind. Minstrel time is fun for him. A veteran clown for two years, he will make the address of welcome on Feb. 24, 25 and 26, minstrel nights.

Phil has worked hard to make the Minstrel a huge success. A successful minstrel means more projects the HBA can sponsor or contribute to in 1949. His law office is at 2532 W. Broad-st.

Publicity Man

Sam Alford

Sam Alford, vice-president of the Thrift Finance Co., a Hilltopper for many years, is the hard-working press agent of the Hilltop Minstrel. No show is a success without a fair amount of publicity, and Sam has been seeing that the 20th Annual Minstrel gets its share. A member of the Masons, the Hilltop Kiwanis Club and the Hilltop Business Association, Sam is kept busy keeping up with his extra-curricular activities.

I knew a fellow who claimed to be a sailor, but he got seasick when you opened a box of salt-water taffy!

Hilltop Cowboy

Donald Hessler

Young cowhand, Donald Hessler, will play his ukelele and sing "Hawaiian Cowboy" in his first appearance with the Hilltop Minstrel during the production's three-day run.

Eight-year-old Don is a third grade pupil at John Burroughs School. No newcomer to the entertainment world, Don has played and sung for several banquets and has appeared in school variety shows. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Hessler, 252 S. Warren-av.

He. "There are two men I really admire."

She, sarcastically: "Who's the other?"

Theater Players To Present Short Satirical Play

A unique part of the Hilltop Minstrel show this year will be a 12-minute one-act play produced by the Hilltop Little Theater players. "If Men Played Cards," title of the production, is a satire based on men's views of how Hilltop women carry on extensive conversations while playing cards.

Once enacted as a short length movie feature by Bob Hope, Billy de Wolfe and two other Hollywood comedians, the show was an immediate screen success.

Director Lee Koontz has rewritten the script, substituting local names and places for those in the story. Members of the cast are Dr. Palmer Cordray, Carl Turner, D. K. Finley and Jack Perdew.

Two extras were discussing the feminine lead of a picture in which they were working.

"I hear she wants to play in a horse opera for her next picture," said one of them.

"Well, she's got the right idea," said the other extra. "She'd be great as a horse."

Some of the fellows told me they were in a nightclub so swanky that they wouldn't let you eat any horse radish unless you had on a riding habit.

Squeezebox Artist In Show Again

Keith Miller

A minstrel spotlight will be on Keith Miller at the 20th annual Hilltop show. Keith was such a hit at last year's minstrel that he's been invited to participate again this year.

Keith, an accordion player, handles the "squeezebox" like a veteran. His toe-tapping tunes will highlight the minstrel's versatile program.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller, 369 Nashoba-av.

Talented Dancer

Little Linda Prior will make her initial appearance with the Hilltop Minstrel Feb. 24, 25, and 26. The eight-year-old ballerina, has studied ballet for several years. She is a third grade pupil at John Burroughs School and lives with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Prior, 611 S. Roys-av. She will be accompanied in her number by the Minstrel orchestra.

Sight-seeing Guide (on rubberneck wagon): "And, ladies and gentlemen, on your right you see a monument erected last year to a noble cause."

Inquisitive Old Lady: "What does it stand for?"

The Guide (sarcastically): "Because, madam, it would look silly lying down."

Highlight your meals with golden, crispy Fritos, the finer-flavored corn chips! There's magic taste appeal in Fritos. They're made from fine sun-ripened corn, toasted to a golden brown and salted to perfection.

Fritos are grand with soups and salads, hot beverages—in dressings and casserole dishes and many other favorite recipes. Yes, good foods taste better with Fritos. Ask your grocer for ready-to-eat Fritos, America's favorite

She Will Sing In Mintsrel Show

Gloria Paige

With her pretty face blacked with burnt cork, sultry Gloria Paige, vocalist, will make her second appearance with the annual Hilltop Minstrel. Miss Paige will be featured as a colored mammy in a blackfaced number. She will sing "Mighty Like a Rose."

In private life she is Mrs. Garnet Menge. She and her husband live at 328 Harris-av.

Because she hates to get up in the morning, Virginia Mayo, movie actress, has acquired a costly alarm clock, beautifully engraved, and studded with semi-precious gems. "When it rings," she explained, "I don't dare knock it off the table!"

"Yes, my father has contributed very much to the raising of the working classes."

"Ah. Is he a Socialist."

"No, he makes alarm clocks."

Mrs. Tex Ritter complains because hats are getting higher and cars are getting lower. "If the nation's milliners and automobile manufacturers don't get together, we'll have a generation of stoop-shouldered women," she pleads.

The law says girls are minors until they're 21; but a lot of them are gold-diggers all of their lives.

Prices are so high nowadays, when most people go to the butcher for a minute steak they can only afford ten seconds worth.

The Hilltop Record can be mailed to a friend. $1.50 per year anywhere in Franklin County.

OLD AND NEW . . . Round-eyed enthusiasm and sad-eyed experience are epitomized in this picture of the eldest and youngest members of the U. S. senate. The two are Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana and Sen. Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee.

The electricity for Ohio is furnished by more than 90 generating stations supplemented by inter-connections to nearby-power centers. The capacity of Ohio generating stations is more than 3,500,000 kilowatts. Ample electric power has built up chemical industries in Ohio, notably in the eastern part of the state, where salt brines are available. Private power plants and lines, municipal power systems, and rural electric cooperatives carry electricity to residents and industries in all parts of Ohio.

An odd little bug is the scottie,
He is not a creature of beauty.
But on the skin
While digging in,
He gave strict attention to duty.

—Ohio Development and Publicity Commission Photo.

Covered bridges like this one that spans Big Darby Creek on State Route 104 near Fox, were built for permanency as well as beauty and utility. The sturdiness of these structures is the secret to why Ohio now has more covered bridges than any other State.

Clarence Story

Costuming 100 members of a cast including 40 chorus girls is no easy job, but Clarence Story, a member of last year's committee has the job well under hand. Approximately 50 new costumes have been ordered and arrangements are under way for the others.

Mr. Story is operator of a dry cleaning establishment at 2420 W. Broad-st.

Harold Greene

Remembered for his performance as end man in the 18th annual Minstrel, Harold Greene is again helping out this year. Mr. Greene, first vice-president of the Hilltop Business Association, is a member of the Minstrel advertising committee.

He is remembered in 1947 for the full page color photo of himself displayed on the front of the Dispatch magazine section. The photo won the state-wide contest among Ohio newspapers in color photography at Kent State University. Mr. Jones is associated with the Jones Lumber and Coal Co.

Three Hilltop Minstrel Ticket Salesmen Kept Busy

Joseph M. Briggs

Myron Rodabaugh

Selling tickets is another big job for Minstrel workers. This year with mail order reservations swamping the ticket committee, selling tickets has been a bigger job than ever, before.

Processing requests, selecting tickets and returning them by mail involves a lot of concentrated effort, and the three members of the ticket committee are breathing a sigh of relief as the job is nearing completion.

Hilltop Business Association members, working on the ticket committee, are Harold Fox, of Fox Grocery, Myron Rodabaugh of the Thrift Finance Co., and Joe Briggs, of Briggs Insurance

Hilltop Minstrels Keep Community Organizations and Projects Moving

If you're wondering why every year about this time the Hilltop becomes Minstrel minded, it's all for a good cause. About 20 years ago, it was decided by a grup of business men that something should be done to improve the growing Hilltop community.

Funds were needed to promote community projects and the idea of a minstrel show to collect funds was decided upon. Since 1930, the original show, more than $10,000 has been turned over to the Hilltop Business Association to sponsor and contribute to such projects as the Hilltop Scouts and Boy Scouts, numerous churches, St. Joseph Camp for boys, the Hilltop Little Theater, the Childhood League, the West High student council, Hilltop Community Council, and the Eastern Star. Also a number of underprivileged children were sent to the annual Grotto circus.

YMCA, the Red Cross, the Community Fund, the Disabled American Veterans, the Columbus Zoo, the Philharmonic orchestra, the Civic Opera Club, and the Franklinton Sesquicentennial.

In 1948 a few community organizations to benefit from HBA funds were the Girl

In 1947 the HBA purchased a new microphone for the West High School band, bought raincoats and galoshes for grade school safety patrols and sent a boy to the Buckeye Boys' State.

DOWN MEMORY LANE

HAVE you ever eavesdropped on one of those all-too-frequent sentimental journeys down Memory Lane—those all-too-rare reunions when old-timers reminisce over old times, old friends, old ways, old familiar places?

Although fast fading from the American scene, the dying institution known as the "hot stove league" is being kept alive by R. O. (Dick) Helwig of Chicago, president for the past 10 years of the Chicago Lawn Historical society. Like all affiliates of the Illinois State society, Dick's group has a reunion at least once a year.

Whenever Dick and his cronies get together for a reunion, the conversation inevitably turns to the "good old days." Recently, Dick planted a candid "mike" in the society's meeting place to record for posterity some of the reminiscent remarks made during one of these typical conversations.

Highlights of Conversation

If you had been within listening distance then (within easy reach of the cracker barrel, that is), you, too, would have overheard these choice tidbits, later culled from the conversation piece and added to Dick's remembrance of things past:

R. H. S.: "Who remembers playing hookey from school and 'bumming' the day in an old, red, ramshackle barn, smoking dried cornsilk or lying in the hayloft gazing through a crack in the roof at the clouds passing by and dreaming of pirates, buried treasure, Adventure on the high seas, exotic ports of call in the South seas or along the gold coast of Africa? I can still see the spider webs spun along the dusty timbers and smell the aged-in-the-wood taint of ancient hay and animals. An old rope and a harness hung on the wall and a rusty milk can gathered cobwebs in the corner. Sometimes I imagined I saw witches and could expect the pitchfork to fly away."

R. O. H.: "Speaking of playing hookey, who remembers the Southworth - Stone arithmetic, the Lomrel singer, the Jones and McGuffy readers or the McMaster history?"

Does this scene strike a nostalgic note? If you spent any part of your boyhood on a farm—and if you were a typical American boy of a generation ago—you probably played hookey from school and "bummed" the day in an old ramshackle barn, smoking dried cornsilk or lying in the hayloft watching spiders spin their webs or looking up at the clouds drifting past a crack in the roof.

Speaking of Girls

R. O. H.: "That reminds me. Remember how we used to shine the harness and clean the buggy to go a-courtin'? And how our lady fair would stroke the horse's nose admiringly, only to have the brute sneeze all over her?"

E. M. S. "Those were the days the ladies wore plumes in their hats for special dress-up occasions. Sometimes they'd get caught in the rain and would have to spend the evening drying out and re-curling the feathers over a hot stove lid sprinkled with salt."

R. O. H.: "Most drug stores in those days had small glass aquariums with leeches and seaweed. The leeches were used to draw the inflammation from black eyes, bruises and bumps."

A. E.: "Remember how mother used to daub glycerine and rose water on our tender hides and it would smart so much that we'd jump up and down and wave our arms to relieve the burning sensation?"

E. H. S.: "Who remembers when court plaster was first used to cover scratches and wounds and the advertisement which went with it? 'You stick to me and I'll stick to you.'"

L. W.: "Who remembers when yard goods was measured by the distance from the clerk's finger tip to the point of his chin?"

T. K.: Who remembers Nebo cigarettes? The cigar called 'Habit' and the advertising slogan, 'Get the Habit'? When Egg-O-See was a nationally-advertised cereal? When everybody was talking about Rheostats, superhetrodyne, crystal sets, Zemo and Pulzer gum? When yo felt like some pumpkins when you rode in an automobile like th Mitchell, the Flint, the Auburn, th Bay State, the Cleveland Six, th Chandler, the Scripps-Booth, th Franklin, the Grant Six or the Stanley Steamer? We really thought we were somebody when we rode aroun in our Mitchell touring car with its big drum headlights!"

Banjo Artist

Al Bettinger

"With a joke up his sleeve
And a banjo on his knee."

Funnyman Al Bettinger promises to be on hand as a combination end man and banjo artist, when the 20th annual Hilltop Minstrel is produced Feb. 28, 24 and 25.

A blackface and southern drawl will highlignt Al's specialty number.

A graduate of West High School, with the class of '38, Al has had experience with several local orchestras and now has his own five piece band.

Bettinger and his wife and two children reside at 748 Thomas-av.

Lowell T. Sullivan

Lowell T. Sullivan, well-known Hilltop insurance man, with offices at 2211 W. Broad-st, is another important member of the advertising committee. Last year, Mr. Sullivan headed the ticket committee. He has been active in securing new members for the association for several years.

Texan: "Oklahoma is an outlying province of Texas."
Oklahoman: "That isn't so. No state can outlie Texas."

Keepsake

They had a sale down at our farm,
They sold my Grand-dad's fiddle,
But I refused to let them sell
My baby chair with the hole in the middle.

Watch out for the person who cries on your shoulder. He may just want to soak you.

What a Life . . .

Maybe bears are dumb brutes, but they have sense enough to sleep through the winter.

Helps With Show

Lou Saunders

One of the originators of the first Hilltop Minstrel, Lou Saunders has had a hand in the preparation of nearly all of the 20 entertainments put on here. This year his job is selling advertising. In 1947, Mr. Saunders worked on arrangements for the show.

For experienced Scout campers there is the Philmont Scout Ranch of 127,000 acres of plains, mountains in northeastern New Mexico, owned and operated by the National Council of the Boy Scouts. It was the gift of Waite Phillips who also gave the Scouts a modern office building in Tulsa, Okla., the income of which is used to develop the ranch for the use of all Scouts in America.

Feminine compliment: "My dear, what a perfectly stunning dress—didn't they have your size?"

Drum Majorette

Patty Manus

High stepping Patty Manus will do a novelty baton-tap number for this year's Minstrel Show. Patty is an eighth grade pupil at West Junior High School and is one of several drum majorettes with the school band.

A baton twirler, Patty keeps the show jumping with her musical feet. She is a dancing student of Jack Sherick and lives at 659 S. Hague-av.

Bingo: "I heard a lot of noise as I passed your house late last night. What was up?"
Bango: "My wife, waiting for me to come home!"

Told Off

General Robert E. Lee once discovered an Army surgeon standing intently before a mirror, admiring himself with the greatest satisfaction. "Doctor," said Lee, "you must be the happiest man in the world."

"Why do you think so?" asked the surgeon in deep wonderment.

"Because, sir, you are in love with yourself and you haven't a rival in the world."

"I saw the doctor today about my loss of memory."

"What did he do?"

"Made me pay in advance."

"Professor, what should a woman take when she is run down?"

"The license number, madame, the license number."

"In that suit you look like a banker."

"Why, did I spill some money on it?"

End Man Bill

Bill Coon

Back again in the role of end man is Bill Coon, one of last year's comedians.

Bill, a former acrobat on the professional stage will appear in his fourth minstrel this year. He is also a western horse fancier and had his own horse until last year, which he used to ride in western horse shows throughout this area.

Bill is married and has two children. He has been a Hilltopper for 24 years. At the present time he is employed as an advertising salesman at The Hilltop Record.

Six Pretty and Petite Little Dancers

These Sunbonnetted Southern Belles from the Keith School of Dancing, 15 N. Westmoor-av, will do a fast tap number during the three day run of the Minstrel Show. The six pretty little girls, all done up in buttons and bows are left to right: Marlene Schiller, 3102 Ellis-pl; Lynn Schmidt, 143 N. Huron-av; Judy Rice, 3152 Wicklow-rd. Judy Matson, 87 N. Warren-av; Joyce Martin, 3027 Wicklow-rd; and Ruth Ellen Contizano, 138 N. Huron-av.

End Man Joe

Joe Goodwin

Complete with blackface and appropriate costume, Joe Goodwin, local pharmacist, may not be recognized by his customers. But as a wise-cracking end-man in the Hilltop Minstrel, he's a sure winner for an entertaining evening.

Joe operates Goodwin's Pharmacy at 2772 Sullivant-av. He is a past president of the Hilltop Business Association and is a member of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club.

Buddy Basch my publicity man, tells me that lately he has been busier than a handkerchief at a Bette Davis movie!

Ode To a Leaf Burner

When morning dew is on the rose,
Should be the ideal time to doze,
Alas! my neighbors — come the dawn
Must sally forth to rake their lawn,
While I — aroused from blissful slumbers
Gasping, slowly count ten numbers.
Though loudly I would like to utter:
"Curses on your heads!" I mutter:
"Ah friends — that you, not I—would choke
Upon your vile, leaf-burning smoke!"
And wonder, as I sigh for sleep:
"Why don't they make a compost heap?"

Music, Maestro!

Mac Tooill

Who's Who in the minstrel world wouldn't be complete without Maestro Mac Tooill, leader of the minstrel orchestra for the past 11 years.

From Bebop to Beethoven, Mac can follow any tricky song or dance routine. He's a piano artist too.

Herb Germaine, long time member of Mac's band blows a mean trombone. He has been a featured artist in minstrel night.

Last Rites

A tramp steamer had struck a mine and was slowly but surely sinking in mid-ocean. The ship, from captain down, was manned by as villianous a crew as had ever been gathered. They were now assembled on the slowly submering deck as the captain asked, "Can anyone sing a hymn?" There was a shuffling of feet but no reply. The captain tried again, "Can anyone say a prayer?" Still no answer. The captain looked his crew over in disgust and grunted, "Well we ought to do something religious. Oh hell, let's take up a collection."

All Male Chorus To Be Featured In 20th Minstrel

Under the direction of Clark Eberle the Hilltop Male Chorus will again be the musical background for the 20th Annual Hilltop Minstrel. The chorus has had a part in every show since its organization. Mr. Eberle took over direction of the chorus about two years ago.

Inactive during the war years a group of men two years ago re-established the chorus on a year round basis for both concert work and participation in the show.

This year the chorus will sing three medleys in addition to other selections. Songs will be jubilee numbers with Southern themes.

"I just heard of a rich girl who married a janitor."

"How did it happen?"

"He simply swept her off her feet."

An unwelcome guest is one of the best things going.

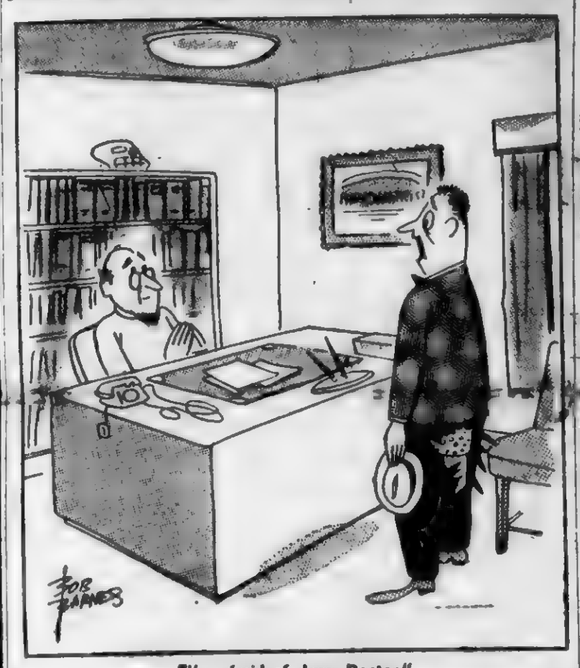
Jack Sherick's Glamourettes In Minstrel



Jack Sherick's Glamourettes, who specialize in precision personified dancing, will appear in the 20th annual Hilltop Minstrel with a specialty tap routine.

Led by Jack Sherick, the Glamourettes are a well-known dance chorus throughout Columbus having appeared in several musical shows in the past three years. Jack, a graduate of West High School in 1930, is instructor and choregrapher for the girls.

Jack has been a dance man since the age of five and has taught dancing for 20 years. For 18 years he was an instructor for the Fasting Ballet School and now has his own school at 68½ E. Long-st.

He is remembered by West High School for originating the first tap line, then called the "Pickle Chorus." Hilltoppers will get a chance to see Jack in a specialty number with the Glamourettes.

These Hollywood Gents!

A certain producer of foreign nationality in Hollywood decided to go hunting, and called up his valet on the phone.

"Blease get my gun oud of the den and send it to me at the studio at once," he commanded.

"What did you say you wanted, sir?" asked the valet.

"My gun!" shouted the producer into the instrument. "Gun!"

"Awfully sorry sir," replied the valet, "but still I don't know what you mean."

"Gun!" roared the producer, louder than before. "Listen now! G like in Gerusalem, U like in Urope, and N like in Numonia. Now haf you got me."

Dancer

Jack Sherick

Jack Sherick dancing instructor, and graduate of West High School, will lead the Glamourettes, girls' chorus in several specialty song and dance numbers. Jack will also be featured in a special solo tap number.

The Right Answer

Two theater partners were arguing about what they could do to make business better in their theater.

One suggested that people would come to sit in the seats if they were covered with red leather, and another thought mohair would do the trick. Finally they turned to a third partner who was standing by silently.

"Max, you're not saying a word, what do you think about it."

"If you ask me," he replied, "I think we should cut the admission price and cover the seats with people."

A man telephoned his doctor asking him to come over as soon as possible, that his wife had appendicitis.

The doctor replied, "Nonsense! I took your wife's appendix out two years ago and I never heard of anyone having a second appendix."

To which the worried husband replied, "Did you ever hear of anyone having a second wife?"

Bus Driver: "Come on move to the back. Act just like you were in church!"

Teacher: "Johnny, what is a murderer?"

Johnny: "I don't know."

Teacher: "Well, if a man killed his mother and father what would he be?"

Johnny: "An orphan!"

Secretary

Doc Campbell

C. H. (Doc) Campbell as secretary of the Hilltop Business Association always has an important job in the Hilltop Minstrel.

Doc has had a part in planning minstrels for the past 18 years. In 1947 he donned blackface for the role of end man. This year he'll be back at his duties as secretary.

Arrangements

Curtis Roberts

Few minstrel shows in recent years have been without the services of Curt Roberts, operator of Yost Florist, 303 Belvidere-av. Curt has handled tickets, sold advertising, and danced in the HBA chorus line. This year he holds the job he had last year. He is in charge of arrangements which covers a host of responsibilities.

This Happened

This citizen got one of those pink Internal Revenue duns Gus sends out, saying he owed a little balance of $84, plus penalty, and interest. Right away he wrote a very indignant letter, absolutely—and finally, he hoped—stating that he didn't owe a thin dime. But, the man who sends the duns kept sending, the citizen kept claiming he did not owe the tax. Finally, this taxpayer tired out and gave up, but with this parting shot:

"I've told you, and I repeat, when I owe money, I pay it. When I don't owe anybody, I don't pay. But — you claim to know more about my business than I do, and still claim I owe you this tax. All right, so I owe it—and, since you know so much about my business, now tell me where I am going to get the cash to pay it. I'll be waiting for your answer."

Calling Mr. Newton

Make-up is an important part of every stage production. Hazel Bercaw, Mary Lou Evans and Harriet Huff have found applying burnt cork, and grease paint to 90 entertainers is no easy matter.

This trio of local beauticians volunteered several years ago to do this job and this year will be at their old stands applying make-up backstage.

Hazel Bercaw operates a beauty parlor and gift shop at 2842 W. Broad-st. Harriet Huff has a shop at 2154 Sullivant-av, and Mary Lou has operated her shop at the corner of Hague and Broad for more than 11 yaers.

Sold Advertising

Franklin D. Sparks

Franklin D. Sparks, of Sparks-Kent Super Market, has done a big job in selling advertising for The Hilltop Record's special Minstrel edition. Sparky has been active in association affairs, having served last year as a vice-president and in charge on the monthly programs.

Charles Reichelderfer, in[illegible] of Ira M. Claggett's many advertising committeemen. Selling advertising is a big job for Hilltop's business men. Charley took over and assisted Claggett when the latter visited Florida recently.

Stage Crew Has Important Part

Backstage, the West High stage crew is putting on last minute touches to the setting for the 20th Hilltop Minstrel beginning Wednesday, Jan. 23.

Stage setting this year will resemble the old south. Backdrop pictures a southern colonial mansion with slave quarters at the left.

Mrs. Evelyn Hall, advisor of the West High stage crew, hasn't had any trouble in getting help for the work. Last year 150 students volunteered to work on the crew.

Besides building scenes, and painting backdrops the stage crew makes many of their own props. The crew's one problem is lack of space. A study hall in the auditorium and a class in the room behind the stage gives the crew a limited area in which to work.

The job of stage hand is not a one night stand as some may think. Whenever there is an early morning assembly the stage must be readied for its speakers long before the first bell sounds. Stage hands work daily after school and many evenings each week.

"COMMUNITY COOPERATION"

Lots Like 'em!

Barry Fitzgerald was late for dinner at his brother's house in Hollywood one night, and when he finally arrived, he was furious. People, he said, had detained him at HIS house. "What kind of people were they who detained you?" his brother asked.

"They were the kind of people," said Barry, "who, when they stand up, think they have gone."

Keeping Company

Asked where her husband might be found, the wife replied that he had gone fishing. "Just walk down to the bridge," she suggested caustically, "and look around until you find a pole with a worm on each end."

"Is that a handpainted necktie?"

"No, I just leaned against a wet billboard!"

Cuckoo Quiz

Certainly

A mother realizing her son was growing up turned to her husband and said, "When do you think Junior should wear long pants?"

The husband dutifully replied, "Whenever he goes outdoors."

STRICTLY FRESH

A NEW scientific formula assures us that the earth will stay on its orbit. Whooo! What a relief!

The rescued airmen's account of their ingenuity in building shelters while marooned on a Greenland icecap suggests that they be put to work on the housing shortage.

The only real certainty in 1949 is that political experts and pollsters can't possibly be as wrong as they were in 1948.

A modern model house has steel walls. That should stymie a housewife who is always switching around the pictures.

One musician in New York City claims he can play 11 different instruments at the same time. Anybody need a new next door neighbor?

Woe Is Me

I shot a golf ball into the air
It fell to earth I knew not where.
I only knew, with woe immense,
That I had lost my 80 cents.

An A For Effort

No copper could catch him
He boasted with pride —
But they were doing their best
The day that he died.

The Quick and the Dead

Here lies a pedestrian,
Cold as ice.
He jumped only once
When he should have jumped twice.

If a fellow wants to get a word in now and then after he's married he ought to marry a woman who stutters.

Whoever named them the fair sex was a poor judge of justice.

Ticklers — By George

"Gran'ma, you may not know it, but you're located in the middle of some Indian territory."

Might As Well

Little Johnny was sad and dejected when he returned home after his first day at school.

"I ain't going tomorrow," he told his mother.

"Why not?" she asked.

"Well," he replied, "there's no use. I can't read and I can't write and they won't let talk."

"Four of a Kind" To Entertain You

Four of a Kind Boys are like Ike and Mike, they look alike. For barbershop singing this quartet can't be beat. The Four of a Kind boys will be a featured attraction on Minstrel Show night, when they sing a medley of tunes depicting the old south. A semi-professional groups the boys have been organized about two years. A hit in last year's Minstrel, they sang "Margie," "I'm Nobody's Sweetheart," and "Coney Island Baby." Boys are left to right: Dave Camp, 188 S. Terrace-av; John Glass, 593 Wiltshire, Jack Swicegood, 309 S. Warren-av; and Bill Carperter, 1211 Wyandotte-rd.

Three HBA Minstrel Hosts Selected To Greet Guests

Dr. M. W. Bates

John Nippert

Mose Williams

SEEING THAT FIRST-NIGHTERS find their seats will be the job of John Nippert, of the Nippert Electric Products Co., Dr. M. W. Bates, veterinarian, and Mose Williams, insurance man.

These men will have charge of the ushers and ticket taking during the show's three day run. Mr. Nippert is a member of the board of trustees of the Hilltop Business Association. Mr. Williams and Dr. Bates are HBA members, who have been active in many of the association's projects.

You'll Be Clapping Her Fast Tapping

Shirley Huntsberry

Pretty Shirley Huntsberry is no newcomer to the Minstrel nor to the entertainment business. This talented young dancer appeared at the Veterans' Hospital several times and was chosen as one of the "Stars of the Future" on a local radio program.

A student at West High School, Shirley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Huntsberry, 736 Pierce-dr. She is a student of Jimmy Rawlins Studio.

When one gets older the hours the days and the years slip by so swiftly that it seems Old Man Time has traded his sickle for a motorcycle.

Didja ever notice that the people who argue longest and loudest about religion are usually the people who never go to church?

WELCOMED . . . Lt. Col. Emil Beaudry, pilot of the plane that landed on a Greenland icecap and rescued airmen marooned there for more than two weeks, receives warm welcome from his wife upon his arrival in New York after his adventure.

New England Frugality

Vermont is noted for frugality. Some furnishings were installed a few years ago at the state house in Montpelier. Part of the description read: "The drapes . . . will replace those hung 85 years ago when the State House was rebuilt following the fire of 1857. Cost of the new drapes . . . will be $760, slightly less than the $768.75 paid to curtain the same windows in 1859.

"Expense for the other windows will approximate that of the 1859 purchases. However, the 85-year-old drapery now being replaced is material . . . of a quality unobtainable at the present time."

To be a 100 per cent Hilltopper, read The Hilltop Record every week.

End Man Leo

Leo Phillips

Leo Phillips will take over his Dad's position as end man in this year's minstrel show. His father, a veteran end man and chorus director, is almost as much of an institution on the Hilltop as the Minstrel itself.

This will be Leo, Jr.'s first appearance with the shows. He is a senior student at Ohio State University and will receive his bachelor of arts degree in June. He is a graduate of West High School.

Leo's father is a retired police officer. The Phillips family live at 617 S. Ogden-av and are now in Florida.

HBA Treasurer

Elmer J. Hegenberger

Keeping the money matters in order for the Hilltop Business Association is an easy job for Elmer J. Hegenberger, treasurer of the HBA, who is also manager of the Hilltop branch of the Ohio National Bank.

As treasurer of the organization he has a big job with the Minstrel, but Mr. Hegenberger still finds time to sell advertising for the Record's Minstrel edition.

TSETSE CURE . . . Dr. David Garnett Davy of London helped in research work on new drug, antiryde, which cures sleeping sickness spread among animals by the tsetse fly. Experiments will be carried out on cattle in Africa with the hope that the vast potential meat supply from that continent can be opened up.

Vaudeville Not Dead As Long As Hardy Father, Daughter Keep Going

George and Jackie Hardy

A father and daughter act that has become a tradition in Hilltop Minstrels will again highlight the 20th annual show.

Jackie Hardy, a senior at West High School, and her father, George Hardy, students of Jack Sherick, dancing instructor, originally started dancing as a team in 1938.

In 1941 the father and daughter combination made their first appearance in a number entitled "Me and My Shadow". Since then a number of hits, including a chain dance, a sand dance novelty, a boogie woogie number and a cowboy specialty act, have marked them as oustanding performers.

Now a semi-professional team, Mr. Hardy and his daughter make many appearances in local shows. During the war they were in constant demand for camp shows and hospital appearances.

After her high school graduation in June, Jackie plans to enter Capital University. She wants to continue her dancing career. Mr. Hardy is associated with the Columbus Plate Glass Co. and is an official for the Glenwood Shelter House basketball games. He is also an end man in this year's show.
